MAN FOUND DEAD

Was Asphyxiated in Lee Street House

Ferdinand Letot, aged 30 years, was found dead in his room at a boarding house at 50 Leo street this morning, death being due to asphyxiation by gas. The only gas cock in the room was wide open and the room was filled with gas. Whether the deceased committed suicide or became the victim of accident is not known. The man, however, was a drinking man and in all probability death was due to accident.

Letot was employed in the card room of the Moore mill at North Chelmsford and generally arose about 5.30 in the morning. He was usually called by the landlady of the house, Mrs. Jane Champagne, but as he did not take any of his meals in the house little or no attention was paid as to when he went out, and many times he went out without being noticed by any of the occupants of the house.

He cooked his own meals in his room and had done so since he came to the house last April. He had very little to say to any of the other boarders or lodgers and when in the house was generally confined to his room.

Shortly before 7.30 o'clock this morning a strong odor of gas was detected in the hallway on the floor where his room was located and an investigation showed that the odor came from Letot's room. An attempt to open the door was made, but it was locked on the inside.

Napoleon L'Hereux, a young man who resides in the house, was sent up to try one of the windows of the room but found the windows locked also. By removing a pane of glass, however, he was able to open th ewindow and upon entering the room found Letot's body lying on the floor nea rthe bed. The man had a portion of his clothing on and the room was filled with gas.

A hasty examination showed that the man was dead and had been dead for a number of hours. The gas cock on the hanger on the side wall was turned on full force, while all of the windows and the door were locked.

The last seen of Letot by any of the occupants of the house was late Saturday night, when he entered, and whether or not he left the room after that time is not known. It would seem, however, that the gas had not been turned on until sometime last night or this morning, or else some of the people in the house would have detected the odor.

There was nothing so far as known that would cause him to end his life and owing to the fact that he was a drinking man death undoubtedly was due to accident.

He was a widower, though he had no children, and worked every day.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Joheph A. Albert.

SAVED BOY'S LIFE

Mr. Sullivan and Dr. O'Hearn Did Good Work

Little Joseph Clark Taken From Concord in a Lifeless Condition--Resuscitated After an Hour's Work

There was great excitement on the banks of the Concord river at Andover street for about an hour this morning.

It was all caused by the note of alarm that a boy had fallen into the water and disappeared.

Michael Sullivan, the barber, was the first to respond and he lost no time in jumping in where the boy went down. He found the lad on the bottom apparently dead and brought him to the bank.

At that moment Officer Cawley was keeping back the crowd and called in Dr. O'Hearn, who happened to be passing.

The boy's mother appeared and added to the excitement by a frantic outbreak of sorrow when she saw her child as she thought dead. An hour's hard work by Dr. O'Hearn and Officer Cawley restored respiration and the mother's sorrow was relieved as gradually the signs of life became visible. Had the lad been in the water one minute or even half a minute longer the doctor thought, resuscitation would have been impossible.

Mr. Sullivan deserves great praise for his prompt action.

PEACE OUTLOOK

Japanese Envoy Calls to See the President

BERLIN, Aug. 21—There has been a decided weakening of the confidence felt by government officials and members of the diplomatic corps that the negotiations at Portsmouth would result in a peace agreement. The worst symptom, as it is looked at here, is that President Roosevelt should have found it necessary to again take action. It is urged that if the negotiations were proceeding smoothly the president would not have interposed and that he has done so is considered an indication of acute tension. One of the belligerents, it is said invited the president to intervene.

Whatever the president may have done, however, is likely to be strongly supported by the German government, should outside support forward the matter.

TO SEE PRESIDENT.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 21—An unexpected phase of the peace negotiations developed today in the arrival here of Baron Kaneko, a special representative in this country of the Japanese government for a conference with President Roosevelt. Baron Kaneko's visit it is known, was arranged hurriedly. The Baron arrived on the Long Island R. R. train due here at 10.11 but as the train was 25 minutes late it was eleven o'clock before he reached Sagamore Hill.

No other visitors have engagements with the president today.

BANK IS CLOSED

Its Capital Was Badly Impaired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The doors of the Western National bank of Louisville, Ky., were closed this morning by order of the comptroller of the currency.

A statement issued by the acting comptroller of the currency says:

"An examination of the bank by Bank Examiner Garrett showed that its capital was badly impaired by losses. Steady withdrawals have been made for several days and as there were not sufficient funds on hand or immediate available to meet further demands likely to be made by depositors and other creditors the acting comptroller directed the bank to be closed in order to protect the interests of all creditors alike, and prevent those having knowledge of the conditions securing preference over those without this knowledge.

"Thomas A. Thornton has been appointed receiver.

"The Western National bank is comparatively a new association having been chartered October 29, 1904, to succeed the Western bank of Louisville. W. B. Smith was president and L. L. Jefferson cashier of the bank."

NEW INDUSTRIES

Two More Coming to This City

Lowell is to have two more industries, not of great magnitude, but little favors are thankfully received in the Spindle city. The Foss Valve & Specialty company have rented space on the third floor of the Card Clothing building at the corner of Market and Shattuck streets. The company is capitalized for $500,000 and employes about 100 hands. The cocpany operates a plant in Brockton. W. O. Foss, inventor, is now in Lowell superintending the installation of machinery.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

The Lowell Hat Manufacturing company has engaged space in the same building as that selected by the Foss Valve & Specialty company at the corner of Market and Shattuck streets, and will start operations in a few weeks. Mr. John Horner has gone to New York to buy machinery, which will be installed immediately upon its arrival. The company will employ about 25 hands.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Traffic Will be Delayed Again

The work of paving Centralville bridge is progressing rapidly, and one-half of the bridge is completed at the present time, though traffic over the bridge during the present week will be retarded more so than at any time since the work was begun.

For the past several weeks the local electric cars which passed over the the bridge were compelled to use one rail, but the work of laying the paving blocks on both rails was completed yesterday and the operation of cars on both lines was resumed.

This morning that portion of the bridge used as the main driveway was torn up and vehicles and cars now have to use the narrow space occupied by the two rails. Owing to the fact that a guard rail has been built flush against the inward bound rail the cars are using but one rail at the present time and the space for traffic is much smaller than at any time since the work was commenced.

Miss Mary Walsh of 322 Passaic st., Passaic, N. J., has returned to her home after a two weeks' vacation at the home of Mrs. Martin O'Dea, 250 Suffolk street.

SPECIAL MEETING

Polling Places to be Designated

Mayor Casey has called a special meeting of the city council for tomorrow evening for the purpose of designating polling places. The law requires that the polling places shall be designated 30 days before the date set for the first primaries, which is Sept. 25.

CENTRALVILLE BRIDGE.

Supt. Morse hopes to get through with the work on the Centralville bridge this week. Speaking of the work on the bridge an old bridge builder said today that it was one of the very best repair jobs he had ever seen. Mr. Morse says he has encountered a good many extras that were included in the statement of cost, and for that reason the appropriation will be overrun. Mr. Morse said that but for the extra expense he would like to put in block paving sidewalks. In plank walks nails are continually showing their heads and besides being disagreeable, are more or less dangerous.

ABOUT SEWER WORK.

Work on the extension of the Ennell street sewer is being pushed with a vengeance, and in a day or two work on the draining system at the Oaklands will be begun.

CREMATOR CONTRACT.

Relative to the contract with the Decarle company for a cremator, the fact has been developed that but for the mayor's refusal to sign the contract when it was first presented him the city would not have had any security. The mayor refused to sign the contract until it came to him accompanied by a bond of $3000.

DEPOT CLEARED

Mad Rush From Man Who Threatened to Murder

"Where is he? Where is the —— —— till I find him full of bullets? Show me him till I kill him," cried William J. Mynan, as he rushed drunk and wild-eyed into the Middlesex street depot, yesterday afternoon screaming at the top of his voice.

In less time than it takes to relate it the big waiting room was emptied and the murderous Mynan had the place to place to himself. There were several persons in the waiting room at the time but they flew for the doors in a mad rush when they heard the cries and got one look at the face of the crier.

Mynan certainly looked murderous and his appearance hadn't improved any when he appeared in court this morning.

While he was tearing through the waiting room Ticket Agent Corcoran went in and told him to get out and he did continuing his wild talk on the platform.

Officer Cawley came along and started to place him under arrest.

"Hold on there, Cawley," cried Mynan, "I know you and I know Webster. You fellows arrested Morris all right, but you can't get me as easy as you did him."

Then the pair had a mixup which resulted in Mynan goin down and out.

In police court this morning he pleaded not guilty and Officer Cawley related the circumstances of the case, adding that he thought that Mynan had been reading about the Morris case and when his mind became inflamed that was all he could think of.

"Speak up I can't hear what you're saying," yelled Mynan from the cage at the officer.

The officer repeated his story whereupon Mynan cried out: "Who was I going to shoot?"

"I don't know," replied the officer.

"I guess you don't," replied Mynan.

"What did you mean by these threats?" asked Judge Hadley.

"Why nothing, I was just drunk that was all," answered Mynan with a grin.

"Have you work?" asked the court.

"Sure. Up at Tyngsboro," replied Mynan.

"Where is your home?"

"Wherever I happen to work," said Mynan with another grin.

"Send him to the state farm," said the court.

"Peal it," promptly said Mynan, but later he withdrew the appeal and took the sentence. When arrested Mynan hadn't a weapon of any description on his person but, nevertheless, his remarks caused an instantaneous panic in the depot.

BACK TO COURT

Judge Hadley Returns From Europe

STUDIED BELGIUM LUNATIC ASYLUM

Small Docket in Police Court Today

Judge Hadley returned from his European trip whither he was accompanied by Dr Benner, the well known alienist and occupied the bench in police court again this morning. His honor evidently had a most enjoyable trip for there is a marked improvement in his appearance while he spoke enthusiastically of his experiences on the other side. His honor took a new route to the old world this time, going to Montreal and then down the St. Lawrence and across by the south of New Foundland. While in Europe he and Dr. Benner visited the celebrated colony for lunatics at Gheel, Belgium in which Dr. Benner was interested and they found it to be all that had been claimed for it. At Gheel they were the guests of Dr. Peters who has superintended the colony for the past 35 years and has made it the most celebrated place of its kind in the world. There are about 800 sane inhabitants at Gheel and the 200 lunatics there are put out in huts with the peasantry to live as they do and follow the pursuits of the peasantry. The number of permanent cures at Gheel have been greater than at any similar colony in the world.

James Maguire went up to hear the band concert on the South Common last evening but he loaded up before going and Officer Cooke seeing him led him to South street and told him to go home. But Maguire didn't go and 20 minutes later Officer Cooke met him again and this time he was in the act of striking a girl in the face knocking her down. Maguire pleaded guilty of drunkenness and assault and battery, but said he had no recollection of theassault. He was fined $15 for the assault and $6 additional for drunkenness.

WAS STAR GAZING.

Daniel J. Ryan pleaded not guilty of drunkenness and Officer Coleman testified that he saw Ryan gazing at the stars and moon at the corner of Merrimack and John streets at 1.30 yesterday morning and delivering all sorts of oaths at the unoffending planets. It was Ryan's third time and he was a parole man from the state farm. He was sent back there as was Fred J. Vallery, another parole man from the same institution.

CHARGED WITH THREATENING.

John Lovanos pleaded not guilty of threatening and was continued until Wednesday while John Kaparisos, the second defendant in the case of assault and battery on John Parakos pleaded not guilty and was continued until Friday.

A DESTRUCTIVE DRUNK.

William Monghan while drunk at his home in McGowen's court off Lakeview avenue yesterday raised up ructions and smashed the windows in his house. The court imposed a fine of $10 which William paid.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

Will Urge the Envoys to Make Peace

Baron De Rosen Summoned to Oyster Bay—Japan May be Asked to Eliminate the Question of Indemnity—Request to Russia to Give Up Sakhalin—The President Wants to See Envoys Reach an Agreement

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 19.—Suddenly the eyes of the nations have been turned by a mysterious midnight despatch from Portsmouth to Oyster Bay from the peace plenipotentiaries to the president of the United States. With the early departure this morning of Baron Rosen for Oyster Bay, President Roosevelt once more becomes the central figure on the world's stage. The long message received after midnight by Mr. Pierce, the assistant secretary of state, was from the president. It was an invitation for Baron Rosen to come there for a conference. The invitation was to Russia's ambassador at Washington because as Russia's accredited representative to this country it is entirely proper for the president at any time to summon him to a conference.

Baron Rosen was at once awakened to receive the message from Mr. Peirce and after a conference with Mr. Witte it was decided the ambassador should leave on an early train for Oyster Bay. It was further decided, on the supposition that the secret could be kept, that it should be officially announced that Baron Rosen was going to Magnolia according to yesterday's program to receive Mr. Witte, who would arrive later in an automobile.

In the meantime, however, Mr. Peirce was up until early this morning making arrangements for Baron Rosen to reach Oyster Bay at the earliest possible moment. Orders were immediately telegraphed to Lieut. Evans commanding the Sylph to be at New Rochelle early this morning to receive the ambassador and take him at once to Oyster Bay. Arrangements were also made for the Bay State Limited to make a special stop at New Rochelle in order to let the ambassador board the Sylph there.

The change in the program became known when Baron Rosen upon his arrival at Boston instead of going directly to Magnolia took the 10 o'clock train for New York. Whether he will remain at Oyster Bay over night has not yet been decided. It will all depend upon what transpires after he has seen the president. Baron Rosen will give to the president the full official details of the negotiations up to date, the text of the Japanese demands, the reply made by Russia to each of them including Mr. Witte's emphatic statement to Baron Komura that Russia would never pay one kopec as indemnity or reimbursement for war expenses.

Japan's attitude has already been outlined to the president by Baron Kaneko and it is not improbable that Baron Komura or Mr. Takahira may see the president between now and Tuesday.

According to cipher telegrams received here by both the Russian and Japanese missions, it is understood that the efforts of the powers who are ready to tender their good offices to prevent the rupture of the negotiations will be especially directed towards the persuasion of Japan to withdraw her demand for indemnity. The assurance will be given by the powers that if the demand is withdrawn Japan will receive adequate compensation in other ways.

At St. Petersburg the powers will endeavor to induce the emperor to consent to the cession of Sakhalin.

Once an a greement is reached regarding Sakhalin (article 5) and indemnity (article 9) it is believed the success of the negotiations would be assured and that the belligerents would easily come to an understanding regarding article ten, the interned warships, and article 11, the limitation of Russia's naval strength in the far east. In deed article 10, it is suggested by an authority, might offer a partial solution to the insistence by Japan upon article 9," the indemnity. If Russia should offer to buy back at a generous price the interned warships, it is believed the peace party in Japan would insist up on the acceptance of this proposition.

Cardinal Vannutelli, who was one of the candidates for the papacy during the conclave after the death of Leo XIII, in a letter to a friend here, received today, says that the whole sacred college as well as the pope himself are following with the deepest interest the peace negotiations which were beginning when the letter was written. The cardinal adds that Pius X has expressed the earnest hope that through the ability of the peace plenipotentiaries and the statesmanship and energy of President Roosevelt that peace for which the world waits may be brought about.

MURDER CHARGED

School Boy is Under Arrest

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 19—John Goodson, an eleven year old school boy is under arrest, charged with the murder of Hannah McQuade, aged 7, in Greenfield township, just outside the west city limits of Detroit, last night. The girl was driving toward the McQuade home in company with her two sisters, aged 10 and 12. Young Goodson and three companions, boys about the same age, who had been shooting sparrows along the road attempted to climb upon the rear of the wagon. The girls ordered them off and whipped up the horse. Goodson, it is charged, became enraged and shot at the girls with a small rifle. The bullet struck the little girl in the temple, killing her almost instantly. The boys assert they were shooting at a bird nearby.

SHE DIED AT SEA

Lowell Woman Passed Away On An Ocean Liner

Her Husband Resides in Davidson Street—Two Year Old Child is in Care of the U. S. Consul at Bremen—The Woman Was Ill With Consumption When She Left This City

Mrs. Konstanoyo Kowalczyk of this city died on board the North German Lloyd steamer Grosse Kurfust on the voyage from New York to Bremen Aug. 3.

Her two-year-old child was taken in charge by the United consul at Bremen.

The woman was the wife of a Polander who goes by the name of Peter Covil, and who resides at 33 Davidson street. He changed his name after coming to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Kowalczyk resided at 33 Davidson street, and two years ago a boy was born. Since the birth of the child the mother was in rather poor health, physicians saying that she was suffering from consumption.

During the past several years she had lost much weight and was unable to perform her duties about the house and continually complained of being ill. Her husband, noting her condition, advised a trip to her "fader" land and Mrs. Kowalczyk thought that a visit to the home of her father and mother in Oswelczlem, Austria, would benefit her.

It was at first thought that the two-year-old boy might be left in this city, but the father thought that the ocean voyage and the healthy country air of the old homestead for a year or so might do the child good. Mr. Kowalczyk, despite the fact that he works in the Hamilton Mfg. Co., and earns but six dollars a week, managed to get enough money to pay the passage of his wife and child to Germany.

On July 21 passage on the Grosser Kurfust of the North German Lloyd Steamship Co. was obtained at agency of Dennis Murphy in Appleton street and the woman and her child left Hoboken, N. J., on July 25, bound for Bremen, Germany.

Reports from the officers on the boat showed that the woman appeared in pretty good health on the way across, though during the first few days she complained of feeling rather weak. Towards the first of the month however, she was taken suddenly ill and on Aug. 2, at 7.15 o'clock she died, of what was pronounced to be heart failure, together with a complication of embolic of the heart.

The body of the woman was taken to Cherbourg, Germany, and what disposition was made of it there could not be learned. The child, however, was taken to the Hotel Eucentralhof in Bremen and kept there by the steamship company awaiting a claimant.

A telegram announcing the death was sent to Mr. Murphy in this city asking for information regarding the relatives and what disposition would be made of the child. This was followed by a letter of the same date and the day before yesterday another letter was received in this city asking for information regarding the relatives and what would be done with the child.

A representative of The Sun after considerable difficulty succeeded in locating Mr. Kowalczyk, who goes under the name of Peter Covil in this city. He was found at the Polish grocery store at 33 Davidson street and while it is claimed that he speaks fairly good English he was unable to give a clear story to the reporter.

HUSBAND LOCATED.

With the assistance of an interpreter, Mr. Covil stated to a reporter the greater portion of the story related above and said that his wife was in poor health when she left this city. As to the disposal of his wife's remains he did not seem to take much interest, claiming that he did not have money enough to send to Germany to have her body brought here and did not know whether her mother or father in Austria knew that she is dead.

He stated that he would like to have the child brought to this city, but he did not think he would be able to take care of her and thought that she would be better with his wife's folks in Austria. He has written a letter to the people in Austria to take care of the child, but at the present time had not received any response to his letter.

A friend of his stated that when it was learned that the mother of the child had died that some of Covil's friends had started a subscription to have the child brought back to this country, but Covil stopped them from making any further collections, stating that the child would be in better hands in Austria.

Decarie Co. Must Have Cremator Ready

BOARD OF HEALTH SETS DATE

Mr. Doherty Wanted the Time Extended

The board of health met at noon today for the purpose of considering the contract with the Decarie company for a cremator. It was the sense of the meeting that the board had been very liberal with the company and in view of the fact that the contract stipulated that the work should be done in 10 days and that the specified time had been exceeded by more than 30 days, it was unanimously the opinion of the committee that the company should get a little call down of some sort, just to show, if nothing else, that the board was not blind to its transactions.

After a long discussion that had to do with the company's failure to live up to the contract and the city's good nature it was voted to impose a fine on the company of $20 a day for every working day after the first day of October providing the cremator has not been installed and in working order on or before that date. Mr. Doherty wanted to have the time limit extended to October 15, but Messrs. Huntress and Jackson were opposed. They allowed that the company was being dealt with very charitably by extending the contract to October first.

FUNERALS

DOHERTY—All that was mortal of the late Mary Doherty was consigned to its final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The funeral took place from her late home, 53 Adams street at 8.30 o'clock and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends of the deceased including a large number from out of town. Owing to the fact that the deceased was an old and highly esteemed resident of this city and a devout and constant attendant at St. Patrick's church the attendance at the requiem mass was very large.

The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church in Suffolk street where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at nine o'clock by Rev. James A. Walsh. Doherty; spray, Mrs. Martin H. Reidy. The bearers were John Bowers, John Garvey, Joseph F. Convery, Edward Lavery, Daniel Moriarty and John Barry. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Fr. DARING ROBBERY

Burglars Entered a Back Bay House

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—It was learned yesterday that burglars recently got into the elegant residence of William P. Wilson at 25 Granby street, Back Bay, while the family was at Cataumet, in Barnstable county, and stole a lot of furnishings, silverware and cut glass articles of considerable value.

The break was a particularly bold one. The burglars scaled a high wall in the rear of the house, forced with a jimmy to door to a porch which protects to rear entrance, and then bored through the panel of the inside door. More than 100 auger holes were found in the panel. When the circuit of panel ad been made with the augur the burglars had simply to force it in and crawl through to the kitchen.

The door, however, couldn't be opened. So the burglars came out the front door. They also dragged four heavy trunks, filled with booty, with them. This shows that they must have had a wagon in which to carry the goods away.

The curious thing about it is that they probably removed the stolen goods in the daytime on Tuesday, somewhere near the time when the two strangers were seen about the house. This was just before noon.

The burglary was discovered in a somewhat peculiar manner that was in keeping with the other curious features of the case.

Henry Walker is foreman of the construction firm of W. H. & H. A. Root, which is erecting a house for William Lindsay on the opposite side of Granby street from the Wilson residence.

Foreman Walker on Tuesday was at the new building although the other workmen had gone home because of the rain. Suddenly he saw the porch which covers the front door of the Wilson residence come down with a gust of wind. Then he noticed that the inside door was wide open and the door to the entrywny was also open.

It didn't take Walker long to decide that something was wrong. He saw that the porch had been secured to the house by hooks and that the wind could never have disengaged it. He notified Patrolman Collins, who was on the route, and together they went to the house. It was sadn seen that the place had been ransacked. In the dining room the silverware, table linen and other things had been removed. In rooms upstairs the drawers of dressing cases were found open, curtains had been taken from the windows, the closets in which the clothing was kept were open and there was every evidence that burglars had gone through the whole building.

In the basement the men found the back door bored, which showed them how the burglars had gotinto the house.

The police value the stolen articles at $500.

AUTOISTS HAPPY

Highway Commission on Speed Rule

ADOPTED BY TYNGSBORO SELECTMEN

May Now Exceed the Eight Mile Speed

The automobilists have won their fight with the selectmen of Tyngsboro for the highway commission after giving a hearing to the protesting auto owners has officially disapproved of the new speed rule recently put into effect by the selectmen, and the autos may pass through the town at the usual rate of speer.

Albert S. Howard, representing certain tax payers in the town and over 50 automobilists has received a communication from the state highway commission relative to the regulating of the speed of motor vehicles to eight miles an hour through the town of Tyngsboro, in which the commission declines to approve the special regulation of the selectmen.

The communication is as follows:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In Board of Massachusetts Highway Commission.

On the protest of Albert S. Howard of Lowell, Mass., and others, filed in the office of the Massachusetts highway commission on June 20, 1905, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 386 of the acts of 1905, against the special regulations made by the selectmen of the town of Tynsboro as to the speed of motor vehicles on roads and ways within the limits of said town, which regulations were published in the Lowell Morning Citizen, a newspaper published in the city of Lowell, Mass., on June 9, 1905.

It appearing after due notice and hearing on said protest, that public safety does not demand or require the enforcement of such regulations as have been made by the selectmen of Tyngsboro, it is Voted, That the special regulations made by the selectmen of the town of Tyngsboro, under the provisions of chapter 366 of the acts of the year 1905 be not approved.

WAS DROWNED

YOUNG MAN WAS PRACTISING LONG DISTANCE SWIMMING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Frederick Hammann, a Brooklyn clerk, who was sent to Vienna, at the expense of a well known newspaper editor some years ago, to be treated for consumption and who was pronounced cured on his return, was drowned yesterday at Rockaway.

Hammann was an expert and had been practising long distance swimming.

While some distance out from the beach he was taken with cramps and drowned before assistance could reach him. His body has not been recovered.

ELEVATOR PRANK

RAN AWAY AND KEPT GOING UP AND DOWN.

The elevator in the Associate building ran away Saturday night about six o'clock and John J. Reardon, who is the chauffeur, had a narrow escape from being badly hurt and was pulled out of the "lift" in a badly scared condition. Despite the fact that the elevator was confined to but one course, that of up and down five stories, the experience which Mr. Reardon had was just as bad as though the elevator had as many miles to travel.

While coming down from the upper floor of the building Reardon applied the brake when he reached the first floor, but the machine kept going downward and struck the bottom of the well with a thump which knocked Reardon on his back. Then it started up again, and as the clutch on the cable refused to work he could not stop at any of the landings. The bump at top and bottom on his numerous involuntary trips attarcted outside attention and help came to knock the cables off the run when the elevator reached the bottom. Thus the man was relieved. He was more frightened than hurt. One of the crutches from some cause failed to work. The whole elevator mechanism has since been overhauled and put in perfect order.

HE OWES $21,000

Berlin Police Looking for Lamoureux

BERLIN, N. H., Aug. 21.—The police of this city were notified last night of the disappearance of C. Lamoureux, president of the Canada-American Insurance company, a French-Canadian benefit society, and efforts are being made to locate him. Claims for about $21,000 have been presented by the creditors of the missing man, and the sheriff of Coos county has attached Lamoureux's store and residence. In the course of proceedings which have been instituted against him.

Lamoureux has held the office of city assessor for some time. He was also prominent in city politics.

The creditors of Lamoureux say that he borrowed large sums of money from them in connection with the business of the insurance company, of which he was president. When a member of the organization died it is claimed that the president would go to various citizens and state that the order was short of funds and that money was needed to satisfy the widow of the deceased. The money would be advanced on the president's note, with the understanding that legal heirs of the deceased would accept $100 less than the full amount called for by the policy, provided the sums were paid immediately. With a prospect of earning one-half of the $100, which it is claimed was arranged by the insurance man, many persons agreed to advance the money. The largest creditor of Lamoureux is Rev. Father Louis La Plante, pastor of the Roman Catholic church, who holds a note for $1900. Among the other creditors are prominent business men and it is understood French Canadian mill hands.

These transactions covered a period of many months.

The police learned that Lamoureux left Berlin last Wednesday afternoon on a train which left for Manchester at 2.46. The missing man came to this city from Canada.

VICTIM BURIED

Arrest in Murder Case Expected Today

KENTS HILL, Me., Aug. 21.—The authorities of Kennebec county yesterday were engaged in investigating what appears to them like a tangible clew to the murderer of Mattie Hackett, the 17-year-old daughter of Levi Hackett, who was strangled near her home here Thursday night. It is considered possible that an arrest may be made today. The latest theory entertained by the officers is that a woman was responsible for the girl's death. This idea was suggested last week but until yesterday little evidence could be found to support it.

Frank H. Hall, the high sheriff of Kennebec county, when seen at the jail in Augusta last night, said that since the beginning he has maintained and still maintains that it was a woman who committed the crime. The inquest will not be held until Tuesday afternoon and it may be postponed.

The funeral of Miss Hackett, which was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Union church of Readfield, was largely attended.

Lester P. Lyons, of Boston, to whom Miss Hackett was said to have been engaged, arrived yesterday afternoon to attend to funeral but the ceremonies had been concluded just two minutes when he reached the village.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FROM SATURDAY'S LATE EDITION

THE GYPSY MOTH

Nest of Them Found in Centralville

The brown tail moth is not the only bug in the trees in Lowell. A nest of gypsy moths was discovered in a tree at the corner of Bridge and Sixth streets this forenoon and was quickly despatched by the superintendent of parks and his assistants. It is feared that the gypsy, the worst of the bug kingdom, has invaded Lowell.

Superintendent Whittet has just returned from a three weeks' vacation and the discovery of a gypsy moth nest rather startled him. He gave it as his opinion that there were numerous other nests in the city but none others, thus far, have been reported to the commission.

"When the leaves begin to fall" the park commission will wage war on the brown-tail moth. A great many are of the opinion that the brown-tail moth was driven out of Lowell, but such is not the case. There is not a single brown-tail in Lowell because they are all married and have large families. There are $2000 in the park commission treasury and that amount will be devoted to the work of exterminating the brown-tail. In the meantime, however, the commission may find itself up against a vexing proposition in the gypsy moth line. If bugville turns out very enthusiastically the commission will have to have an extra appropriation.

Mr. Whittet said he would like to start in now and fight the brown-tail but it would not be advisable to do so because of the fact that it would be hard to search out their nests and work between the leaves. The bug campaigners say the proper time to fight the brown-tail or the gypsy moth is when the leaves are falling.

RUSSIAN DOUMA

Can be Dissolved by the Emperor

OATH PROVIDED FOR MEMBERS

Members Cannot be Arrested for Debt

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The text of the document constituting a Russian parliament discloses many points of special interest to foreigners enjoying constitutional government. Safeguards for the maintenance of the autocratic power of the Emperor crop out conditionally in the course of the long document. Although the members are to be elected for a five year term paragraph three provides that the Douma "can be dissolved by the Emperor before the expiration of the term of five years and new elections ordered by imperial ukases." Paragraph four sets forth that the length of the sessions of the Douma and its adjournments during the year shall be determined by the Emperor. Paragraph 10 provides that the president of the Douma shall report to the Emperor. Other paragraphs provide that in case of dispute between the cabinet ministers and the Douma is reached to bills, the Emperor shall have the final word as to the disposition thereof. The oath to be taken by the members is as follows:

"We promise to perform our duties to the best of our knowledge and ability, in all loyalty to his majesty and mindful only of the welfare of Russia."

Members of the Douma can be deprived of their liberty or limited therein only by order of the judicial power and they may not be arrested for debt.

Their payment is provided for at the rate of ten roubles (About $5.00) per day during the session and members will receive for travelling expenses five kopecks per verst twice yearly to and from St. Petersburg. The usual provisions are made for the removal or suspension of disorderly members and for holding executive sessions. Paragraph 41 debars the public from admission to either the general or sectional sessions but gives the president of the Douma, the right to admit representatives of the press to the open sessions. Another clause provides for the preparation by sworn stenographers, of reports of all sittings of the general session of the Douma with the exception of the executive sessions. These reports may be made public with the approval of the president of the Douma. The electoral scheme debars governors, vice governors, police prefects and their subordinates from the voting places in the districts where they exercise their functions. The elections will be held under the general supervision of the minister of the interior, governors and police prefects, while each electoral ward in the principal cities will have an electoral committee consisting of a president and two members chosen by the mayor from among the professors of the franchise. Civil functionaries may not be elected to the Douma unless they resign their posts nor may any one be elected who is not acquainted with the Russian language.

THE EMPEROR

WANTS POLAND REPRESENTED IN NATIONAL ASEMBLY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The Emperor lost no time in starting an investigation into the best manner of securing representation in the national assembly of Poland and other districts not provided for in the manifesto, which refers to them as "Some regions wherein special conditions obtain."

An imperial decree issued this morning appoints a committee under the presidency of Count Solsky, president of the economic department of the committee of ministers to discuss the procedure to be followed in elections for the Douma in Poland, the Ural and Turgai districts, Siberia, Turkestan, the Caucasus and among the Nomadic tribes. The committee is also instructed to arrange for the revision of the estimates of the different ministeries and the state budget, as well as the grant of credits not provided for by the Douma regulations. All questions arising from the establishment of the Douma are to be settled as expeditiously as possible.

FULL CARGOES

BUSINESS HAS TAKEN A GREAT BOON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Steamship interests at this port are elated, says the Journal of Commerce, over the decided improvemet that has taken place in business prospects during the last few weeks. Instead of going out with half a cargo, or at times virtually in ballast, as has recently been the case, vessels are now taking full cargoes, and the situation is a firm one generally. The improvement is due to the active foreign demand for American grain for spot and forward loading. Yesterday steamship accommodations were engaged for 600,000.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

LYNN, Aug. 19—The body found at Pines river Friday, now at Revere, has been identified as that of Werner Anderson, 30 years old, a Swedish machinist employed by the Boston Machine Works at Lynn, who disappeared from Lynn a week ago today.

Fellow workmen advance a suicide theory.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curnitve merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Goodale's Drug store, 217 Central st.; price 50c.

POMEROY SANE

He is a Puzzle to Doctors

There is some doubt in the minds of those who have for years followed the remarkable case of Jesse Pomeroy, the child murderer now serving a life sentence in solitary confinement at the Charlestown State prison, if his mental condition would allow him to enjoy liberty if it were granted. But physicians say he shows no signs of insanity.

For 31 long years he has been confined in a cell as small as the ordinary bedroom closet, dark and bare, never once being allowed without, not even to attend divine services, to stroll with the other convicts about the prison corridors or to work beside them at their benches.

The statement comes today from a prison attendant that he actually prefers such confinement to liberty about the prison. Twenty years ago Warden Usher made an effort to gain some slight consideration for Pomeroy, but when spoken to of Usher's efforts, Pomeroy struck his hearers dumb by remarking that he'd just as soon stay where he was; that he didn't care about "mixing in" with the other inmates.

His mother says: "His books, his constant and untiring study, have kept him alive and sane, otherwise he would long ago have gone mad."

Dr. McLaughlin, the prison doctor, who recently examined Pomeroy, says he found no traces of insanity - he was as rational, as sane as ever.

Medical Examiner Francis Harris of Suffolk county does not know what to make of Pomeroy. "It is a wonder to me that he has not been driven insane long ago," he said. Doctors generally agree that one under such a strain cannot last very long, yet Pomeroy has stood the test of years and still remains in his right mind.

"I would not care to make any prophecy under these conditions," he said.

Pomeroy's one dream is a farm down East. He speaks of it often. He is fully confident that his mother's now effort, started yesterday towards securing a pardon from Governor Douglas, will meet with success, and that liberty will soon be his. Then he will leave the state, go to Maine, and start farming.

EVANS CASE

WIFE OF ACCUSED MAN WAS A WITNESS.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Aug. 19.—At the hearing in the case of J. H. Evans who is charged with the murder of George L. Fraser, which was resumed in the police court here today, the witnesses were Alan J. Barber, the husband of the woman who lived at Evans' house; Mrs. Rebecca Evans of Reading, who testified that she was the wife of the defendant, and Patrolman Frank Hopkins, who arrested Evans.

Under cross examination Barber admitted that he went to the Evans house to secure evidece in connection with divorce proceedings which he intended to file against his wife; and that he took other men with him for protection. Patrolman Hopkins testified that after the shots were fired he saw Evans standing in the room armed with a revolver and heard him say "I thought that he might be going to rob me."

BODY FOUND

MINISTER WAS DROWNED ON THE CLAM FLATS.

WEST DENNIS, Mass., Aug. 19.—The body of Rev. Norman North Bishop, a Baptist clergyman, was found today floating face downward in a shallow lagoon on the clam flats a short distance from the West Dennis shore. Mr. Bishop left his summer cottage yesterday forenoon to procure clams for a fishing trip. Mr. Bishop had been subject to attacks of vertigo and it is supposed he was overcome in a stooping position.

THE APACHES

ANNOYING SETTLERS AND STEALING ANIMALS.

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 19—Word was received at the headquarters of the New Mexico Rangers yesterday that Apache Indians from Arizona are committing depredations in southwestern Socorro county on the Mogollon reservation. Much stock has been taken from settlers who have organized and are now pursuing the Indians. The Indians are believed to be under the leadership of "Apache Kid."

A courier from the pursuers reports that the settlers surprised the Indians in their camp in Elk mountains and scattered them, recovering some of the stolen animals. While the pursuers were in camp that night the Indians returned and stole several of their horses. Rangers will be sent after the marauders.

SEVERE BLOW

HUSBAND FLASHES DIVORCE DECREE ON HIS WIFE.

LAWRENCE, Aug. 19.—A case of non-support had a strange ending in police court before Associate Justice Dow yesterday. The defendant was Simon Freedman, alias Goverova, who was married to the daughter of a Russian peasant in a small hamlet of that country 20 years ago. They lived together for 15 years, when the husband decided to cast his lot in America.

He came to Lawrence and opened a shoe repairing shop on Park street. Faithful to his duties, he continued to send a portion of his earnings to Russia for a time, but finally this ceased. His wife, together with their three children, then resolved to come to this country. Locating her husband she met with a refusal to support her and she invoked the aid of the court. The situation reached a climax when the defence introduced a divorce decree granted the husband in 1901, desertion being the ground alleged.

This came as a severe blow to the wife, who claims she had received no previous knowledge of the divorce proceedings. As the records confirmed the decree the only course open to the court was to discharge the defendant. It now remains fo rthe wife to prove that the decree was fraudulently obtained, when it may be set aside and the non-support charge pressed.

TWO EXPLOSIONS

People of Saratoga Badly Scared

LITTLE DAMAGE WAS DONE

May Have Been Work of Lunatic

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Two bomb explosions in succession in different sections of Saratoga startled visitors late last evening and set afoot stories about dynamite plots. While very little actual damage was done, there can be no doubt that some violent explosive was used. The question is whether it was the work of a practical joker or of some person intending mischief who failed to carry out his plans.

The first explosion occurred in a narrow alley way between the United States club, conducted by Joseph Ullmann, in Woodlawn avenue, and adjoining garage.

The second explosion occurred about half an hour later at a point in Circular street directly above the grounds of Richard Canfield's Saratoga club house. In both instances the noise was great and those in the neighborhood were of the impression that bombs had been used. Considerable damage was done and a general scare resulted.

Later in the night several crudely pointed slips were found in the corridor of a leading hotel, asserting that dynamite in large quantities had been found in the two club houses and warning people to be careful. These slips lead the police to believe that the explosions were the work of a fanatic.

FRAUD CHARGED

PASTOR IS ACCUSED BY CHURCH TRUSTEES.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 19.—Myron W. Haynes, pastor of the Belden Avenue Baptist church, is to be tried before the board of trustees of his church on the charge of obtaining transportation from the Rock Island Railroad company through fraudulent means.

The Rev. Mr. Haynes said yesterday that the charges were absolutely false. He denied the report that there was anything other than platonic friendship between himself and Miss Nellie Gray, a school teacher, for whom, with her brother and his wife, the clergyman secured half-rate tickets to Seattle.

The Rev. Mr. Haynes resigned his pastorate a month ago, to take effect Oct. 1. He has accepted a call to Seattle.

Ten years ago he was accused of improper relations with Miss Gray. He was exonerated.

The Rev. Mr. Haynes was one of the board of arbitration which recommended that the engineers at the stockyards be paid 30 cents an hour, a reduction of 7 cents, and then presented bills for $1000 each for their services. The engineers paid them at the rate of 30 cents per hour.

DISABLED

FRENCH LINE STEAMER LA SAVOIE MET WITH ACCIDENT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The French line steamer La Savoie limped into port today partially disabled, one of her engines having gone out of commission on Thursday. The steamer had little trouble in working along under a single engine until the narrow channel leading up to the city was reached and by that time assistance which had been summoned by wireless telegraph was at hand. A tug boat helped the big liner around sharp turns in the narrow water pathway and she came up to her dock without a cident. An examination of the engine which was disabled Thursday disclosed the fact that the intermediate shaft was broken and that it would be useless to attempt repairs at that time. Officers of the steamer announced upon her arrival that she probably would cross the ocean on her outward trip under the one remaining engine and that repairs will be made on the other side.

FOUND BOMB

ARMENIANS HAD PLANNED OUTRAGES FOR AUGUST 31.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 19.—Three additional battalions of Redifs have been called out for service in Macedonia in consequence of the activity of revolutionary bands. The collection of bombs recently unearthed in Smyrna is now alleged to have been intended for use by Armenians against the foreign consulates and banks. The Armenians, it is alleged, planned the outrages for Aug. 31, the anniversary of the sultan's accession, with the view of compelling the powers to intervene for their protection against the Turks.

FORTUNE LEFT TO A BLACKSMITH OF MILFORD.

MILFORD, Mass., Aug. 19.—James J. Minnihan, a horseshoer at a local blacksmith shop, is heir to an estate of $50,000, left him by his half brother, Capt. J. Carey of the English army, who died July 5 at Dover castle, Kent, Eng.

Mr. Minnihan's sister, Miss Kate Minnihan of New Haven, Conn., is also an heir to the estate. Mr. Minnihan was informed of his being left the fortune by a firm of Providence lawyers who were looking up the heirs of Capt. Carey.

Mr. Minnihan has lived in Milford one year, is married, and is a hard-working man. He intends to take a trip to England with his sister to look up their claims. Mr. Minnihan says Capt. Carey was a veteran of the Boer war and had a wife and three children, all of whom are dead, and that his sister and himself are the only relatives of Capt. Carey alive.

BAD MONEY GANG

Said to be Located in Boston

A den of counterfeit money makers is said to have been located in a fashionable quarter of Boston and secret service officials are making active preparations for the capture of a number of male and female counterfeiters who have been passing the "queer" in Boston, Lynn, Salem, Brockton, Lowell and other nearby towns.

Their specialties are $5 bills, as well as coin.

The bills are not engraved, but are made by some sort of a lithographic process. The lines are crude, and the bills have the dim appearance of wood cuts. They are of the Indian head variety, series of 1899, and are numbered 50,754,722. On the back where the silk fibres show is a printed imitation of silk. The imitation is stiff and hard, and has none of the greasy feeling of the genuine article.

The authorities state that the leader of the gang is a dark man about 5ft. 8in. tall, 40 or 45 years of age, black mustache and of medium build. He dresses in dark sack suit and stiff hat.

Arrests are expected shortly, and every link in the chain of evidence is all but complete.

BODY EXHUMED

People Thought Woman Was Alive

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Aug. 19.—A thousand persons clamoring that a grave in St. Augustine's cemetery be opened because a girl had been buried alive was the situation Thursday night in East Bridgeport. To satisfy the multitude, the grave was finally opened and the corpse found as it had been buried.

St. Augustine's cemetery is very old and mysterious, and four women passing through it in the dusk yesterday afternoon were talking of the death of Annie Hedinar a servant girl, who last Sunday night, not being used to the customs of this country, blew out the gas and was suffocated. As the women passed by her grave they were startled, they declare, to hear a muffled voice cry out three times, "O Holy Christ!"

The report gained rapid circulation, and soon the population of the district was pouring toward the cemetery. Four policemen were sent to turn them out.

Soon there were persons ready to assert that they had seen the dead girl breathe as she lay in her coffin, that her eyelids had moved, that there was sweat upon her face, until finally a demand rose that the grave be opened.

Undertaker Pixley declared that the girl's remains had been embalmed, but the crowd didn't understand the process and wasn't satisfied. The dead girl's sister, greatly excited, now demanded that the grave be opened, and at 10 o'clock the cemetery gravedigger disinterred the casket and revealed the body lying just as it had been before. This stilled the clamor and the crowd dispersed.

FEWER CASES

TYPHOID FEVER ON DECREASE IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Reports to the health department show a steady decrease in typhoid fever, the rapid spread of which recently caused some alarm especially in the bath beach section of Brooklyn. In Greater New York the total of new cases since Saturday noon of last week is 194. For the corresponding days of last year 103 cases were reported. In the seven days of the week before 224 cases were reported.

Physicians at Bath Beach and Bensonhurst said there was not a single new case in that part of the city during the week. Every effort is being made to remove all causes of the fever in that section, where many residents of Manhattan spend the summer months.

THREE TRAMPS

SAY THEY WERE NOT NEAR KENT'S HILL.

LIVERMORE Falls, Me., Aug. 19—Last night State Detective A. F. Dwelley arrested Richard Love, John McEncheron and James Brennan, the three men released from Auburn jail last Thursday morning and whom the police thought might be able to throw some light on the murder of Mattie Hackett, at Kent's Hill, last Thursday night. The men are being held to await the arrival of the Kennebec county officers who will take them to Readfield for examination. The men claim that they never went near Readfield or Kent's Hill. After leaving Auburn together with Harry Jones, now under arrest at Readfield, the four men tramped to a point on the road between West Leeds and North Leeds, when Jones left them saying he was going to Monmouth Center. The men under arrest say that they came direct to this town which they claim to have reached Friday morning about 8 o'clock.

CABINET CHANGE

Meyer to be Head of Navy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—Some further important shifts in cabinet positions are contemplated by President Roosevelt, and will take place possibly soon after the peace negotiations between Russia and Japan are concluded, or, at any rate, it is anticipated, within a year. The new arrangement of portfolios will especially interest Massachusetts, since it will involve two Massachusetts men, Attorney Moody and the Hon. George von L. Meyer, now ambassador at St. Petersburg.

Mr. Moody intends to retire from the cabinet, being anxious to enter upon the practice of law at Boston, and he would like to be relieved of his cabinet post by Jan. 1 if possible. At the same time he has no desire to embarrass the administration, and will make his personal plans conform to the president's.

President Roosevelt's intention is to make Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore, now secretary of the navy, attorney general, and when the time is ripe for that change to take place Mr. Meyer will relinquish his present post as the result of a mutual understanding, and be given the secretaryship of the navy.

Probably it would be more accurate to say that as soon as the time is ripe for Ambassador Meyer's recall these changes will be made, for necessarily much depends upon the course of the peace negotiations and the early restoration of something like normal conditions in Russia.

CRICKET GAMES

The Mohairs Beaten by Lawrence Team

The Mohairs received a severe trouncing at the hands of the Lawrence Athletics at Lawrence Saturday afternoon. The game was played on a matting crease and the day was an ideal one for cricket. Despite the fact that the Mohair team seemed to be the favorite the fine bowling of Wade and Walker soon put the Lowell batters out of commission.

For Lawrence, Wainwright and Gill were the top scorers and by their sharp and heavy hitting won the game without the loss of a wicket.

The result will give Lawrence a good hold on the championship, although they still have to play some hard games which may effect their standing.

LORD CURZON, EX-VICEROY OF INDIA.

Resigns as Viceroy of India

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedelston as viceroy of India and the appointment of the earl of Minto as his successor were announced at the India office last night.

Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the cabinet to appoint Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow on Lord Curzon's recommendation military supply member of the council.

CHINESE FIGHT

Revolvers Again Used in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Another battle of warring Chinese secret societies was fought in Chinatown last night. As a result two men were taken to a hospital with serious but not fatal bullet wounds, two were slightly injured and later others were locked up.

The police are inclined to think that the victims are members of the On Leong Tong, which were soon to appear against the members of the Hip Sing Tong to which the recent Chinatown threatre murders have been attributed.

With oriental strategy last night's affair was planned to attract the police and others who might be curious, away from the scene of the shooting. A few minutes before 9 o'clock several shots were fired, seemingly from a roof in Doyers street. The police arriving a minute or so later found the narrow streets packed. The detectives and uniformed men had about reached the doorway of the Doyers street house when from Pell street came the noise of several heavy calibre pistol shots, so fast and furious that the sound might have come from a machine gun. Making for Pell street the police soon located the trouble at a house said to be the headquarters of the On Leong Tong. In the building were more than 200 Chinamen chattering about the shooting. The police, in a little room in the rear of the third floor found the victims of the shooting, two lying in pools of blood, two others trying to stanuch wounds, with half a dozen other Chinamen trying to hide under chairs. Several were hanging out of the windows.

The names of the more seriously injured are Huie John Yoka and Wee Mong, both laundrymen.

Don't miss the Old Orchard excursion. $1.50 is the round trip rate on August 24th, via the Boston & Maine R. R.

FIREBUG'S WORK

Medford Suffers a Loss of $50,000

MEDFORD, Aug. 21—It was 7 o'clock yesterday morning before the "all out" signal was sounded an dthe weary firemen released from their labors, which began shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night.

When all was over it was found that the result of the work of the incendiaries was the total destruction of the First M. E. church on Salem st., with a loss of $10,000 the partial destruction of loss 1 house on Spring st., involving a loss of $35,000, the burning of sheds on the Foster wharf on Riverside avenue, where the damage will amount to $100 and the destruction of a shed belonging to the New England brick company in Glenwood, with a small loss.

All the fires occurred within an hour, and were unquestionably set, the evidence of incendiarism being conclusive.

BARN BURNED

GRANITEVILLE VISITED BY LIVELY BLAZE.

The town of Graniteville was threatened by fire yesterday afternoon and but for the fine work of the firemen and residents of the town a good portion of Graniteville would have been wiped out. As it was a barn was destroyed and two other buildings were scorched by the flames.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon fire was discovered in the barn of Lewis P. Palmer near the Boston & Maine station. The fire started in the hay mow. Within a short time after the alarm had been given there was a large crowd of men, women and children on the scene.

The fire was blazing merrily when the volunteer fire department arrived and as two buildings nearby had been scorched by the flames it was decided to try and confine the fire to the barn and keep it from spreading to the other buildings. The sparks, however, fell on other buildings in the vicinity and every now and then several men would have to climb to the roofs of different buildings to extinguish the flames.

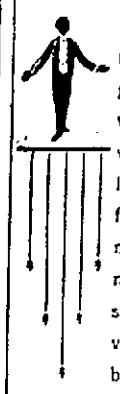

The water supply was limited, or rather the means of pouring the water was limited. Pails were obtained from the Abbott company, whose works are nearby, and the water used came from ordinary pumps. Several hand extinguishers were in operation.

The blaze attracted a crowd of fully 1000 people from Graniteville, Westford, Tyngsboro and the country side generally within several miles.

The damage was said to amount to about $3000. The cause of the fire could not be ascertained.

Miss Isabelle M. McKenna of Providence, who has been spending her vacation in this city, returned home today being accompanied by her cousins, Misses Margaret M. Lynch and Master Leo, J. Cox of South Highland street.

BY ARBITRATION

The President Hopes Peace Will be Accomplished

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21—The Associated Press is able to announce that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt communicated through Baron Rosen to Mr. Witte and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas was based upon the principle of arbitration. Whether the proposal contemplates arbitration of all the articles upon which the plenipotentiaries have failed to agree or only upon the question of indemnity cannot be stated with positiveness, but it is more than probable that it relates only to indemnity or to indemnity and cession of the island of Sakhalin. Neither is it possible to say whether the president has yet made a similar proposition to Japan. The customary diplomatic procedure in such a case would be to submit the proposal simultaneously to both countries but there might be an advantage in securing the adherence of one before submitting it to the other. To Emperor Nicholas, the author of the Hague peace conference, the suggestion of arbitration which will necessarily immediately command the sympathy of the public opinion of the world, will be particularly hard to reject. If he agrees, Japan, if she has not already done so, would be all the more bound to submit her claim to the impartial arbitrator. Acceptance by both sides would involve a great extension of the principle of arbitration as nations have heretofore declined to arbitrate questions involving their "honor and dignity." Both Mr. Takahira and Mr. Witte in the earlier stages of the conference absolutely rejected the idea of arbitration and only Saturday both reiterated their disbelief in such a solution. It was noticed, however, that Mr. Witte's opinion was not expressed as strongly as last week.

RUSSIA FIRM

WILL NOT CHANGE ITS FINAL REPLY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug 21, 12.30 a. m.—Russia's official attitude regarding the final reply to be made to Japan on Tuesday is unchanged. The impression prevails that only a very great concession on the part of Japan on the question of indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin will make peace possible. The questions pertaining to the limitation of Russia's naval power and the surrender of her interned warships are considered here to be quite susceptible of satisfactory arrangement and not liable to cause serious trouble.

An interesting development of Sunday was the statement from the very best authority that the foreign office does not believe that Aug. 22 will necessarily see the conclusion at Portsmouth of the conference and that there will be further exchanges between the plenipotentiaries lasting two and maybe three days. In some quarters this is taken as a sign that there still is hope for a settlement on the basis of concessions by the Japanese.

Mr. Witte's full reports are being submitted through the foreign office to the emperor. There has been no meeting of the grand dukes to consider these reports but the emperor has been in consultation and will consult again today with some of his advisers and ministers on vital matters now being decided here.

The final communication of the supreme deciding authority, Emperor Nicholas, conveying his majesty's instructions as to the course which M. Witte shall pursue, beginning on Tuesday, will be transmitted to Portsmouth through the foreign office, probably tonight (Monday) or Tuesday morning.

WANTS PEACE

RUSSIA HAS YIELDED IN EIGHT POINTS.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21—Mr. Briantchaninoff, correspondent of the St. Petersburg Slovo who is in close touch with the members of the Russian mission, made the following significant statement last night to The Associated Press:

"Now that we are on the eve of the decisive day when we are to see whether higher civilization, wedded to peace, is to come out victorious or will admit itself incapable of finding a just solution of the problem at Portsmouth and will refer the whole issue back again to the arbitratment of the sword, I am and can say as a simple Russian citizen, that Russia wishes peace very sincerely, very frankly and that she considers that she has demonstrated her desire for peace by her course at this conference. She has yielded upon eight points. She has agreed to retire from a country where she has spent millions in the cause of civilization. All this she has done, but not because she fears a continuation of the war. On the contrary letters I have received from Russia are unanimous in saying that the whole country has renewed confidence in its re-organized army, that the army is thirsting for battle, and dreams only of revenge, that General Linevitch, the commander-in-chief, is sure of success and that the authorities all agree in saying that never before has the moral and physical state of the troops been better. We know that Linevitch is not only an organizer like Kuropatkin, but that he possesses that particular military intuition that talent for spontaneously seizing an opportunity which alone can give victory against an adversary as formidable as the Japanese. The number of Russian troops at last equals that of Japanese—and they are no longer Siberian recruits. I know that in the eyes of foreigners all these arguments are not convincing. The events of the past influence their judgment as to the future, but to Russians who are in touch with the military situation it is certain that a rupture of the negotiations seems desirable because they believe that the turn of the tide is at hand. Certainly with a battle along a front of sixty miles no one can foresee what may happen, any little accident, the sun or the dirt in the eyes of the men, an order badly expressed or badly understood, a telephone wire cut, anything may in an instant entirely change the situation. One cannot be astonished, therefore, if the Russians when they are told 'you have lost; pay' reply 'fifteen times in succession we have backed the red and it has come black. We have now the advantage of the chances. We will continue to back the red until we win.' The player has the right to his revenge. The world cannot be angry with Russia if after having yielded perhaps more than she ought she now says: 'If my adversary does not understand that I have yielded unwillingly only because I have always believed in the peaceful solution of conflicts I will prove to him that once wounded I can become obstinate and pursue the game until my adversary is completely exhausted.' Personally as an anti-militarist and a believer in peace, I find that it would be in entire conformity to the dignity of Russia to submit the questions in dispute to The Hague tribunal and thus increase the splendor of that institution which should become for the welfare of humanity. But I know, alas, that such an idea has not yet taken deep enough root. One cannot then feel resentment against the Russian people if, observing that their love for peace has been interpreted as a sign of weakness and too much is demanded of them they replace their destinies in the hands of their generals."

THE CANOBIE LAKE CONTROVERSY AS VIEWED FROM DIFFERENT STANDARDS.

ARRESTS MADE

At Canobie Lake Did Not Stop Amusements

Great crowds visited Canobie lake, yesterday, and with the exception of the dance hall everything was running full blast. The day was perfect and perfect order prevailed. The wet blanket that Portsmouth's sheriff threw upon the Sunday amusements at Canobie was removed yesterday and it was a case of "let the fun go on."

Of course there were official forms that had to be lived up to and early in the afternoon Deputy Sheriff Robert Scott and Sheriff Wheeler of Salem arrived with a cargo of warrants and technically arrested the managers or acting managers and ticket sellers of the skating rink, the flying horses, the roller coaster and the box-ball alleys.

The sheriffs appeared at the offices of the amusement places mentioned and summoned those in charge to appear before them at Supt. Williams' office at once and make answer to questions relative to violation of the Sunday law.

In response to these summonses there appeared E. Earl Cole, manager, and Ernest Potter, ticket seller of the skating rink; John Connelly, manager, and Alex. Maynard, ticket seller, of the roller coaster; Herbert M. Newhall, manager, and William J. Hoyt, assistant manager of the box-ball alleys, and C. Arthur Fendering, acting manager, and Evan J. David, ticket seller of the flying horses. Warrants were formally served upon all, and they were under arrest. When they left their respective places of business they substituted assistants to look after things and everything kept on as though nothing was happening.

Things were adjusted in short order at the scene of the arrest, and within a quarter of an hour after the warrants were served the eight prisoners were back at their business. In the absence of a bail commissioner, Justice James Ayer of Salem, who happened to be on the grounds, was pressed into service, and he presided at the liberating ceremonies. The officers required that each should recognize in $100 for appearance in police court at Portsmouth this morning at 10 o'clock, and Charles J. Ramsdell and Sewall A. Watson went surety for the bunch.

Messrs. Fendering and David of the flying horses are both college students, the former being a Phillips-Andover man and the latter a Harvard boy. Fendering was acting in the capacity of manager yesterday in the absence of Carl Braun of Collinsville, who has charge of the amusement. His home is at Devil's Lake, North Dakota, and his regular occupation at the park is that of ticket-taker for the theatre. David belongs in Pennsylvania.

Manager M. H. Newhall of the box-ball alleys is a resident of Salem. William Hoyt, his assistant, is a Haverhill boy. Manager Connelly of the roller coaster, hails from Fitchburg; Maynard and Earl Cole are from Nashua, and Ernest Potter from Lawrence.

SULTAN OF SULU

HE WOULD MAKE HER SULTANA

Moros' Gifts to the Taft Party

JOLO, Aug. 18.—via. Manila, Aug. 21.—(Delayd in trasmission.) Secretary Taft and party arrived here at noon and immediately proceeded to the parade ground to witness an elaborate program arranged for their entertainment. The sultan of Sula, with his retinue and other Moro dignitaries, occupied seats on the grand stand along with Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt.

Thousands of Moros, residents of Jolo and from the neighboring islands were present to take part in the festivities which were wonderfully picturesque. In the afternoon there were carabou and bull fights.

Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt were presented many Moro presents by the sultan, who offered his hand in marriage to Miss Roosevelt, and would make her sultana of the Sulu archipelago, saying that his people desired her to remain among them.

While some members of the party were bathing in the afternoon, Frederick O'Brien, editor of the Cable News, was seized with cramps and the undertow was rapidly carrying him out to sea, when Representative Longworth of Ohio, seeing his peril, started after him and rescued him at the risk of his own life.

DOWAGER QUEEN

Barely Escaped From an Assassin

TURIN, Aug. 21. A dastardly attempt has just been made to assassinate Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, who is making a tour of the Alps in an automobile. This news is contained in a telegram received yesterday from Aosta at the royal palace of Racconigi, near here.

Queen Margherita was ascending the little St. Bernard in her auto, accompanied by the Marquis di Villamarina, another lady of the court and two gentlemen, when the machine suddenly struck against a stone barricade that had been erected in the middle of the road and overturned.

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

ANNEXATION A NECESSITY

If we would have our city expand we must not limit its growth by a boundary line as fixed as the walls of ancient Babylon.

Now that rapid transit affords us unprecedented facilities for reaching the suburbs, there is no excuse for crowding in the residential districts.

To avoid congestion and to give ample room for expansion as a city should expand—with wide and regular streets, plenty of space for public breathing places, for spacious lawns and gardens in connection with the dwellings—it is necessary to annex outlying districts. Especially is this necessary where our territory is built upon out to the city line, as at some points on the border touching Dracut, Tewksbury and Chelmsford.

We must make more room wherever the shoe pinches. To delay annexation in such cases means crowding within the city limits; it means small, crooked and irregular streets; it means congestion with all the concomitant diseases and disorders, physical and moral.

We would be exceedingly proud to see Lowell the second city in the state. If she does not increase spontaneously we can add to her size and importance by annexation. That is how some of the great cities took on their initial impetus. The annexation of new territory would cause a stampede outward from the crowded districts; it would add vastly to the value of our real estate and would add also to our population by attracting new settlers as well as by taking in some populous districts.

By annexation we can make Lowell a great city, a healthy city, a beautiful city. Then annex desirable suburban tracts as quickly as possible in the interests of an ever progressive and a greater Lowell.

If Secretary Taft were at home he would have another war scandal to unravel in the padding of government contracts with the palpable intention of fraud.

New Orleans is in the grasp of yellow jack and already the loss of life is very great. Another General Butler is needed to clear the city of pestilence.

THE GYPSY MOTH ARRIVES.

Supt. Whittet of the park department, at a time when our city was pronounced freer from moth pests than any other in the state, gives the alarm that the gypsy moth has arrived in our midst. That is a serious matter. Let every citizen take due notice of the fact, and every one who has trees keep close watch upon them lest the gypsy moth pest get a foothold here.

The park commission has done good work in banishing the brown-tails and now that another pest has made its appearance in a small way let that also be banished.

THE DUAL TARIFF.

The dual tariff might go far towards overcoming some of the worst difficulties that are now encountered in some of the various schedules. Were such a tariff in force, an administration favoring a high tariff would hold fast to the maximum and one favoring a low tariff would extend the minimum rates. It would afford ample opportunity for the negotiation of reciprocity treaties and on this ground it will probably be opposed by the republican bosses.

AS TO CHIEF HOSMER.

Sometime ago our neighbor the Citizen was the leading eulogist of Chief Hosmer when a younger man was looking for the job. Now, however, the Citizen thinks the chief should be at home attending to his business instead of at the convention of chiefs in Duluth, Minn.

Here is part of what the Citizen has to say on the matter:

"In any event, the chief is unwarrantably wasting valuable time in thus absenting himself in the face of a pressing duty, and it is not at all consonant with his record to do so. We are at a loss to understand why, after so long and honorable a career at the head of his department, Chief Hosmer should thus lay himself open to criticism—for criticism is daily growing more rife. This is no time for junketing in view of the necessity for providing a system of street lighting to be ready the moment the Welsbach contract runs out. Nor will it pay the chief to stand out against universal public sentiment to block the making of a reasonable electric light contract."

TIME FOR JAPAN TO YIELD A POINT.

The peace envoys have come to a deadlock in their negotiations and have taken a rest to afford ample time for communication with the home governments. All seemed to be fairly smooth sailing at the conference until the Japanese demand that Russia's future naval armament in the Pacific be limited.

There was a hitch in the cession of the island of Sakhalin to Japan but that was postponed, the obvious intention being to consider it in conjunction with the article demanding an indemnity.

Another disputed point is the cession to Japan of Russia's interned warships. This point, the limitation of her naval strength in the Pacific and the payment of an indemnity are demands the cession of which would humiliate Russia and that is where Witte, the Russian envoy, draws the line.

The smoothness of the conference was due to the fact that Russia made all the concessions. It is now about time for Japan to yield a point or two. There is no denying the fact that the demand to restrict Russia's future armament in the Pacific is wholly unreasonable and would prove humiliating to Russia.

Russia is not a conquered nation. True she has been severely whipped in various battles on land and sea but she is not conquered. She could keep up the war with Japan for several years until the financial resources of the latter would be utterly exhausted. It is incumbent upon Japan in the present diplomatic struggle to be a little more moderate. Unless she yields some of the demands set forth the war will proceed and Japan will regret the fact quite as much as Russia.

SEEN AND HEARD

He's a bartend and a very accommodating fellow. He passes out the foamy at the "place around the corner" and he has had his moustache taken away. He has curly hair, is barrel jawed and stands erect about five feet, six in his stocking feet. He really does look sort o' funny like, but he is good natured and takes hard knocks with a complacency that would break a poet's heart. "I feel funny but I'm glad I had my moustache shaved off," he said to a friend who remarked on his appearance. "I am more full present than the fellows who went automobiling and got thrown into the apple trees. I think that the number of customers has increased since I had my moustache taken away. People who are not in the habit of coming in here have called and passed remarks relative to my appearance. Some of them say I look like a convict; others say I look ten years younger and one fellow said I looked like a murderer. I would have never known that I was popular but for the fact I shaved off my moustache."

There's a famous fable country, never seen by mortal eyes, where the pumpkins they are growin' and the sun is said to rise; where no mortal man does habit, neither reptile, bird or beast and that's the famous country they call "down east." These few lines were culled from "Johnnie" Towers's famous work entitled "Trout Fishing in Maine."

I am in receipt of a letter from a girl in Calais, Me., who has a well tilled farm and a loving heart. She is inclined to marry and has asked me to supply the names of at least a dozen marriagable men not over 35. Come early and avoid the rush.

INTELLIGENT BEARS

ONE OF THE MANY ATTRACTIONS OF THE NASHUA FAIR.

The people of Lowell and vicinity who desire to pass Labor day enjoyably and profitably ought not to overlook the Nashua fair which opens on that day. This is not a local, a state or county fair. It is an "exposition universal", and its entry lists from firemen's hand tubs to domestic productions and pet stock, are open to the world. For this reason the exhibits have become the most complete of any fair in New England. This is particularly true of blooded horses and cattle. Racing has received a great boom in New Hampshire since the action of Governor Douglas in stopping certain features at harness meets in Massachusetts and the races for this reason are bound to be spirited and well attended. The "Pike" will be larger, livelier and lustier than ever.

Those who cannot come on Labor day with the veteran firemen from all over New England and those who stay in Nashua over night will find the succeeding three days of the fair equally good. On Wednesday the governor of New Hampshire and a glittering array of officials will be there and will mingle with the people, see the sights and partake of the fun. On that day the balloon ascension and parachute jump, which will take place every day, will be varied by the shooting of a woman from a cannon suspended from a balloon in mid-air.

Thursday, Sept. 7, the last day will witness a ball game in the championship series between Nashua and some other team of the New England league.

No expense has been spared to make the Nashua fair the greatest as well as the first and best of all the New England Agricultural shows. The features are many and varied and no single day's sightseeing will enable a person to do full justice to all there is.

Nashua is easy of access and the Boston and Maine railroad will sell special tickets at reduced rates including admission to the grounds. Trolley cars take one from the stations to the gates and Boston and Northern trolley cars will run extra trips from Lowell without change.

The vast and expensive pyrotechnic drama, the Japanese-Russian naval battle scene will be given at the Fair Grounds every night.

Do not forget the Great Nashua Fair Labor day and the three days thereafter.

SEIZED BEER

LIQUOR OFFICERS MADE A SMALL HAUL.

Officers Duncan and Atkinson visited the home of Stephen Murphy in Colburn street, yesterday morning, and seized four cases of beer and a small quantity of whiskey. A milkman was just finishing the contents of a mug when the police arrived. Murphy informed the police that he was only a boarded at the house and that his wife ran the house. No arrest was made but the wet goods were taken to the police station.

STRUCK BY CAR

GRANT SPEARE BADLY INJURED AT REVERE BEACH.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—While oiling the track of a roller coaster at Revere beach yesterday, Grant A. Speare was struck by a car containing four persons, and hurled to the soft marsh 20 feet below, falling on his back.

At the emergency room of the state bath house, where he was taken, he was found to have two sprained ankles and cuts and bruises. He was taken to his home in Revere. The wonder of the accident was Speare's escape from more serious injury.

THUGS' WORK

MAN WAS BRUTALLY BEATEN AND ROBBED.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Dennis Behan, 40 years old, who lives in Quincy, went to the Lagrange street police station yesterday with his face bandaged and plastered, and reported that the night before he had been set upon by two men at the corner of Kneeland and Albany street, who knocked him down, jumped on his face and robbed him of $6.

MANY ARE ROBBED

Lowell People Victims of Pickpockets

ONE GIRL LOST HER WATCH

Crooks are Busy at Old Orchard

Reports from Old Orchard beach indicate that pickpockets were at work at that resort yesterday and that Lowell people were among their victims. The engineers of the Boston and Maine road enjoyed an excursion to the beach and quite a number of people went from Lowell. The big train pulled out of the Northern station at 8.15 yesterday morning and reached here on the return trip at 9.45 last evening. It was while the party was waiting for the train at the station at Old Orchard that the crooks got in their work. The crowd was so great that the men managed to escape. One engineer named Wardwell, who lives in this city, lost $37 in money and checks calling for a similar amount and his ticket on the Boston and Maine road. Another engineer, whose name was not learned, lost his gold watch which was snatched from his pocket, and a young woman named Miss Stroud, also of Lowell, had her gold watch stolen. As soon as she felt the tug on her watch chain she notified those about, but the thief was too quick and escaped in the crowd. Several others in the party came near losing valuables and money and one man who felt a hand in his watch pocket grabbed hold of the hand but was unable to hold his man. The officials at Old Orchard were notified of the thefts but could get no description of the pickpockets.

WANTS TO FIGHT

Venezuela is After the Yankees

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Tribune today will say:

"Venezuela has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats, guns and ammunition at the cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than the little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war material.

"An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that he was going to fight the Yankees, which explains the unusually large orders for ships, arms and ammunition.

"It is reported that when the Venezuelan chief executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge William Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Caracas his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit the emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela."

BILLERICA

The Talbot mills reopened this morning after a two weeks' shut down in order to give the employes a vacation and also to make needed repairs to the machinery.

Several changes have been made since the mill was closed. In the finishing department, which occupies the floors on the east side of the plant, the shearing, brushing and rotary machines have been moved from the bottom to the top floor, giving much more light to do this work. The elevator which runs in this department has been moved to the other end of the building, from where it was located before the mill closed.

M. Vincent Maloney, who is located in Rochester, N. Y., is spending a brief vacation at his home.

Henry F. Brown and Miss Mary Elizabeth Buckley, both well known young people in this town, will be united in marriage at St. Anne's mission at 2.30 next Wednesday afternoon. A reception will follow the ceremony in the new church building.

Rev. Mr. Adriance of Winchester again occupied the pulpit at the Orthodox church. He spoke on Malachai 3:16: "Then they that feared the Lord spoke to another." Many from Lowell, where Mr. Adriance used to preach, were present.

NEARLY DROWNED

Two Young Men Were Dumped From Canoe

AND RESCUED JUST IN TIME

By Capt. Hagan of Mineola at Canobie

Oscar Martin of 136 Suffolk street and George David of 100 Suffolk street had narrow escapes from being drowned while canoeing at Canoble lake about five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Both young men were amateurs with the paddles and after hiring the boat started for the opposite shore. The fact that both were paddling on the same side made the craft unsteady, and it was not many minutes after the boat left the house that it turned turtle, both young men being dumped into the water.

The "life saving" steam launch Mineola was about fifty yards from the scene of the accident at the time and Capt. Hagan put the boat around and made for the two struggling men. Davis was in fair condition, but Martin was in great distress.

Councilman J. L. Kemp of Haverhill was on the Mineola, and he it was who threw a line to the struggling men. Martin was pulled in first and was turned over to Drs. William M. Collins and Fred A. Craig, both of this city and who happened to be passengers on the launch at the time David was drawn onto the launch last and was merely exhausted from the struggle.

The doctors worked over Martin for fully 15 minutes before they brought him to consciousness. David is all right. The struggle in the water was plainly visible from the park side of the lake, and was witnessed by hundreds.

FATAL FALL

BOSTON DOCTOR DEAD AT SEATTLE, WASH.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Dr. E. W. Shead, who came to Seattle from Boston last fall, was killed by an accidental fall from the roof of the Madison hotel at 122 Madison street yesterday evening. His skull was fractured on the concrete sidewalk. It is presumed the doctor went to the roof of the hotel to smoke and lost his footing in attempting to step onto an adjoining building. E. A. Coffin, proprietor of the hotel, heard the fall, but when he reached the body life was extinct.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The annual outing of the Club des Citoyens Americains was held yesterday at the Munier farm in West Dracut. It was an ideal day for an outing and the attendance was very large, the affair being a great success.

The members arrived at the farm early in the morning and amused themselves in different manners until about one o'clock, when dinner was served.

The tables were set in the shade of the trees on the bank of Beaver brook. Arthur Lavole was the chef and everybody present said that he was an excellent cook. Over 200 members were present at the outing.

PAVILION FELL

Women Were Buried in the Ruins

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 21.—While many thousand people were assembled in Crocker Park Saturday night to listen to a band concert and witness the display of fireworks incident to the celebration of the arrival of the New York Yacht club fleet, a great panic was caused by the collapse of a large pavilion in which about 200 women and children were seated.

A large number, probably a hundred, of small boys had climbed to the roof of the frame structure to gain a better view of the fireworks. Without warning, one end of the roof began to sink and swing, and one after another crashed down on the heads of many women, severely injuring four of them.

The injured are:

Mrs. Isabelle Rice, 55, of Marblehead; collar bone broken and severe bruises on back.

Mrs. Otis Cahoon, 55, of Swampscott; internally injured.

Mrs. —— Dodge, 40, of Lynn; unconscious and badly bruised.

Mrs. Katherine Spear, Danversport; bruised.

All of the injured were taken to their homes in ambulances and none, it is thought, will die.

MAY DIE

CHILD FELL FROM FATHER'S BICYCLE.

BOSTON, Aug. 21—Ernest Silver, 2 years old, 5 Elmore street, Lynn, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon at the corner of Greene and Union streets, by the forks of a tandem cycle upon which he was riding breaking and throwing him violently to the ground.

LADY HURT

MRS. HOPKINS FELL FROM MOVING CAR.

Mrs. A. W. Hopkins of 11 Sixth street met with a painful accident at Billerica last night. She was changing from the Lexington to the Lowell car at the Centre village and the car which she was on had just started when she discovered that she had lost her pocketbook. Not waiting to notify the conductor, Mrs. Hopkins tried to get off the moving car and she fell backwards and struck her head on the ground.

She was immediately taken to Dr. M. A. Buck's of Billerica, where she was treated. Her injuries are not serious, although she is much bruised about the head. It is considered fortunate that she was not more severely hurt. Later in the evening she came to Lowell.

NINE KILLED

Street Car Collided With a Freight Train

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 21—Nine persons were killed, one fatally injured and about 12 less seriously hurt in a collision between a street car filled with returning merrymakers from the Columbia gardens and a freight train on the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific railway last night. The dead:

MRS. SADIE SMITH.
MAGGIE HARRINGTON, aged 13, Butte.
MAUD JOHNSON, aged 19, Butte.
MRS. JACOBS, colored, Butte.
MAGGIE KEEFE, aged 19, Butte.
VERA HAUGHTON, aged 14, Butte.
CHRIS WOLD, unknown except by name on metal identification check found in his pocket.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN AND WOMAN, both at the Montana undertaking rooms.

The injured:
Ters Kottke.
Harry L. Lindley.
Joseph Kennedy.
Tennie Brudes.
Albert Dockstader.
Agnes Sullivan.
Gertie Shay.
James Cairns.
Phelix Hughes.
Alfred Jackson.

Loaded with passengers, many of them women and girls, the car returning from Columbia Gardens was struck by the end of a freight train on the railroad tracks north of the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific depot and crushed beneath the weight of one freight car killing eight and fatally injuring one and perhaps another. Numerous others were slightly hurt and were taken to their homes for treatment, their names at this time being unobtainable.

That more were not killed is almost miraculous for the accident occurred with a suddenness that precluded any hope of escape for those on the front end of the car.

Some of the killed were horribly mangled. The train which struck the street car was composed of 14 freight cars being pushed east o nthe tracks by an engine. The crew claim that the motorman of the trolley tried to beat the train to the crossing.

POOL SHARKS

"Trim" Harvey Graham for $17

Harvey W. Graham of Wilder street was a victim of pool sharks, Saturday evening and dropped $17, which little Johnny West, a fly pool player, would now like to restore to him.

Graham, having nothing else to do Saturday night dropped into a pool room on Middlesex street to watch the game not being a player himself. While there West approached him and asked him to have a friendly game. Graham stated that he knew but little about the game but West said they would play a game for 50 cents a side and then induce a third party in from whom they could get the money.

Graham agreed to play and losing the first game gave over a half dollar to West. Then the ever-present third party happened along at the proper moment and asked to be allowed to join the game, acting as though he had never seen West before.

When the game started West slipped back Graham's half dollar and quietly informed him that he would proceed to get the third fellow's money without any difficulty. This second game was for $2 a side. Then followed a third for $5, and finally a fourth for $10 a side, est won them all and had $17 of Graham's money. Then Graham noticed West and the stranger having a few whispered words together, and becoming suspicious went out and told his story to Officer Cooke. The latter promptly placed West under arrest and at the police station he said first that he was a baker and hailed from Springfield. Later he said his home was in Schenectady, N. Y., while he forgot about being a baker. Yesterday he wanted a chance to make restitution to Graham and asked that the Tremont house be called up in order that a man named Marshall might pay 17 to Graham. He also volunteered the information that Marshall would know him as the man he met in Springfield last Monday with a man named "Razor Jim." The police were unable to locate Marshall.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Grounded on Shoal and the Mate Drowned

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 21.—The coal-laden schooner M. C. Haskell, bound from New York, for Rockland, Maine, is a total wreck on Handkerchief shoal, and her mate, Nelson Tausen, of Rockland, has been drowned. Captain Winfield and the other members of the crew came ashore in their own boats. The vessel ran aground on the shoal late last night at low tide, and when the tide turned she rolled over and sank. A thick haze, which obscured the lights on the shoal was the cause of the disaster.

Captain Winfield stated today that he was working his vessel up over the Shoals last night in a light wind and moderate sea. The atmosphere was so thick that he could make out only one of the lights on the Handkerchief shoals lightship. He also was able to discern Chatham light and endeavored to shape his course by these two. The effort was not successful, however, and the schooner struck on the shoal.

Believeing they would have time to save their effects before the vessel changed her position, Capt. Winfield, Mate Tausen and Steward Olsen went down into the cabin, while the other three members of the crew prepared the boats. With the rising tide, however, the schooner began to roll. The captain and steward hastily ran to the deck, but the mate stayed behing, still thinking he might save something. Suddenly the schooner went over and the sea rushed into the cabin. Tausen was caught in the trap and was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered. The others succeeded in putting off in their boats.

As the sea was smooth they remained in the vicinity of the wreck until daylight. They were sighted soon after dawn by Capt. Kelley of the Monomoy Point life saving station, who put out to their assistance. The men, however, rowed their own boats to the life saving station, where they remained this forenoon.

Mate Tausen leaves a widow and five children in Rockland. The other members of the crew were John Doherty, Otto Beck and Aleck Clayford.

It is understood that no attempt will be made to raise the schooner, but that she will be stripped so far as possible. She carried about 40 tons of coal and it is stated here [illegible] the vessel nor cargo was [illegible].

The M. C. Haskell was built at Rockland, Maine, in [illegible]. Her net tonnage was 299 and she was [illegible] feet long, 28 feet in breadth and [illegible] feet in depth. She was owned in Rockland.

Yellow Jack as It Is Known to Modern Science

THE recent outbreak of yellow fever in New Orleans, although it has not at any time assumed the character of an epidemic, as is the case on the isthmus of Panama, has been sufficiently malefic in its results to cause the gravest apprehension and to stimulate the earnest and most vigorous effort for its suppression. With the history of past visitations of the scourge in mind, the citizens of the regions most exposed to its ravages have been prompt in their measures of resistance. Fortunately the combat against this most dreaded of summer visitors is no longer the unequal struggle it once proved to be. Modern research and improved methods of sanitation have robbed the ancient terror of much of its grewsomeness, but too much that is reminiscent of its horrors still remains.

Medical men have never left off theorizing about the cause of yellow fever since they began to treat it. It was believed by many that it was infectious, a specific miasm carried in the air. Others taught that it was contagious, contracted only by actual contact with substances which had been contaminated by a fever patient. After the search for micro organisms became the fad there were many announcements of the discovery of the fever bacillus, but conservative physicians were inclined to be skeptical. In the summer of 1900 came the first inkling of the true solution. The United States government had undertaken to free Havana from its unsavory reputation for unhealthfulness and as a preliminary Surgeon General Sternberg (now retired) appointed a board to investigate the yellow fever.

The preliminary observation disclosed several significant facts. It was found that nonimmune nurses did not often contract the disease. That seemed to controvert the idea of contagion and infection. Repeated examinations of the blood and excreta of patients showed no signs of the presence of bacteria. That disposed of the microbe theory. Ten years earlier a Cuban physician, Dr. Carlos Finlay of Havana, had propounded the theory that the fever could be carried by a mosquito, the culex (now stegomyia) fasciatus. The board began to experiment with this insect. Eleven persons were permitted to be bitten by these contaminated mosquitoes. From nine there was no result; two had yellow fever. This proved conclusively that the disease could be communicated in that way.

The American board then undertook the test which has become famous. Two experiment houses were built at Quemado, Cuba, one of them called the "infected mosquito building" and the other the "infected clothing building." The former was screened and well ventilated; the other was screened and unventilated. In the former, patients were bitten by infected mosquitoes; in the latter, no mosquitoes were admitted, but the persons submitting themselves to the experiment slept with soiled bedding and clothing direct from the yellow fever hospitals. In thirteen cases where nonimmunes were bitten by mosquitoes which had bitten a fever patient ten contracted the disease. In the other house, although an equal number had slept there several nights, no one became ill.

This discovery, which has since been verified repeatedly at once worked a revolution in the management of the dreaded fever. At Havana a war of extermination against the culex was begun. If the death carrying pest could be abolished, it was evident that the scourge would disappear. If complete extermination were not possible, there still remained the salutary expedient of screening both the patient and the nonimmune person from the presence of the mosquito. This is practically the modern way of dealing with yellow jack. That it has been effectual is proved by the fact that within a few months after mosquito extermination began at Havana the fever disappeared—for the first time in a century and a half.

It is a well authenticated fact that yellow fever has prevailed endemically throughout the West Indies and in certain regions on the Spanish main ever since the discovery of America. Barbados, Jamaica and Cuba suffered epidemics before the middle of the seventeenth century. There were outbreaks of the pest in Philadelphia, Charleston and Boston as early as 1692, and for a hundred years afterward there were occasional eruptions, culminating in the famous Philadelphia epidemic of 1793. Most northern cities were able by extraordinary sanitary and quarantine measures to prevent great epidemics, at least after the beginning of the nineteenth century, but the disease crept in from the West Indies now and then and raged epidemically in the southern towns.

Although it has been the habit of certain medical authorities, especially those of foreign countries, to describe yellow fever as a disease which originated on the western continent, there is excellent ground for dissent. It is well known to medical historians that at the time when the plague first appeared in the West Indies and at various points in South and Central America a similar disease raged violently on the west coast of Africa, in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean and in India. Of course its wide distribution at the time it was first classified as a distinct disease would not militate against the theory of its American origin, but it is also an undeniable fact that outbreaks of the disorder occurred in the lagoons of Africa long before the discovery of the American continent.

Once accepting the theory that yellow fever is of African origin, it is not difficult to explain its transplantation to America. It is one of the baneful legacies bequeathed by the slave trade. The slave dealers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries often lost from one-half to two-thirds of their cargo during the voyage from a mysterious fever which broke out suddenly in the filthy holds of the overcrowded ships, and this complaint, formerly denominated African, or ship, fever, is now believed to have been yellow fever. Whenever it appeared among the hapless and terrified wretches packed in the middle decks of the slavers it made the most frightful ravages, and, as a rule, the crews of the vessels suffered equally with the slaves. More than once in the history of the slave trade ships were found adrift at sea, the holds filled with dead blacks, while the white crews were either dead or stricken with the fever.

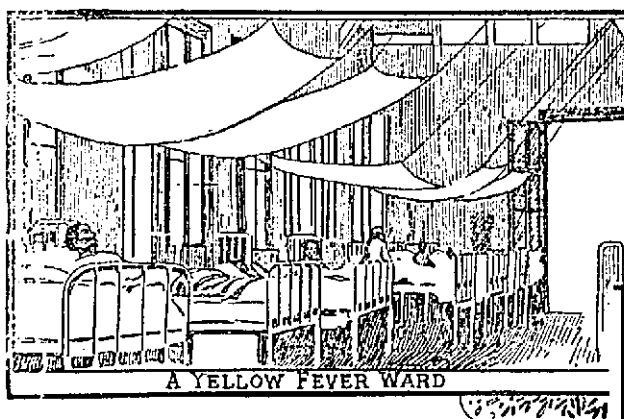

Even in those remote days it was suspected that the plague was in some way connected with yellow fever. It was observed that the latter sickness occurred almost always at ports in which a returned slaver had just discharged her cargo. It is not difficult in the light of present knowledge to trace the course of yellow fever in tropical countries, and whenever sufficient and unprejudiced investigation has been made it has been found that the disease has followed the slave trade. In the interior towns of Mexico, Central America and in the Spanish settlements on the South American continent it not infrequently prevailed after the arrival of a shipload of African slaves, and its appearances in subtropical Europe may be referred to the same cause. Its earliest recorded appearance as a pestilence on the continent of Europe was in the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean, whence it spread to the cities of the Levant, along the Red sea and finally to India. In the latter country it found congenial surroundings and obtained so firm a foothold that it is still well established in the crowded Hindoo cities.

In the seventeenth century the slave trade was regarded as a perfectly legitimate business, followed by the shipowners of every maritime nation, but especially by the Spanish, then the leading seafaring people. Wherever the slavers went they spread slavery and pestilence, and, since they sailed as far east as Calcutta, the disease became established in the equatorial zone around the entire globe. Confined to the torrid zone, the evil would still have been bad enough, but it soon made its way to other quarters of the world. In 1699 a vessel which had landed a cargo of slaves on the Virginia coast went on to Philadelphia to refit. While there the ship was cleaned thoroughly, a large quantity of very offensive bilge water which was in the hold being pumped into the stagnant pool in which the vessel was lying. Three days later several carpenters employed in the shipyard adjacent were taken violently ill. Soon afterward nearly every sailor on the ship and most of those who worked in the shipyard near by were prostrated by a complaint which was recognized by competent physicians as identical with the fever prevalent on slave ships. Within a week the pestilence was epidemic in the city. Philadelphia's prominence as a port led to several subsequent scourges of the pest, and in every case it seemed to originate either from a slave ship or from a vessel coming direct from a southern port.

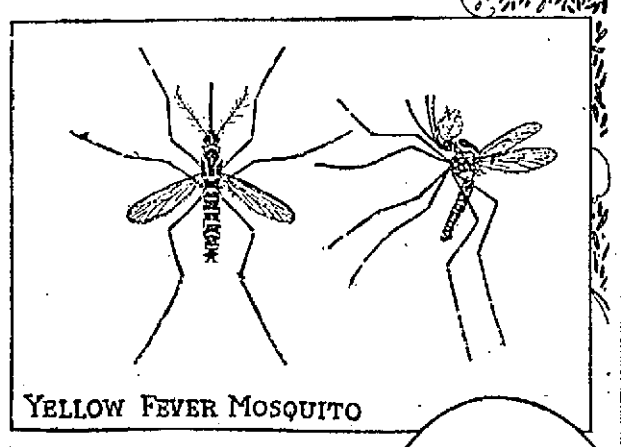

In 1762 several thousand persons died during an epidemic of yellow fever in the Quaker City, and there were subsequent destructive visitations in 1793, 1797 and 1802. The great plague of 1793 really began in New York and spread over most of the United States during that, and the following season. The worst experience southern Europe ever had with the fever began at Gibraltar in 1804. A slave ship with the disease on board was encountered by a British merchantman at sea off the Gibraltar strait, and as there were not enough well men on board to manage the ship the captain of the English vessel sent several sailors aboard the slaver and advised its master to put in at Gibraltar. The slaver did so. The slaves were landed, the ship was cleaned, and a few days later the fever was in full blast among the soldiers of the garrison. Over a thousand soldiers died of the complaint and thrice that number of civilians. Many fled, and the contagion was spread among the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean. In the following summer it made its appearance at Genoa and a few weeks later at Naples, where over 7,000 fatal cases occurred. Thence the malady made its way along the Italian and Grecian coasts to Constantinople, where it found congenial soil. The ports of the orient were each stricken in turn, and the scourge followed the pilgrim route down the Red sea to Mecca. Returning pilgrims bore it with them to India, and the great epidemic followed.

During the past century the visits of the dreaded disease to the United States were numerous. New Orleans has been the chief sufferer. Epidemics of yellow fever prevailed there in 1847, 1853, 1855, 1858, 1867, 1878 and 1879. The visitation of 1853 was the most deadly, over 8,000 victims having fallen. The experience of Memphis in 1878 and 1879 is still recalled with horror. During the first season of the pest there were 5,160 deaths, and during the second, although the town was almost deserted, there were several hundred more. This pestilence of 1878 was the most destructive of any ever experienced in the United States, 65,976 cases having been reported and 14,800 deaths. During the civil war there was scarcely a case among the Union troops in the south, although it was freely predicted that the forces in the gulf region would be annihilated by the disease. When New Orleans was occupied by General Butler many persons regarded the destruction of his army as practically certain. He began immediately to put the city in a good sanitary condition, detailing squads of his men to clean the streets and sewers. As a result there was not a single case of well marked yellow fever in New Orleans during the Union occupation.

PALMERS WON IT

Played Too Well for Centralville Blues

Barring the first two innings the Centralville Blues and the Palmers played a magnificent game of ball on the South common, Saturday afternoon, delighting a large attendance. The Palmers played A1 baseball all through finishing out nine innings with a clean error column. But the Blues started out like a crowd of school boys and lost the game in the first inning. It looked like a shut out until the final inning when Regan eased up some and the Blues pulled off three runs.

Joe Cronin, the North common twirler, officiated on the slab for the Blues and he pitched an excellent game though he received very rocky support at times.

Of the five hits off his delivery Lynch, a Centralville youngster, who has lately joined the ranks of the Palmers, connected with two singles. Qualey, Guthrie and Maguire were the only other Palmers who had a safety.

Ryan's pitching while not quite up to the standard he is capable of, was good, his faculty of keeping the hits scattered preventing the Blues from scoring until the ninth inning.

In the seventh inning Lyons was hit in the head by one of Cronin's swift inshoots and while he was knocked out, he continued in the game somewhat under difficulties. Nixie Coughlin umpired and while some of his decisions appeared off color he treated both sides alike in this respect. The score:

BAUER'S WONDERS

DEFEATED McCARTHY'S KIDS AT SULLIVAN'S PARK.

Saturday afternoon Bauer's Wonders and McCarthy's Kids, two teams from the Appleton mills, representing the card room and the cloth hall respectively, played an interesting game, the Wonders whipping their opponents by the score of 12 to 6. As Mr. Howard says, it was a "faine" day for a ball game; yes, and the card room boys certainly did "rub it in" to the "white collar" boys. "Tommy" Hickey was the star of the game. The spectators say they never saw such an exhibition of base running, timely hitting and snappy fielding as given by the fleetfooted second baseman of the card room team. Howard Frallck pitched a masterly game for the victors. Coughlin also played a star game. For the losers, Cavanaugh and Carey played a star game, Cavanaugh's fielding was especially noticeable. Mr. Maguire, the genial manager of the card room boys, will not be able to speak for a few days, as he yelled himself hoarse for his team. Mr. G. Albert Murphy officiated as umpire to the satisfaction of everybody present, and "Chris," the loyal rooter for Bauer's Wonders, was "right there with the cherries" at all times. After the game the following literary program was carried out:

THE CHAMPION

EDDIE FARRELL SAYS A FEW THINGS ABOUT TICKET TAKING.

Eddie Farrell, champion ticket taker called at The Sun office today and said that he wants it understood that he still lays claim to the championship title.

"This man Smith who took tickets at the Y. M. C. I. party was with the wild west show for a few years," said Eddie, "and that is why his friends think he can best me. Now I would like to ask Mr. Smith and his friends a few questions about ticket taking that they probably never heard of before. Can Mr. Smith take tickets in the dark and does he know how to distinguish between good and bad tickets by feeling of them? Again, what is the largest crowd ever handled, and does he have to give out checks to people who want to leave the grounds for a while and then return? Because he was with the wild west show does not make him a champion. Let him make a reputation here before he makes any claim to the title. Mr. Murray, the advance man for Ringling Brothers' circus, wanted to engage me as ticket taker and met me at Dick Griffiths' store, but he refused to pay me my price, which was $30 a week and expenses. This man Smith probably got $10 a week with the wild west show. I want to meet Smith or any of his friends and talk this matter over with them and they will find that Eddie Farrell, the only champion ticket taker, is no quitter."

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Letters to intimate friends yesterday from Signora Julia Bimboni announced the death in Florence, Italy, on Aug. 4, of her husband, Signor Oreste Bimboni, the noted conductor of grand opera, and for the past four years director of the school of opera of the New England Conservatory of Music in this city.

WALSH KILLED

Several Other Society People Injured

AUTO PLUNGED OVER A BRIDGE

The Accident Shocked Newport Society

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—Vinson Walsh, son of Thomas F. Walsh of Washington, was killed and four other prominent young members of the Newport summer colony were injured in an automobile accident here Saturday afternoon. The injured include Mrs. James L. Kernochan of Hempstead, L. I.; Harry Oelrichs, son of Charles M. Oelrichs of Newport and New York; Herbert Pell, Jr., son of Herbert Pell of New York, and Miss Evelyn Walsh, sister of the man who was killed. It is believed that all the injured will recover. The automobile, which was driven by young Walsh, struck the railing of a bridge spanning a creek near Eastern Point, and plunged into the water.

The accident was witnessed by other automobilists, who succeeded in rescuing the five occupants of the Walsh machine, not, however, without great difficulty, due to the fact that all the members of the party were lying underneath the heavy car. The water in the creek was not deep, and to this circumstance is due, in part, the rescue.

Walsh, who was about 18 years of age, died shortly after he was taken from the water.

As the automobile crashed over the bridge he was struck on the head by an iron beam.

Miss Walsh's injuries consist of several bruises and a fracture of the right hip. Mr. Oelrichs and Mr. Pell were severely bruised and Mrs. Kernochan was cut and received bruises about the body.

FOR REVERE

ANOTHER WEEK OF EXCURSIONS PLANNED.

All aboard for Revere beach! Never before in the history of this well known resort was it so popular as the present time. Everyone during the present warm weather is flocking to some place where it is cool, and surely no finer place could be found on the Atlantic coast than Revere beach. Here one may enjoy the fresh ocean breezes. One may walk for several miles along the shore and not tire of the great stretch of sand and broad expanse of water, with here and there a sail boat or steamer plying back and forth in the distance to some other summer resort, which abounds in this section. Winthrop may also be seen, as well as the rugged shores of Nahant.

Formerly the visitors to the beach were mostly from Boston and suburbs, the people of this city fearing that it was too far and not being thoroughly familiar with the route, did not venture to take such a long trip alone. The Boston & Northern street railway has made this possible, and for the past few weeks have been running special cars with reserved seats right through to Revere beach without change. Every day these excursions are growing more popular, and it is estimated that about 3000 people have been carried on these trips so far, to the seashore resorts from the Merrimack valley alone. These special trips do away with the usual crush and jam which is always so noticeable on the cars to any popular resort, and the street railway company fully realizes that the public appreciates its endeavors to give the best service possible.

At the beach, as most everyone knows, there are numerous and interesting attractions. Surf bathing is always in full sway. On the boulevard may be found dance halls, theatres, merry-go-rounds, roller coasters, in fact, shows of all kinds and description. To more fully popularize these excursions, everyone who buys a round trip ticket will be given, free, a ticket to some one of the following amusements: Mammoth museum and theatre, roller coaster, boulevard toboggan slide, rough riders, nautical gardens, comprising the pit, air-ship and pergola, palace merry-go-round and darkness and dawn. It will be a matter of chance which ticket is received, but whichever it is, the holder will surely derive a great deal of fun, as each one is a great attraction for young and old alike, none of which could be beat.

Weather permitting, the following schedule will be carried out this week:

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m. on Tuesday.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach, on Wednesday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 1.45 p. m. for Revere beach on Thursday, returning from the beach at 8.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 7.45 on Friday for Paragon Park, returning from the park at 5.40 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach on Friday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

PHOTOS TAKEN

TO BE USED IN MURDER TRIAL.

Photographs of the interior and exterior of the Middlesex street station were taken, yesterday noon, by Mr. Leith of the Crown studio, under the direction of Supt. Moffatt, and they will be used as evidence in connection with the prosecution of George F. Morris charged with murder of Mrs. Jennie Spalding.

Morris has informed his counsel, James F. Owens, that Dr. Nickerson has given him the best of treatment and that those in charge of him have looked after his condition with greatest care. His wound is still painful but in as good condition as could be expected. A story reached him to the effect that it had been published that his arm was in a bad way due to neglect of the wound and he asked his counsel to deny any such report.

FROM LAWRENCE

FOUR SMALL BOYS FOUND WANDERING HERE.

Four small boys aged from 10 to 12 started out from Lawrence yesterday and walked to this city. Upon arriving here they were "all in" and were taken to the police station. Lieut. MEN'S BRIGADE

Made Trip to Nashua by Boat

The Men's Brigade of the First Primitive Methodist church went to Nashua on the steamer Gov. Allen, Saturday afternoon, and had a jolly old time. The weather was perfect and the sail inspiring. The boat left the Pawtucket wharf at 4.20 and there were about 120 on board. A phonograph was in operation on the upper deck and the latest airs traveled across the river and re-echoed on either shore, from the lower deck.

At almost every camp along the river the brigade was cheered and the demonstration on the part of the campers was returned three-fold by the excursionists. Refreshments were served and the pleasure of the trip was all that could be desired.

The party remained in Nashua about two hours and visited points of interest in that city. The party left Nashua at 8.10 and the home trip was thoroughly enjoyed. The committee in charge was: Messrs. Sutcliffe, general manager; refreshments, Frank Ecclestrone, E. W. Stark, George Bartlett, James Wood; tonic and ice cream, J. W. Foster; coffee, Joseph Maden; tickets, Fred Potter and J. W. Foster.

7000 TO STRIKE

Push Cart Peddlers Have a Grievance

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A strike of 7000 push cart peddlers hangs over the East Side because only half the number, all members of an association, can obtain licenses and the rest are liable to arrest and a fine when they pursue their calling.

The peddlers say they are discriminated against by the police and all the city authorities. The trouble appears to hinge on the fact that only a certain number of licenses can be issued and the peddlers claim at least 1500 storekeepers in the crowded tenement districts have licenses which should go to the street venders. As the latter supply perishable foodstuffs to thousands a strike would be serious.

FINAL REPLIES

Russians and Japanese Have Prepared the Protocols

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21.—This would have been an ideal day to negotiate. It is an even pleasanter day to bask in the warm sunshine on the veranda and this is what many of the attaches of both missions are doing. The principals, however, Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira, and Mr. Witte, have no time for recreation. Before breakfast this morning Mr. Witte, although he was not feeling well, was hard at work and he scarcely stopped while breakfast was served to him in his room.

No plans for either mission have been announced today but as both are expecting cablegrams from their home governments which may decide the fate of the negotiations it is unlikely that they will go far from the hotel today. The Dolphin has received orders to sail for Boston and will probably get under way this morning. It is assumed here that she will later return here in case the envoys upon the conclusion of their labors wish to return to New York by water.

The Mayflower will remain throughout the conference.

Both the Russians and Japanese have almost finished the preparation of the protocols to be submitted at the meeting of the conference tomorrow afternoon. The features of the proctocols is the presentation of the reasons advanced by both sides for the divergence of views upon the articles upon which no agreement was reached. On article five, the cession of Sakhalin, the Japanese claim that they are entitled to the island as well by reason of their national rights to its possession as because of its present occupation by the Japanese forces. The Russians on the contrary insist that up to 1850 Japan had never claimed any right to Sakhalin and at that time only 25 unmarried Japanese lived in the south of the island during the fishing season. Admiral Pecuitatine opened the eyes of the Japanese to the value of Sakhalin when he went there in 1834 and initiated negotiations for the possession of the entire island by Russia. It was then that Japan in order to make good her claims tried to colonize the island and stated that Aino race which lives there belonged to the same family as the original inhabitants of the northern islands of Japan. In 1859 Mouraviell, governor general of Amur, tried to persuade Japan to yield in her claim to the south part of Sakhalin but did not succeed as the Americans had already begun to support the Japanese in their attitude against Russia.

The reports of all the Russian consuls in Sakhalin up to the year 1870 stated that the Japanese effort to colonize the island had failed because of the rigorous climate. The negotiations between Russia and Japan started in 1855 and continued for twenty years ending with the treaty of 1855 by which the sovereignty of Russia over the whole island was recognized.

With regard to article 9, the protocol repeats the arguments already set forth several times in the Associated Press dispatches. The Japanese claim reimbursement for the expenses of the war on the ground that they were forced by Russia's aggressions to resort to arms for self preservation and having been victorious at all points on sea and land are entitled to reimbursement. Russia, on the contrary, denies absolutely that Japan is in a position to dictate such a condition as Russia does not acknowledge defeat and appeared at the conference not imploring mercy but because of her love of peace and her willingness to conclude it on a honorable basis.

Russia declares that a claim for indemnity under the circumstances is unprecedented and reviews the historical occasions where indemnity was paid in support of her contentions. Most of these precedents have already been made public in connection with a recent Associated Press interview with Mr. Martens. With regard to article 10, (the interned warships), Japan insists that the surrender of interned warships which have sought refuge in neutral ports as a spoil of war is not contrary to international law.

Russia, however, asserts that international law affords no precedent for a claim for the possession of property in the safe keeping of a neutral.

Finally, with regard to article 11 (the limitation of the Russian naval power in the far east) the Japanese assert that it is indispensable to insure a lasting peace. Russia rejects the whole idea as being offensive to Russian honor and dignity. While declining, however to place such an article in a treaty she is willing to make declaration that she has no intention of attempting to threaten the naval position of Japan or of any other power in the far east.

BARON KANEKO

TALKS OF VISIT TO THE PRESIDENT.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 21—Baron Kaneko remained with President Roosevelt three quarters of an hour today. He then drove back to Oyster Bay and boarded the 12.20 p. m. train for New York.

Before his departure, Baron Kaneko declined to discuss his conference with the president. He said he did not deny that he was a representative of the Japanese government, but wished it understood that he was not the financial representative.

"The report," said he laughingly, "that I am a financial expert and that I represent Japan in a financial way is costing me lots of money every day. Where ever I go in a New York hotel or cafe, my expenses are something astonishing. I wish you would say that I am not a financier and not in any sense a financial expert. That word financial has been very expensive to me."

Baron Kaneko said he had no information as to the attitude of the Russian envoys or the Russian government toward the proposition made by President Roosevelt to Baron Rosen. He intimated that Japan might regard the proposition favorably but could not say so definitely.

"I think we will know tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when the plenipotentiaries meet in Portsmouth," said he, "by that time they will have determined the matter."

"Do you mean they will have heard definitely from their governments by that time?"

"Yes, I assume so," the baron replied.

Baron Kaneko was asked if a proposition had been made to submit any point of difference that had arisen between the envoys to The Hague tribunal.

"Oh, I know nothing—nothing at all about that. What I read in the newspapers is all I know. The American newspapers have the ability to get at one's inner mind. They say arbitration is suggested. This may be true. I know nothing about it."

Baron Kaneko said he could not say whether he would see the president soon or not. He intimated that he came today on his own initiative and not by invitation of the president.

President Roosevelt declines to discuss the peace negotiations in any way and authorized the statement that nothing would be made public by him concerning the visit of Baron Kaneko.

LOAN IS VETOED

Mayor Says That Less Money Will Do

Mayor Casey today vetoed the $35,000 loan order for the street department. The mayor takes this position after a careful and exhaustive examination of the finances of the street department.

He will recommend to the city council the substitution of a loan order calling for an appropriation of $27,500. The mayor has had several conferences with Superintendent Morse relative to the $35,000 loan. Mr. Morse estimated his pay roll for the remainder of the year and finds that barring snow storms, in December, it will be possible for him to run his department with the same number of men that are now employed.

"This additional appropriation," said the mayor today, "is not unusual. Last year an extra appropriation of $43,000 was voted the street department."

The expense of removing the snow last winter amounted to $31,000 and that was an expense that could not be seen or provided for at the beginning of the year, consequently it is difficult for the street department to keep within an appropriation that depends more or less on winter storms."

The substitute order calls for $7500 less than the original order.

KEPT THE PACT

Chum of Thompson Found Dead

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—"I am going to my grave where I should have been on the 17th with Thompson. Oh, how I wish I had gone—still I put it off till the last minute, but now it must be done. I hope my brother will see that I am cremated. If he doesn't then I give my body, for a consideration, for use of my children, to the Jefferson hospital, Eleventh and Sanson.

"There will be no use of opening me as I died of cyanide of potassium.

"And may God have mercy on my soul. Amen. God forgive me. Amen."

Shrinking with dread for three days from carrying out the terms of a suicide pact he had made with his chum, Joseph A. Thompson, member of a family of millionaires and relatives by marriage of the Pittsburg Thaws, who ended his life on Thursday by taking cyanide of potassium in Fairmount Park, William Webster Hoopes finally swallowed a dose of the same poison at Strawberry Mansion. His lifeless body was found by a park guard with the above letter in his pocket yesterday.

The death agreement was made more pathetic by the fact that August 17, the day agreed upon, was the first anniversary of the death of Hoopes's wife. The men had presumably decided upon the drug and the place in which to end their lives. Hoopes's body was found at the same spot in the park where Thompson's was discovered.

Hoopes's life since his marriage fifteen years ago had been one of trouble. A religious disagreement was the first rock upon which the family split. Then came the wife's death, following directly from their disrupted home life. For fifteen months Hoopes had been unemployed, and the savings of years ebbed away to procure sustenance for him and his two children.

The last chapter of his life was written in his own hand and was found in the pocket of the dead man.

STEALING HENS

Thieves Are Busy in Tyngsboro

Hen thieves are operating in country towns and along the country roads and the Lowell police are assisting the country constables in ferreting out a clue to the thieves.

Waldo Cummings who lives on the Dunstable road in Tyngsboro lost forty hens last Friday night. Mr. Cummings says the thieves took everything in sight except the roosts.

Officer Ben Lawrence of Tyngsboro was notified of Mr. Cummings' loss and started out to corrall the thieves. He consulted with the Lowell police and went to work on the case Saturday morning.

Mr. Lawrence did not catch the thieves but he is satisfied that the thieves had a team and a certain rag peddler who lives in Lowell is under suspicion. The rag peddler will be asked to answer a few hard-shell questions.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Was Asphyxiated in Lee Street House

Ferdinand Letot, aged 30 years, was found dead in his room at a boarding house at 50 Lee street this morning, death being due to asphyxiation by gas. The only gas cock in the room was wide open and the room was filled with gas. Whether the deceased committed suicide or was the victim of an accident is not known. The man, however, was a drinking man and in all probability death was due to accident.

Letot was employed in the card room of the Moore mill at North Chelmsford and generally arose about 5.30 in the morning. He was usually called by the landlady of the house, Mrs. Jane Champagne, but as he did not take any of his meals in the house little or no attention was paid as to when he went out, and many times he went out without being noticed by any of the occupants of the house.

He cooked his own meals in his room and had done so since he came to the house last April. He had very little to say to any of the other boarders or lodgers and when in the house was generally confined to his room.

Shortly before 7.30 o'clock this morning a strong odor of gas was detected in the hallway on the floor where his room was located and an investigation showed that the odor came from Letot's room. An attempt to open the door was made, but it was locked on the inside.

Napoleon L'Hereux, a young man who resides in the house, was sent up to try one of the windows of the room but found the windows locked also. By removing a pane of glass, however, he was able to open the window and upon entering the room found Letot's body lying on the floor near the bed. The man had a portion of his clothing on and the room was filled with gas.

A hasty examination showed that the man was dead and had been dead for a number of hours. The gas cock on the hanger on the side wall was turned on full force, while all of the windows and the door were locked.

The last seen of Letot by any of the occupants of the house was late Saturday night, when he entered, and whether or not he left the room after that time is not known. It would seem, however, that the gas had not been turned on until sometime last night or this morning, or else some of the people in the house would have detected the odor.

There was nothing so far as known that would cause him to end his life and owing to the fact that he was a drinking man death undoubtedly was due to accident.

He was a widower but he had no children, and worked every day.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Joseph A. Albert.

SAVED BOY'S LIFE

Mr. Sullivan and Dr. O'Hearn Did Good Work

Little Joseph Clark Taken From Concord in a Lifeless Condition--Resuscitated After an Hour's Work

There was great excitement on the banks of the Concord river at Andover street for about an hour this morning.

It was all caused by the note of alarm that a boy had fallen into the water and disappeared.

Michael Sullivan, the barber, was the first to respond and he lost no time in jumping in where the boy went down. He found the lad on the bottom apparently dead and brought him to the bank.

At that moment Officer Crowley was keeping back the crowd and called in Dr. O'Hearn, who happened to be passing.

The boy's mother appeared and added to the excitement by a frantic outbreak of sorrow when she saw her child as she thought dead. An hour's hard work by Dr. O'Hearn and Officer Crowley restored respiration and the mother's sorrow was relieved as gradually the signs of life became visible. Had the lad been in the water one minute or even half a minute longer the doctor thought, resuscitation would have been impossible.

Mr. Sullivan deserves great praise for his prompt action.

SHOT TWICE

TROUBLE BROKE OUT AGAIN IN SAN JUAN HILL DISTRICT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Trouble broke out again in the San Juan Hill district early last night when Alonzo Bell a young negro of 219 West Sixty-third street, was shot down in front of 225 West Sixty-first street. Bell was carried to Roosevelt hospital by his friends. He had two bullets in his left leg and one through the abdomen. Following the shooting several alarms were sent in to headquarters and the West Sixty-eighth street police station and the reserves were sent out, the desk sergeant fearing a riot.

Detectives Lynch and Storer were the first to start for the scene of the shooting and as they went down Amsterdam avenue they met a mob chasing a negro who turned from time to time and held his pursuers in check with a revolver. As the detectives came up the negro ran into a livery station at Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-fourth street. The detectives followed and were just in time to see the negro jump from a window at the head of the stairs into the rear yard. Lynch followed, landing on the negro and felling him to the ground.

Neither the detective nor his prisoner was hurt by the fall and the negro gave up without a struggle. In his pocket was a revolver with three chambers empty.

He was taken to the hospital and identified by Bell as the man who shot him. At the station house the man said that he was Charles Brown, 22 years old, of 221 West Sixty-first street. He denied the shooting. Bell said that a few days ago he had won 10 cents from Brown in a crap game, and that Brown had been "looking for him" ever since. After identifying Brown Bell was put on the operating table, but the doctors said that he had very little chance of recovery.

WHOLE HOUSEFUL CLAIM BEER SEIZED BY POLICE.

Officers Atkinson, Grady and Frank Fox visited a house in East street, off Mammoth road, yesterday, owned by D. L. Page, but occupied of late by a party of Greeks, and there found a full keg of beer and an empty, which they took away. HUSBAND'S CRIME

Killed His Wife and Committed Suicide

BROCKTON, MASS., AUG. 21.—TWO LETTERS WRITTEN BY JAMES W. CRAWFORD, A SHOEMAKER, SAYING THAT HE INTENDED TO MURDER HIS WIFE AND THEN KILL HIMSELF, WERE RECEIVED TODAY, TOO LATE TO PREVENT A TRAGEDY, FOR BEFORE A BROCKTON PHYSICIAN AND AN AUBURNDALE RELATIVE COULD ARRIVE AT THE CRAWFORD HOME THE SHOEMAKER HAD FULFILLED HIS THREAT.

WITH A RAZOR AND A BUTCHER KNIFE HE HAD CUT HIS WIFE'S NECK, ALMOST SEVERING THE HEAD FROM THE BODY, AND THEN DISFIGURED THE WOMAN'S FACE SO THAT SHE WAS ALMOST UNRECOGNIZABLE. HE THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE BY CUTTING HIS OWN THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

THE MURDERER, WHO WAS 63 YEARS OF AGE, LEFT A NOTE DECLARING THAT THE CRIME WAS DUE TO JEALOUSY.

SPILLANE'S NAME

Withdrawn From the Board of Health Contest

Mayor Casey has withdrawn the appointment of James J. Spillane to the board of health and while it has not yet been officially announced it is believed that the mayor will appoint Dr. Thomas F. Carroll in Mr. Spillane's stead.

Speaking of the withdrawal of Mr. Spillane's name, the mayor said: "The appointment of Mr. Spillane has been pending before the board of aldermen for three or four months and he has been given a fair opportunity to be confirmed.

"I think it unnecessary that his name should longer remain upon the table in the board of aldermen for consideration. I appointed Mr. Spillane because I considered him a clean and capable man and one who would fill, creditably, a position on the board of health."

NINE STAB WOUNDS

Italian Laborer Was Attacked in Collinsville

Christafaro Distafaro was stabbed nine times in Collinsville yesterday afternoon. The cutting took place about 5.30 and the alleged assailant made his escape. The victim was removed to St. John's hospital where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Fred Murphy and Dr. Craig and later he was allowed to go to his home.

Distafaro with a number of other Italians is employed by the Boston & Northern road in construction work in Collinsville and yesterday there was a dispute over some money alleged to have been owed to Distafaro by another Italian. Distafaro wanted the debt paid and an argument followed, during which the former was stabbed with a sharp knife. The wounds are not regarded as serious. After being cut Distafaro made his way to Kings corner where he was found two hours later by some other Italians.

TOOK POISON

NEW YORK MAN THOUGHT IT WAS MEDICINE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Charles Mason, aged 53, of 180 West Sixty-fourth street, a well to do hay merchant, having a place of business at Thirty-fourth street and the North river, died early yesterday morning at his home as the result of drinking carbolic acid by mistake.

According to a member of the family Mason came home early yesterday morning and, just before retiring, went to the bath room in the dark for a dose of medicine. A sudden shriek that he uttered brought the family from their beds to find him writhing in agony on the floor.

Dr. Pulp of 150 West Sixty-fourth street, the family physician, was hastily called up and an ambulance from Roosevelt hospital was summoned. Mason, however, was past medical aid.

Coroner Scholer after holding an inquiry decided that death was due to accidental poisoning. Mason is survived by his wife and four children.

6 O'CLOCK

DEPOT CLEARED

Mad Rush From Man Who Threatened to Murder

"Where is he? Where is the ——— till I fill him full of bullets? Show me him till I kill him," cried William J. Mynan, as he rushed drunk and wild-eyed into the Middlesex street depot, yesterday afternoon screaming at the top of his voice.

In less time than it takes to relate it the big waiting room was emptied and the Murderous Mynan had the place to himself. There were several persons in the waiting room at the time but they flew for the doors in a mad rush when they heard the cries and got one look at the face of the crier.

Mynan certainly looked murderous and his appearance hadn't improved any when he appeared in court this morning.

While he was tearing through the waiting room Ticket Agent Corcoran went in and told him to get out and he did continuing his wild talk on the platform.

Officer Cawley came along and started to place him under arrest.

"Hold on there, Cawley," cried Mynan, "I know you and I know Webster. You fellows arrested Morris all right, but you can't get me as easy as you did him."

Then the pair had a mixup which resulted in Mynan going down and out.

In police court this morning he pleaded not guilty and Officer Cawley related the circumstances of the case, adding that he thought that Mynan had been reading about the Morris case and when his mind became inflamed that was all he could think of.

"Speak up I can't hear what you're saying," yelled Mynan from the cage at the officer.

The officer repeated his story whereupon Mynan cried out: "Who was I going to shoot?"

"I don't know," replied the officer.

"I guess you don't," replied Mynan.

"What did you mean by these threats?" asked Judge Hadley.

"Why nothing. I was just drunk that was all," answered Mynan with a grin.

"Have you work?" asked the court.

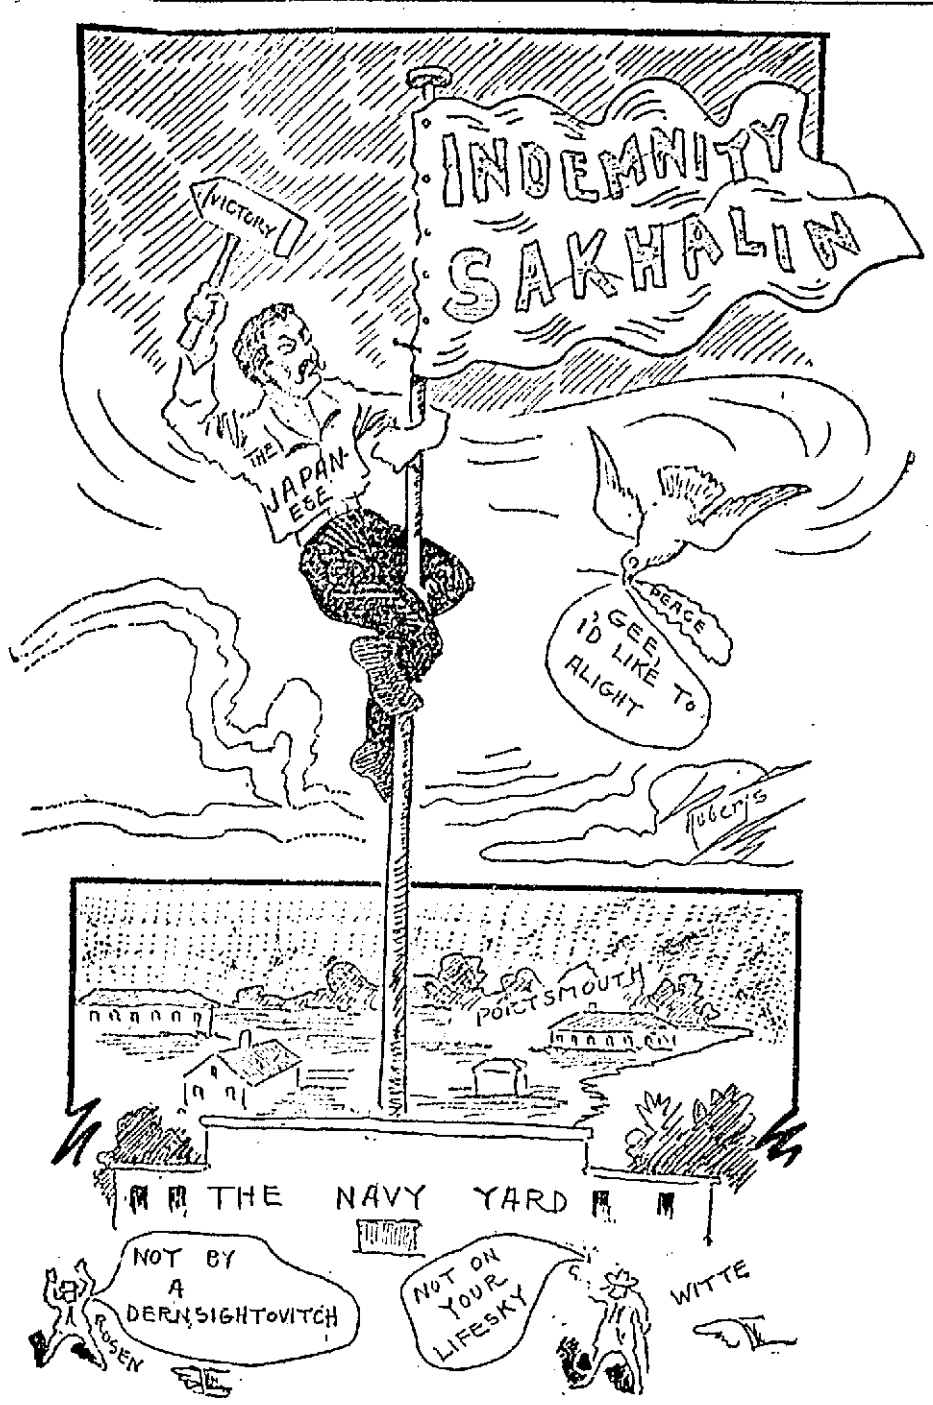

"Sure. Up at Tyngsboro," replied Mynan.

"Where is your home?"

"Wherever I happen to work," said Mynan with another grin.

"Send him to the state farm," said the court.

"Peal it," promptly said Mynan, but later he withdrew the appeal and took the sentence. When arrested Mynan hadn't a weapon of any description on his person but, nevertheless, his remarks caused an instantaneous panic in the depot.

BANK IS CLOSED

Its Capital Was Badly Impaired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The doors of the Western National bank of Louisville, Ky., were closed this morning by order of the comptroller of the currency.

A statement issued by the acting comptroller of the currency says:

Steady withdrawals have been made for several days and as there were not sufficient funds on hand or immediate available to meet further demands likely to be made by depositors and other creditors the acting comptroller directed the bank to be closed in order to protect the interests of all creditors alike, and prevent those having knowledge of the conditions securing preference over those without this knowledge.

"Thomas A. Thornton has been appointed receiver.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Traffic Will be Delayed Again

The work of paving Centralville bridge is progressing rapidly, and one-half of the bridge is completed at the present time, though traffic over the bridge during the present week will be retarded more so than at any time since the work was begun.

For the past several weeks the local electric cars which passed over the the bridge were compelled to use one rail, but the work of laying the paving blocks on both rails was completed yesterday and the operation of cars on both lines was resumed.

This morning that portion of the bridge used as the main driveway was torn up and vehicles and cars now have to use the narrow space occupied by the two rails. Owing to the fact that a guard rail has been built flush against the inward bound rail the cars are using but one rail at the present time and the space for traffic is much smaller than at any time since the work was commenced.

JIMMY GARDNER

Is Picked to Defeat BuddyRyan

The Boston Herald today says:

From now until Labor day there will be little doing in the boxing line. There are, of course, some fights billed in the interim, but little of importance and a close scanning of the pugilistic field brings to view little of importance within that time, aside from the Jimmy Gardner-"Buddy" Ryan fight, which will take place next Friday night in Colma.

Though the fight is of nearly national importance, it is special interest to easterners, and more especially to those in this vicinity, for upon its outcome will depend the success or failure of Gardner in the roped arena. If Jimmy whips Ryan, and there is every reason in the world to believe he will, then, of course, he will be next in line for the lightweight championship of the world, as it leaves none but the mighty Joe Gans in the way for the leading title.

Gardner's friends are already laying wires for the meeting of the two, but are going about it noiselessly, for Jimmy has yet to whip Ryan, and a defeat by this hard hitter will put Jimmy's chances and hopes for the present safely in the hold of the dream ship. But on the supposition that Gardner will whip Ryan, there is lots of work going on under cover and it is safe to say that Gans will have to meet Gardner if the latter whips Ryan.

The Chicago smasher is perhaps as near the welterweight title as any one in this country since Joe Walcott was forced to quit the ring. Ryan has met and whipped the best men in his class, men of no less ability than Billy Meiloly of Charlestown. Three times this pair have met and the very best that the Charlestown lad could do was to get a draw, once losing by being knocked out. But even considering this, Gardner has no fears in meeting Ryan, for the latter fights just the way Jimmy likes to have his opponent work and it is safe betting that when a man rushes Gardner in the ring he is going to be whipped. Gardner is a smooth, cleanworking fighter. He blocks in such a manner that it is almost impossible for a man to land on him, and from his position in cover can send across the knockout punch.

Ryan, on the other hand, is a fearless hard hitting fighter, who rushes like a maddened bull and seems willing to take a punch in order to land. But if he starts rushing Gardner his work in the ring Friday night will be of short duration, and when Buddy comes to he will be a sadder but a wiser boy. The weight, 142 pounds, just suits the Lowell lad, for it will give him just beef enough to stand a long game if it becomes necessary. In fact, Jimmy should be a pronounced favorite before the fight.

Some of Gardner's friends, in fact, can see nothing in the way now of a meeting with Jimmy Britt. This is out of the question as Gardner is much too heavy for the San Francisco wise man. The only chance of ever getting a meeting between Gardner and Briss will be in having them meet at catch weights, a thing which Britt is not likely to agree to, as he well understands Gardner's worth.

In meeting Gans, Gardner will go against a far different game from any he has ever tackled. In fact, Jimmy is in no hurry to arrange a meeting with Gans, for Gans is probably Gardner's master in the ring, although Gardner would give Gans a terrible battle.

IN WRONG PLACE

PATIENT'S HEART IS ON RIGHT SIDE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 21.—When Malcolm Rose, a landscape gardner, was placed on the operating table at the County hospital here today to undergo an operation for the removal of a growth on his neck, it was discovered by the surgeons that the patient's heart instead of being in normal position on the left side of the body, was located on the right side nearly six inches from its proper place. The organ in every way, however, appeared normal. It evidently had been in that position from birth.

WAS ILLEGAL

CHURCH DECIDES THE ROSPIGLIOSI MARRIAGE.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 21.—It may be authoritatively stated that the much-discussed Rospigliosi case is finally settled—that it will not be reopened.

The Princess Rospigliosi, who was Miss Mary Reid of Bangor, Me., was married in 1887, under a dispensation from the Vatican, to Colonel Parkhurst, and the dispensation is recorded in the cathedral.

Later they were divorced and subsequently she and Prince Rospigliosi went through a form of marriage. It was this form of marriage they recently failed to have validated in Rome on the plea that the proper dispensation had not been granted in the first instance.

Cardinal Gibbons yesterday declared: "Mrs. Parkhurst is said to have alleged that not the proper but another dispensation had been asked. The whole case rests upon this point. The chancery books of Baltimore have always been kept with the greatest care and exactness as to every detail."

BACK TO COURT

Judge Hadley Returns From Europe

STUDIED BELGIUM LUNATIC ASYLUM

Small Docket in Police Court Today

Judge Hadley returned from his European trip whither he was accompanied by Dr Bonner, the well known alienist and occupied the bench in police court again this morning. His honor evidently had a most enjoyable trip for there is a marked improvement in his appearance while he spoke enthusiastically of his experiences on the other side. His honor took a new route to the old world this time, going to Montreal and then down the St. Lawrence and across by the south of New Foundland. While in Europe he and Dr. Bonner visited the celebrated colony for lunatics at Gheel, Belgium in which Dr. Bonner was interested and they found it to be all that had been claimed for it. At Gheel they were the guests of Dr. Peters who has superintended the colony for the past 35 years and has made it the most celebrated place of its kind in the world. There are about 4000 sane inhabitants at Gheel and the 2000 lunatics there are put out in huts with the peasantry to live as they do and follow the pursuits of the peasantry. The number of permanent cures at Gheel have been greater than at any similar colony in the world.

THE MONDAY GRIST.

Only nine prisoners appeared in the dock this morning. Probation Officer Lyons having released several of them. A few had been bailed. The fines were as usual, $2 and $6, while two Sunday drunks were fined $5 each.

STRUCK A WOMAN

James Maguire went up to hear the band concert on the South Common last evening but he loaded up before going and Officer Cooke seeing him led him to South street and told him to go home. But Maguire didn't go and 20 minutes later Officer Cooke met him again and this time he was in the act of striking a girl in the face knocking her down. Maguire pleaded guilty of drunkenness and assault and battery, but said he had no recollection of the assault. He was fined $15 for the assault and $6 additional for drunkenness.

WAS STAR GAZING.

Daniel J. Ryan pleaded not guilty of drunkenness and Officer Coleman testified that he saw Ryan gazing at the stars and moon at the corner of Merrimack and John streets at 1.30 yesterday morning and delivering all sorts of oaths at the unoffending planets. It was Ryan's third time and he was a parole man from the state farm. He was sent back there as was Fred J. Vallery, another parole man from the same institution.

CHARGED WITH THREATENING.

John Levanos pleaded not guilty of threatening and was continued until Wednesday while John Kaparisos, the second defendant in the case of assault and battery on John Pamkos pleaded not guilty and was continued until Friday.

A DESTRUCTIVE DRUNK.

William Monahan while drunk at his home in McGowen's court off Lakeview avenue yesterday raised up ructions and smashed the windows in his house. The court imposed a fine of $10 which William paid.

ELEVATOR PRANK

RAN AWAY AND KEPT GOING UP AND DOWN.

The elevator in the Associate building ran away Saturday night about six o'clock and John J. Reardon, who is the chauffeur, had a narrow escape from being badly hurt and was pulled out of the "lift" in a badly scared condition. Despite the fact that the elevator was confined to but one course, that of up and down five stories, the experience which Mr. Reardon had was just as bad as though the elevator had as many miles to travel.

While coming down from the upper floor of the building Reardon applied the brake when he reached the first floor, but the machine kept going downward and struck the bottom of the well with a thump which knocked Reardon on his back. Then it started up again, and as the clutch on the cable refused to work he could not stop at any of the landings. The bump at top and bottom on his numerous involuntary trips attracted outside attention and help came to knock the cables off the run when the elevator reached the bottom. Thus the man was relieved. He was more frightened than hurt. One of the crutches from some cause failed to work. The whole elevator mechanism has since been overhauled and put in perfect order.

CHILD WALKED

HAD BEEN BEDRIDDEN FOR TWELVE YEARS.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 21.—Ethel Vandersloot, only daughter of Edward F. Vandersloot of 378 East Market street, said to her father yesterday: "Papa, I want to get up and walk."

The child had not walked in twelve years, during which time she had been an invalid. For six years she has not been out of doors. Following the remark, she straightened up, rose to her feet and walked. In the progress from the bed to the top of the stairs she fell twice, but for the greater part of the way to the dining room of her father's house she made her way alone and unaided. The parents are overjoyed.

For the first time in six years she ate dinner with them yesterday. Physicians had pronounced her case hopeless. Mr. Vandersloot said he knew of no other reason to ascribe the result other than the prayers of the child's friends. Physicians, he said, had been unable to diagnose her ailment.

Berlin Police Looking for Lamoureux

BERLIN, N. H., Aug. 21.—The police of this city were notified last night of the disappearance of C. Lamoureux, president of the Canada-American insurance company, a French-Canadian benefit society, and efforts are being made to locate him. Claims for about $21,000 have been presented by the creditors of the missing man, and the sheriff of Coos county has attached Lamoureux's store and residence. In the course of proceedings which have been instituted against him.

Lamoureux has held the office of city assessor for some time. He was also prominent in city politics.

The creditors of Lamoureux say that he borrowed large sums of money from them in connection with the business of the insurance company, of which he was president. When a member of the organization died it is claimed that the president would go to various citizens and state that the order was short of funds and that money was needed to satisfy the widow of the deceased. The money would be advanced on the president's note, with the understanding that legal heirs of the deceased would accept $100 less than the full amount called for by the policy, provided the sums were paid immediately. With a prospect of earning one-half of the $100, which it is claimed was arranged by the insurance man, many persons agreed to advance the money. The largest creditor of Lamoureux is Rev. Father Louis La Plante, pastor of the Roman Catholic church, who holds a note for $4000. Among the other creditors are prominent business men and it is understood French Canadian mill hands.

These transactions covered a period of many months.

The police learned that Lamoureux left Berlin last Wednesday afternoon on a train which left for Manchester at 2.46. The missing man came to this city from Canada.

VICTIM BURIED

Arrest in Murder Case Expected Today

KENTS HILL, Me., Aug. 21.—The authorities of Kennebec county yesterday were engaged in investigating what appears to them like a tangible clew to the murderer of Mattie Hackett, the 17-year-old daughter of Levi Hackett, who was strangled near her home here Thursday night. It is considered possible that an arrest may be made today. The latest theory entertained by the officers is that a woman was responsible for the girl's death. This idea was suggested last week but until yesterday little evidence could be found to support it.

Frank H. Hall, the high sheriff of Kennebec county, when seen at the jail in Augusta last night, said that since the beginning he has maintained and still maintains that it was a woman who committed the crime. The inquest will not be held until Tuesday afternoon and it may be postponed.

The funeral of Miss Hackett, which was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Union church of Readfield, was largely attended.

Lester P. Lyons, of Boston, to whom Miss Hackett was said to have been engaged, arrived yesterday afternoon to attend te funeral but the ceremonies had been concluded just two minutes when he reached the village.

CREW RESCUED

French Fishing Vessel Was Lost

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., Aug. 21.—News of the sinking of the French fishing schooner Reine Des Angeles was received here today, when her captain and crew arrived in port on board the Norwegian brig Speed. Captain Hewelin of the schooner states that on August 11, while he was fishing on the Grand Banks, his vessel sprang a leak. The water gained steadily in the hold and the crew finally abandoned the attempt to keep the vessel free and put off in the life boats. Fifteen minutes later the schooner sank. Later in the day the captain and crew, which number sixteen, were picked up by the Speed, which was bound for Bay Chaleur. They will be sent to their homes in St. Malo, France.

PEACE OUTLOOK

Japanese Envoy Calls to See the President

BERLIN, Aug. 21—There has been a decided weakening of the confidence felt by government officials and members of the diplomatic corps that the negotiations at Portsmouth would result in a peace agreement. The worst symptom, as it is looked at here, is that President Roosevelt should have found it necessary to again take action. It is urged that if the negotiations were proceeding smoothly the president would not have interposed and that he has done so is considered an indication of acute tension. One of the belligerents, it is said invited the president to intervene.

Whatever the president may have done, however, is likely to be strongly supported by the German government, should outside support forward the matter.

TO SEE PRESIDENT.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 21—An unexpected phase of the peace negotiations developed today in the arrival here of Baron Kaneko, a special representative in this country of the Japanese government for a conference with President Roosevelt. Baron Kaneko's visit it is known, was arranged hurriedly. The Baron arrived on the Long Island R. R. train due here at 10.11 but as the train was 25 minutes late it was eleven o'clock before he reached Sagamore Hill.

No other visitors have engagements with the president today.

FAVOR PEACE

FRENCH OFFICIALS WANT ENVOYS TO AGREE.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Officials, both governmental and diplomatic, are apparently preparing to lend every assistance to avert the failure of the peace negotiations at Portsmouth. Premier Rouvier has suspended his vacation in Switzerland for the purpose of attending a special cabinet council Thursday next. Mr. McCormick, the American ambassador, will return from Carlsbad Wednesday for the purpose of being ready to exercise any friendly influences in his power. M. Jusserand, the French ambassador at Washington, who is spending his vacation in the country, will also return to Paris in the middle of the week.

According to the foreign office, Premier Rouvier's return has no direct connection with the peace negotiations. However, it will afford him an opportunity to consider the situation at an opportune moment as it is the expectation that the crisis will be prolonged beyond tomorrow, while the envoys communicate with their respective governments regarding their inability to agree.

GREAT BRITIAN

NOT ASKED TO MAKE REPRESENTATIONS TO JAPAN.

LONDON, Aug. 21—The Associated Press was informed at the foreign office today that President Roosevelt has not requested the British government to make representations to Japan on the question of peace. The foreign office thinks it would be impertinent for the British government to request Japan to modify her demands. The government believes that these demands are moderate and that Japan should not be deprived of the fruits of her victory.

The foreign office further said it did not believe that Japan would modify the terms put forward at the opening of the conference.

Official reports received by the government from Russia take a gloomy view of the situation. The members of the British cabinet are divided, some taking a hopeful view and others believe that all hopes of peace has been dissipated.

WALSH BURIED

Funeral of Victim of Auto Accident

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—The funeral services of Vinson F. Walsh, were held this morning at 10 o'clock at "Beaulieu" in the room in which Miss Julia Dent Grant was married to Prince Cantacuzene of Russia six years ago next Friday. The services were conducted by Rev. Walter Lowrie, rector of Trinity church, where Mr. and Mrs. Walsh were attendants this summer, and only the family and a few intimate friends were present, the desire being to avoid publicity as much as possible. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb in the island cemetery, and when Miss Walsh is able to be moved, will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Walsh to Washington for interment. The room in which the services were held was transformed into a floral bower by the flowers sent by friends.

Today the injured are doing well. Miss Walsh was found to have a fracture o fthe upper leg near the thigh and to have received other slight injuries. She has recovered from the shock and it is not expected that any complications will result. The fractured bone will keep her in bed for several weeks. It was feared that Mrs. Kernochan had suffered internal injuries, but at last accounts there were no evidences of bodily injury, and the symptoms are favorable for an early recovery. Mr. Harry Oelrich will probably be confined to the house for several days. Saturday night he was hysterical and it was feared that he had received some injury to his head. He is still confined to his bed, and will require several days rest to recover from the shock. Mr. Herbert Pell was able to be about yesterday, a little lameness being the only result of the accident. The chauffeur, Emile De Voust, was not seriously injured and was about Saturday night.

CHANGE DATE

INAUGURATION DAY MAY BE IN APRIL OR MAY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—That congress at its next session will issue a call for a change in the constitution making the date for the induction of presidents into office some time in the latter part of April or the first part of May instead of March 4 is now believed to be probable.

Governors of the various states and territories have written expressing the view that the date should be changed. The committee having the matter in charge will memorialize congress to have the date changed.

COTTON REPORT

REPORT ISSUE DBY THE CENSUS BUREAU.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—The census bureau today issued a supplemental report on the quantity of cotton ginned from the crop of 1904, showing a total growth for that year as fixed by the ginners to be 13,693,279 bales, counting a round bale as a one-half bale, instead of 13,581,782.

In explanation of these figures the report states as follows:

"Census bulletin No. 19, on cotton ginning, issued April 25, 1905, showed that at the time of the March canvass of the cotton ginneries for the date published in that report there remained to be ginned 192,275 bales from the crop of 1904. A canvass made between July 20 and Aug. 5 for the purpose of verifying these estimates showed that 95,497 bales, counting round as half bales, were ginned in excess of the estimates published in April."

42 YEARS OLD

COLORED KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HOLD CONVENTION.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—The thirteenth biennial session of the supreme lodge, Colored Knights of Pythias of North and South America, Europe, Asia, Australia, the Hawaiian Islands and the West Indies, convened here today. The organization was formed 42 years ago as an offshot of the white fraternal society of the same name. It has a membership of over 60,000 persons, in which are included many of the leading educators, professional and otherwise prominent men and women of the race. It has its own supreme lodge; its division of the uniform rank and its supreme cour tof calanthe, a woman's auxiliary. All three bodies will be in session simultaneously from August 21 to 26 inclusive.

Today was largely devoted to executive sessions. On Friday supreme officers will be elected and the location of holding the next biennial convention will be selected.

SLANDERERS

TWO NEGROES WERE PUNISHED BY OTHER NEGROES.

CLARKSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 21.—Two young negroes were arrested yesterday morning near Glory, twenty miles west of here, charged with making defamatory remarks about the daughter of a prominent white farmer. They were kept chained during the day in a building and last night were carried out in a meadow half a mile east of the village, where a crowd of 700 residents of the community, blacks and whites, had assembled. A committee of ten, composed of five white and five black citizens, were appointed to try the culprits. Several witnesses were examined and the prisoners were found guilty of having uttered the slanders. One of them was sentenced to receive forty lashes ,the other tweny-five. The whipping was administered by the negro members of the committee. After the whipping the culprits were turned loose and were told to leave the community in five days.

BIG MERGER.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 21.—Final steps have been taken in the $7,000,000 deal whereby 20 Indiana coal companies will be merged in the Vandalia Coal company, with headquarters in this city. They consist in exchanging the titles to the 30 mines, an aggregate of $4,000,000.

SPECIAL MEETING

Polling Places to be Designated

Mayor Casey has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tomorrow evening for the purpose of designating polling places. The law requires that the polling places shall be designated 30 days before the date set for the first primaries, which is Sept. 25.

CENTRALVILLE BRIDGE.

Supt. Morse hopes to get through with the work on the Centralville bridge this week. Speaking of the work on the bridge an old bridge builder said today that it was one of the very best repair jobs he had ever seen. Mr. Morse says he has encountered a good many extras that were not included in the statement of cost, and for that reason the appropriation will be overrun. Mr. Morse said that but for the extra expense he would like to put in block paving sidewalks. In plank walks nails are continually showing their heads and besides being disagreeable, are more or less dangerous.

ABOUT SEWER WORK.

Work on the extension of the Ennell street sewer is being pushed with a vengeance, and in a day or two work on the draining system at the Oaklands will be begun.

CREMATOR CONTRACT.

Relative to the contract with the Decarle company for a cremator, the fact has been developed that but for the mayor's refusal to sign the contract when it was first presented him the city would not have had any security. The mayor refused to sign the contract until it came to him accompanied by a bond of $3000.

DYNAMITE

TON OF IT FOUND IN A SHED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—With it is believed, hundreds of pounds of dynamite stored at the southeast corner of One Hundred and Fifty-second street and Seventh avenue, and the neighborhood in a panic fearing the combustible will inadvertently be exploded no move was made yesterday to ascertain the scope of danger or to fix the responsibility, if any exists, for the violation of the law that makes the storing of dynamite, except under certain conditions, a crime.

George Murray, the inspector of the bureau of combustibles, who has threatened time and again to jail any one who unlawfully stored dynamite, is away at Arverne for the summer and no one who may assume the responsibilities of his position is left behind.

Exactly how much dynamite is at this time in the little shanty that has been erected in the middle of the lot now under lease to the Central Bridge, Stone and Construction company is known only to those who put it there. The neighbors who have seen some of the boxes, that hold a hundred pounds each, declare there are hundreds of pounds of the explosive in the shanty, and the boxes are directed to the National Powder company, whose wagons stable near by.

Across the way the Central Bridge company is blasting rock that rises thirty feet above the street level. The danger of a piece falling on the roof of the shanty and exploding the dynamite, besides the constant menace of lightning, is what arouses those living near.

No one seems to know how the shanty came to be built. The watchman doesn't know, nor do any of the employes of the Williamson company, contractors, whose sheds are close by. The shanty is in the midst of bushes and low trees and is hidden from the view of the street.

IRISH LEAGUE

WILL HAVE LECTURE BY REV. FR. FITZPATRICK, O. M. I.

The United Irish League held an enthusiastic meeting last evening and made arrangements for the lecture on the music of Ireland by Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, O. M. I., at Associate hall on September 24. A committee of which Michael Connolly is chairman and M. A. Lee secretary was appointed to take charge of the arrangements. The lecture will be illustrated by the rendition of some of Ireland's most famous melodies by the lecturer himself and a number of the most prominent local singers and one or two from out of town. Sub-committees on ticket and program were appointed and the prospect is that the affair will be a great success.

A musical program followed the meeting and was participated in by several members. The meeting adjourned for one week.

YELLOW FEVER

SERIOUS EPIDEMIC IS NOT CONSIDERED POSSIBLE NOW.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—Full of hope, the federal and local authorities and the public in general entered today upon the fifth week of the campaign against yellow fever, which is now considered to be beyond the stage when a serious epidemic is possible.

Dr. Beverly Warner, head of the volunteer forces, says that the decrease in the mortality, as shown by the reports, is unprecedented and the situation is rapidly coming under control.

Dr. Warner said the passing of the calamity was due in a large degree to the splendid work of the marine hospital service. While the federal authorities now have no hesitency in saying the fever is under control, they are not yet ready to fix a date when it will be stamped out.

No new points in the state outside of New Orleans were reported infected today.

Public Is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 548 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Goodale's Drug store, 217 Central st.; price 50c.

ARREST WOMAN

She is Charged With Setting a Fire

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Her husband locked up for intoxication after he had learned of her arrest, and her three little children in the hands of the Gerry society, Mrs. Patrick Murphy, wife of a designer in a Fifth avenue colloring establishment and living at No. 118 East Ninety-seventh street, was yesterday remanded to the Tombs under $500 bail on suspicion of having committed arson.

Mrs. Murphy was arrested by detectives on Saturday charged with having attempted to set fire to the big five-story double tenement in which she lived. The police declare she fired her apartments on the top floor to get the fire insurance on her household goods.

Prompt action on the part of Jacob Sufowsky, of No. 120 East Ninety-seventh street, alone prevented a disaster in the tenement. There are fifteen families comprising over 100 souls in the building, and Sufowsky's act prevented a serious loss of life. He was informed by Mrs Emily Maas, who lives opposite him on the top floor of No. 120, that smoke was coming from the windows of the apartment opposite in No. 118. He ran up the stairs in that house and found smoke pouring out into the hallways from under the doorsill of the Murphy flat. He broke in the door and put out the blaze.

Fire Marshal Malechman found kerosene had been poured on the floor of every room in the apartment, and that the same combustible had been scattered over the floor of a vacant apartment opposite.

Lena Schuckman, the janitress, told the police shortly after the fire she had seen Mrs. Murphy with her three children leave the house just before the fire was discovered. She declared Mrs. Murphy appeared agitated and kept looking over her shoulder until she rounded a corner.

Mrs. Murphy returned protesting her innocence, but the fact that the apartment was securely locked convinced the police and she was arrested.

When her husband returned from work and found his wife arrested and his children in charge of the Gerry Society, he went to the nearest saloon and was taken out wildly intoxicated. He wept and raved like a madman at the station.

THREE SAVED

YACHT WAS OVERTURNED DURING HEAVY STORM.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—During the heavy windstorm that swept Long Island yesterday afternoon a 20-foot sloop yacht was swept off Sea Gate, known as Norton's Point, L. I., and two men and a boy fell into the sea.

They were saved from being drowned by Harry Jacobs and Herman Spentz, fishermen.

The occupants of the sloop were Joseph Morris, of Bath Beach; Conrod Wallace, of No. 118 Fifty-eighth street, Brooklyn, and the latter's son John 16 years old. The party was returning to Bath Beach when the storm came, and before the men could take in sail a sudden squall struck the boat and overturned it.

Neither the elder Wallace nor Morris could swim and had disappeared beneath the water. The two fishermen were obliged to dive for them. Both were unconscious when taken out of the sea. Mr. Morris rewarded the rescuers with $50. Morris and the Wallaces were out for a pleasure sail.

HE WAS TRAPPED

"Black Hand" Man Caught by Police

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—A well dressed and educated man, who said he was Gaston [illegible], 27 years old, of Tiffany place, Brooklyn, was locked up in the Clymer street station, Williamsburg, last night charged with sending "black hand" letters and extortion by Salvatore Doramo, a merchant of 683 Fleeting avenue. He was arrested by Captain Hollihan and Detectives Meade, Ocker, McGloughlin and Conolly after they had seen Doramo hand Figard a marked $10 Bill in front of a saloon at Columbia and Degraw streets.

When the police came upon Figard after he had put the money in his pocket he tried to get rid of the bill and fought the five officers until they were forced to knock him down and handcuff him. The arrest took place in the heart of the Italian colony in South Brooklyn.

The arrest followed several letters of a threatening nature received by Doramo. They were signed "Black Hand" and informed Doramo that if he didn't pay the writers several hundred dollars he would be killed. The letters said the authors were the men who murdered the man in the famous barrel mystery a few years ago.

At first Doramo paid no attention to the letters, but finally he became frightened And went to the Columbia street saloon on July 30 and gave $25 to four men he met there. He was ordered to make a second payment yesterday and decided to inform the police. He went to Captain Hollihan who gave him the marked $10 bill and instructed him to pay it in the street so the detectives could see it handed over.

The police waited about the corner of Columbia and Degraw street more than an hour before any one spoke to Doramo, who had been walking up and down in front of the saloon. Then Figard came along and, after some parley, took the money.

When the police reached the station house with Figard they tried to get him to make a statement, but he refused to give any information about himself or his confederates.

WOMAN SUSPECT

May be Arrested in Murder Case

KENTS HILL, Maine, Aug. 21.—County officials today expected that a woman resident against whom suspicion is believed to point would be arrested in connection with the murder of Miss Mattie Hackett. Sheriff Ham came here early today and it was understood he intended to make the arrest today.

LAWRENCE'S GAIN

Census Places the Population at 69,939

LAWRENCE, Aug. 21—Charles F. Pidgin, chief of the bureau of statistics of this state, announced Saturday the census of Lawrence for the year 1905.

He gives the population of this city as 69,939 and consists of males, 34,991; females, 35,935.

The population of the city at the state census in 1895 was 62,161. At the United States census in 1900 it was 62,559.

The increase for the past 10 years is 17,378 or 7.40 per cent.

Chief Pidgin stated that the figures as given out are only preliminary but no material change is anticipated in the official report.

The following table shows the census of Lawrence from the year 1875 to 1905 inclusive:

1875	34,010
1880	39,151
1885	35,892
1890	44,654
1895	62,161
1900	62,559
1905	69,939

It will be noticed from the above that there has been a noticeable increase in each of the years with the exception of 1885, when there was a decrease of 259 from the year 1880.

SEVEN NEW LICENSES.

The increase in population of this city from 62,559 to 69,939 means that seven additional licenses will be granted. Chairman Bradley of the license commission was interviewed by an Eagle reporter Saturday morning in regard to the time the license commission would take action on the new licenses. Mr. Bradley said: "Of course, we won't take any action until the official report is given out. It is quite probable that the additional licenses will not be granted and doing business much before October. A sufficient time must be given in the call for applications and then, when these applications have been received they must be printed in all the papers of the city, daily, weekly and Sunday. The licenses can not be granted for at least ten days after the last day of publication. Besides the party to whom a license is granted must have plenty of time in which to properly make the necessary preparations. In 1900 when the United States census of that year showed an increase in population of the city of 10,000 the board called for applications and the licenses were granted the last of October. The census returns were made later that year than this. The price paid for the licenses was $1400 and the new licenses this year will pay the proportionate part of the year they have to run."

CRICKET GAMES

The Mohairs Beaten by Lawrence Team

The Mohairs received a severe trouncing at the hands of the Lawrence Athelics at Lawrence Saturday afternoon. The game was played on a matting crease and the day was an ideal one for cricket. Despite the fact that the Mohair team seemed to be the favorite the fine bowling of Wade and Walker soon put the Lowell batters out of commission.

For Lawrence, Wainwright and Gill were the top scorers and by their sharp and heavy hitting won the game without the loss of a wicket.

The result will give Lawrence a good hold on the championship, although they still have to play some hard games which may effect their standing.

LORD CURZON

LORD CURZON, EX-VICEROY OF INDIA.

Resigns as Viceroy of India

LONDON, Aug. 21—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedelston as viceroy of India and the appointment of the earl of Minto as his successor were announced at the India office last night.

bitter feeling between Lord Curzon, the India office and Lord Kitchener, commander in chief of the forces in India, over the new scheme of army administration in India.

Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the cabinet to appoint Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow on Lord Curzon's recommendation military supply member of the council.

Mrs. Curzon was formerly Miss Leiter an American girl.

LADY CURZON, FORMERLY MISS LEITER OF CHICAGO.

According to the correspondence, which is issued in the form of a white book, it appears that Lord Curzon's resignation was cabled to that office on Aug. 12.

The correspondence shows a decidedly

CHINESE FIGHT

Revolvers Again Used in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Another battle of warring Chinese secret societies was fought in Chinatown last night. As a result two men were taken to a hospital with serious but not fatal bullet wounds, two were slightly injured and later others were locked up.

The police are inclined to think that the victims are members of the On Leong Tong, which were soon to appear against the members of the Hip Sing Tong to which the recent Chinatown threatre murders have been attributed.

With oriental stategy last night's affair was planned to attract the police and others who might be curious, away from the scene of the shooting. A few minutes before 9 o'clock several shots were fired, seemingly from a roof in Doyers street. The police arriving a minute or so later found the narrow streets packed. The detectives and uniformed men had about reached the doorway of the Doyers street house when from Pell street came the noise of several heavy calibre pistol shots, so fast and furious that the sound might have come from a machine gun. Making for Pell street the police soon located the trouble at a house said to be the headquarters of the On Leong Tong. In the building were more than 200 Chinamen chattering about the shooting. The police, in a little room in the rear of the third floor found the victims of the shooting, two lying in pools of blood, two others trying gto staunch wounds, with half a dozen other Chinamen trying to hide under chairs. Several were hanging out of the windows.

The names of the more seriously injured are Hule John Yoka and Wee Mong, both laundrymen.

Don't miss the Old Orchard excursion. $1.50 is the round trip rate on August 24th, via the Boston & Maine R. R.

FIREBUG'S WORK

Medford Suffers a Loss of $50,000

MEDFORD, Aug. 21—It was 7 o'clock yesterday morning before the "all out" signal was sounded an dthe weary firemen released from their labors, which began shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night.

When all was over it was found that the result of the work of the incendiaries was the total destruction of the First M. E. church on Salem st., with a loss of $40,000 the partial destruction of hose 4 house on Spring st., involving a loss of $35,000, the burning of sheds on the Foster wharf on Riverside avenue, where the damage will amount to $100 and the destruction of a shed belonging to the New England brick company in Glenwood, with a small loss.

All the fires occurred within an hour, and were unquestionably set, the evidence of incendiarism being conclusive.

BARN BURNED

GRANITEVILLE VISITED BY LIVELY BLAZE.

The town of Graniteville was threatened by fire yesterday afternoon and but for the fine work of the firemen and residents of the town a good portion of Graniteville would have been wiped out. As it was a barn was destroyed and two other buildings were scorched by the flames.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon fire was discovered in the barn of Lewis P. Palmer near the Boston & Maine station. The fire started in the hay mow. Within a short time after the alarm had been given there was a large crowd of men, women and children on the scene.

The fire was blazing merrily when the volunteer fire department arrived and as two buildings nearby had been scorched by the flames it was decided to try and confine the fire to the barn and keep it from spreading to the other buildings. The sparks, however, fell on other buildings in the vicinity and every now and then several men would have to climb to the roofs of different buildings to extinguish the flames.

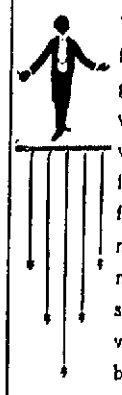

The water supply was limited, or rather the means of pouring the water was limited. Pails were obtained from the Abbott company, whose works are nearby, and the water used came from ordinary pumps. Several hand extinguishers were in operation.

The blaze attracted a crowd of fully 1000 people from Graniteville, Westford, Tyngsboro and the country side generally within several miles.

The damage was said to amount to about $3000. The cause of the fire could not be ascertained.

Miss Isabelle M. McKenna of Providence, who has been spending her vacation in this city, returned home today being accompanied by her cousins, Misses Margaret M. Lynch and Master Leo. J. Cox of South Highland street.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it, cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it. Just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight, it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell. It is

BY ARBITRATION

The President Hopes Peace Will be Accomplished

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21.—The Associated Press is able to announce that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt communicated through Baron Rosen to Mr. Witte and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas was based upon the principle of arbitration. Whether the proposal contemplates arbitration of all the articles upon which the plenipotentiaries have failed to agree or only upon the question of indemnity cannot be stated with positiveness, but it is more than probable that it relates only to indemnity or to indemnity and cession of the island of Sakhalin. Neither is it possible to say whether the president has yet made a similar proposition to Japan. The customary diplomatic procedure in such a case would be to submit the proposal simultaneously to both countries but there might be an advantage in securing the adherence of one before submitting it to the other. To Emperor Nicholas, the author of the Hague peace conference, the suggestion of arbitration which will necessarily immediately command the sympathy of the public opinion of the world, will be particularly hard to reject. If he agrees, Japan, if she has not already done so, would be all the more bound to submit her claim to the impartial arbitrator. Acceptance by both sides would involve a great extension of the principle of arbitration as nations have heretofore declined to arbitrate questions involving their "honor and dignity." Both Mr. Takhira and Mr. Witte in the earlier stages of the conference absolutely rejected the idea of arbitration and only Saturday both reiterated their disbelief in such a solution. It was noticed, however, that Mr. Witte's opinion was not expressed as strongly as last week.

RUSSIA FIRM

WILL NOT CHANGE ITS FINAL REPLY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug 21, 12.30 a. m.—Russia's official attitude regarding the final reply to be made to Japan on Tuesday is unchanged. The impression prevails that only a very great concession on the part of Japan on the question of indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin will make peace possible. The questions pertaining to the limitation of Russia's naval power and the surrender of her interned warships are considered here to be quite susceptible of satisfactory arrangement and not liable to cause serious trouble.

An interesting development of Sunday was the statement from the very best authority that the foreign office does not believe that Aug. 22 will necessarily see the conclusion at Portsmouth of the conference and that there will be further exchanges between the plenipotentiaries lasting two and maybe three days. In some quarters this is taken as a sign that there still is hope for a settlement on the basis of concessions by the Japanese.

Mr. Witte's full reports are being submitted through the foreign office to the emperor. There has been no meeting of the grand dukes to consider these reports but the emperor has been in consultation and will consult again today with some of his advisers and ministers on vital matters now being decided here.

The final communication of the supreme deciding authority, Emperor Nicholas, conveying his majesty's instructions as to the course which M. Witte shall pursue, beginning on Tuesday, will be transmitted to Portsmouth through the foreign office, probably tonight (Monday) or Tuesday morning.

WANTS PEACE

RUSSIA HAS YIELDED IN EIGHT POINTS.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21.—Mr. Briantchaninoff, correspondent of the St. Petersburg Slovo who is in close touch with the members of the Russian mission, made the following significant statement last night to The Associated Press:

"Now that we are on the eve of the decisive day when we are to see whether higher civilization, wedded to peace, is to come out victorious or will admit itself incapable of finding a just solution of the problem at Portsmouth and will refer the whole issue back again to the arbitratment of the sword, I am and can say as a simple Russian citizen, that Russia wishes peace very sincerely, very frankly and that she considers that she has demonstrated her desire for peace by her course at this conference. She has yielded upon eight points. She has agreed to retire from a country where she has spent millions in the cause of civilization. All this she has done, but not because she fears a continuation of the war. On the contrary letters I have received from Russia are unanimous in saying that the whole country has renewed confidence in its re-organized army, that the army is thirsting for battle, and dreams only of revenge, that General Linevitch, the commander-in-chief, is sure of success and that the authorities all agree in saying that never before has the moral and physical state of the troops been better. We know that Linevitch is not only an organizer like Kuropatkin, but that he possesses that particular military intuition that talent for spontaneously seizing an opportunity which alone can give victory against an adversary as formidable as the Japanese. The number of Russian troops at last equals that of Japanese—and they are no longer Siberian recruits. I know that in the eyes of foreigners all these arguments are not convincing. The events of the past influence their judgment as to the future, but to Russians who are in touch with the military situation it is certain that a rupture of the negotiations seems desirable because they believe that the turn of the tide is at hand. Certainly with a battle along a front of sixty miles no one can foresee what may happen, any little accident, the sun or the dirt in the eyes of the men, an order badly expressed or badly understood, a telephone wire cut, anything may in an instant entirely change the situation. One cannot be astonished, therefore, if the Russians when they are told 'you have lost; pay' reply 'fifteen times in succession we have backed the red and it has come black. We have now the advantage of the chances. We will continue to back the red until we win.' The player has the right to his revenge. The world cannot be angry with Russia if after having yielded perhaps more than she ought she now says: 'If my adversary does not understand that I have yielded unwillingly only because I have always believed in the peaceful solution of conflicts I will prove to him that once wounded I can become obstinate and pursue the game until my adversary is completely exhausted.' Personally as an anti-militarist and a believer in peace, I find that it would be in entire conformity to the dignity of Russia to submit the questions in dispute to The Hague tribunal and thus increase the splendor of that institution which should become for the welfare of humanity. But I know, alas, that such an idea has not yet taken deep enough root. One cannot then feel resentment against the Russian people if, observing that their love for peace has been interpreted as a sign of weakness and too much is demanded of them they replace their destinies in the hands of their generals."

THE CANOBIE LAKE CONTROVERSY AS VIEWED FROM DIFFERENT STANDARDS.

ARRESTS MADE

At Canobie Lake Did Not Stop Amusements

Great crowds visited Canobie lake, yesterday, and with the exception of the dance hall everything was running full blast. The day was perfect and perfect order prevailed. The wet blanket that Portsmouth's sheriff threw upon the Sunday amusements at Canobie was removed yesterday and it was a case of "let the full go on."

Of course there were official forms that had to be lived up to and early in the afternoon Deputy Sheriff Robert Scott and Sheriff Wheeler of Salem arrived with a cargo of warrants and technically arrested the managers or acting managers and ticket sellers of the skating rink, the flying horses, the roller coaster and the box-ball alleys.

The sheriffs appeared at the offices of the amusement places mentioned and summoned those in charge to appear before them at Supt. Williams' office at once and make answer to questions relative to violation of the Sunday law.

In response to these summonses there appeared E. Earl Cole, manager, and Ernest Potter, ticket seller of the skating rink, John Connelly, manager, and Alex. Maynard, ticket seller, of the roller coaster; Herbert M. Newhall, manager, and William J. Hoyt, assistant manager of the box-ball alleys, and G. Arthur Feudering, acting manager, and Evan J. David, ticket seller of the flying horses. Warrants were formally served upon all, and they were under arrest. When they left their respective places of business they substituted assistants to look after things and everything kept on as though nothing was happening.

Things were adjusted in short order at the scene of the arrest, and within a quarter of an hour after the warrants were served the eight prisoners were back at their business. In the absence of a bail commissioner, Justice James Ayer of Salem, who happened to be on the grounds, was pressed into service, and he presided at the liberating ceremonies. The officers required that each should recognize in $100 for appearance in police court at Portsmouth this morning at 10 o'clock, and Charles J. Ramsdell and Rowell A. Watson went surety for the bunch.

Messrs. Feudering and David of the flying horses are both college students, the former being a Phillips-Andover man and the latter a Harvard boy. Feudering was acting in the capacity of manager yesterday in the absence of Carl Braun of Collinsville, who has charge of the amusement. His home is at Devil's Lake, North Dakota, and his regular occupation at the park is that of ticket-taker for the theatre. David belongs in Pennsylvania.

Manager M. H. Newhall of the box-ball alleys is a resident of Salem. William Hoyt, his assistant, is a Haverhill boy. Manager Connolly of the roller coaster, hails from Fitchburg; Maynard and Earl Cole are from Nashua, and Ernest Potter from Lawrence.

Moros' Gifts to the Taft Party

JOLO, Aug. 18.—via. Manila, Aug. 21.—(Delayd in trasmission.) Secretary Taft and party arrived here at noon and immediately proceeded to the parade ground to witness an elaborate program arranged for their entertainment. The sultan of Sula, with his retinue and other Moro dignitaries, occupied seats on the grand stand along with Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt.

Thousands of Moros, residents of Jolo and from the neighboring islands were present to take part in the festivities which were wonderfully picturesque. In the afternoon there were carabou and bull fights.

Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt were presented many Moro presents by the sultan, who offered his hand in marriage to Miss Roosevelt, and would make her sultana of the Sulu archipelago, saying that his people desired her to remain among them.

While some members of the party were bathing in the afternoon, Frederick O'Brien, editor of the Cable News, was seized with cramps and the undertow was rapidly carrying him out to sea, when Representative Longworth of Ohio, seeing his peril, started after him and rescued him at the risk of his own life.

DOWAGER QUEEN

Baroly Escaped From an Assassin

TURIN, Aug. 21.—A dastardly attempt has just been made to assassinate Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, who is making a tour of the Alps in an automobile. This news is contained in a telegram received yesterday from Aosta at the royal palace of Barconigi, near here.

Queen Margherita was ascending the little St. Bernard in her auto, accompanied by the Marquis di Villamarina, another lady of the court and two gentlemen, when the machine suddenly struck against a stone barricade that had been erected in the middle of the road and overturned.

Eleven Jurors Wanted to Convict Gallato

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 21.—The jury in the case of the state vs. Francisco Gallato for murder of Francisco Truglio at Millinocket on the third of April, 1904, reported a disagreement at 8 o'clock this morning after being out over 45 hours. It is understood that the last ballots taken stood 11 to 1 for conviction. This is nearly the longest time that a jury has ever taken in this state on a murder trial. Gallato was remanded to jail and will be tried again at the February term of the supreme court.

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

ANNEXATION A NECESSITY

If we would have our city expand we must not limit its growth by a boundary line as fixed as the walls of ancient Babylon.

Now that rapid transit affords us unprecedented facilities for reaching the suburbs, there is no excuse for crowding in the residential districts.

To avoid congestion and to give ample room for expansion as a city should expand—with wide and regular streets, plenty of space for public breathing places, for spacious lawns and gardens in connection with the dwellings—it is necessary to annex outlying districts. Especially is this necessary where our territory is built upon out to the city line, as at some points on the border touching Dracut, Tewksbury and Chelmsford.

We must make more room wherever the shoe pinches. To delay annexation in such cases means crowding within the city limits; it means small, crooked and irregular streets; it means congestion with all the concomitant diseases and disorders, physical and moral.

We would be exceedingly proud to see Lowell the second city in the state. If she does not increase spontaneously we can add to her size and importance by annexation. That is how some of the great cities took on their initial impetus. The annexation of new territory would cause a stampede outward from the crowded districts; it would add vastly to the value of our real estate and would add also to our population by attracting new settlers as well as by taking in some populous districts.

By annexation we can make Lowell a great city, a healthy city, a beautiful city. Then annex desirable suburban tracts as quickly as possible in the interests of an ever progressive and a greater Lowell.

If Secretary Taft were at home he would have another war scandal to unravel in the padding of government contracts with the palpable intention of fraud.

New Orleans is in the grasp of yellow jack and already the loss of life is very great. Another General Butler is needed to clear the city of pestilence.

THE GYPSY MOTH ARRIVES

Supt. Whittet of the park department, at a time when our city was pronounced freer from moth pests than any other in the state, gives the alarm that the gypsy moth has arrived in our midst. That is a serious matter. Let every citizen take due notice of the fact, and every one who has trees keep close watch upon them lest the gypsy moth pest get a foothold here.

The park commission has done good work in banishing the brown-tails and now that another pest has made its appearance in a small way let that also be banished.

THE DUAL TARIFF.

The dual tariff might go far towards overcoming some of the worst difficulties that are now encountered in some of the various schedules. Were such a tariff in force, an administration favoring a high tariff would hold fast to the maximum and one favoring a low tariff would extend the minimum rates. It would afford ample opportunity for the negotiation of reciprocity treaties and on this ground it will probably be opposed by the republican bosses.

AS TO CHIEF HOSMER.

Sometime ago our neighbor the Citizen was the leading eulogist of Chief Hosmer when a younger man was looking for the job. Now, however, the Citizen thinks the chief should be at home attending to his business instead of at the convention of chiefs in Duluth, Minn.

Here is part of what the Citizen has to say on the matter:

"In any event, the chief is unwarrantably wasting valuable time in thus absenting himself in the face of a pressing duty, and it is not at all consonant with his record to do so. We are at a loss to understand why, after so long and honorable a career at the head of his department, Chief Hosmer should thus lay himself open to criticism—for criticism is daily growing more rife. This is no time for junketing in view of the necessity for providing a system of street lighting to be ready the moment the Welsbach contract runs out. Nor will it pay the chief to stand out against universal public sentiment to block the making of a reasonable electric light contract."

TIME FOR JAPAN TO YIELD A POINT.

The peace envoys have come to a deadlock in their negotiations and have taken a rest to afford ample time for communication with the home governments. All seemed to be fairly smooth sailing at the conference until the Japanese demand that Russia's future naval armament in the Pacific be limited.

There was a hitch in the cession of the island of Sakhalin to Japan but that was postponed, the obvious intention being to consider it in conjunction with the article demanding an indemnity.

Another disputed point is the cession to Japan of Russia's interned warships. This point, the limitation of her naval strength in the Pacific and the payment of an indemnity are demands the cession of which would humiliate Russia and that is where Witte, the Russian envoy, draws the line.

The smoothness of the conference was due to the fact that Russia made all the concessions. It is now about time for Japan to yield a point or two. There is no denying the fact that the demand to restrict Russia's future armament in the Pacific is wholly unreasonable and would prove humiliating to Russia.

Russia is not a conquered nation. True she has been severely whipped in various battles on land and sea but she is not conquered. She could keep up the war with Japan for several years until the financial resources of the latter would be utterly exhausted. It is incumbent upon Japan in the present diplomatic struggle to be a little more moderate. Unless she yields some of the demands set forth the war will proceed and Japan will regret the fact quite as much as Russia.

SEEN AND HEARD

He's a bartend and a very accommodating fellow. He passes out the foamy at the "place around the corner" and he has had his moustache taken away. He has curly hair, is lantern jawed and stands erect about five feet, six in his stocking feet. He really does look sort o' funny like, but he is good natured and takes hard knocks with a complacency that would break a poet's heart. "I feel funny but I'm glad I had my moustache shaved," he said to a friend who remarked on his appearance. "I am more talked about than the fellows who went automobiling and got thrown into the apple tree. I think that the number of customers has increased since I had my moustache taken away. Fellows who are not in the habit of coming in here have called and passed remarks relative to my appearance. Some of them say I look like a convict; others say I look ten years younger and one fellow said I looked like a murderer. I would have never known that I was popular but for the fact I shaved off my moustache.'

There's a famous fable country, never seen by mortal eyes, where the pumpkins they are growing and the sun is said to rise; where no mortal man does habit, neither reptile, bird or beast and that's the famous country they call "down east." These few lines were culled from "Johnnie" Dawson's famous work entitled "Trout Fishing in Maine."

INTELLIGENT BEARS

ONE OF THE MANY ATTRACTIONS OF THE NASHUA FAIR.

The people of Lowell and vicinity who desire to pass Labor day enjoyably and profitably ought not to overlook the Nashua fair which opens on that day. This is not a local, a state or county fair. It is an "exposition universal", and its entry lists from firemen's hand tubs to domestic productions and pet stock, are open to the world. For this reason the exhibits have become the most complete of any fair in New England. This is particularly true of blooded horses and cattle. Racing has received a great boom in New Hampshire since the action of Governor Douglas in stopping certain features at harness meets in Massachusetts and the races for this reason are bound to be spirited and well attended. The "Pike" will be larger, livelier and lustier than ever.

Those who cannot come on Labor day with the veteran firemen from all over New England and those who stay in Nashua over night will find the succeeding three days of the fair equally good. On Wednesday the governor of New Hampshire and a glittering array of officials will be there and will mingle with the people, see the sights and partake of the fun. On that day the balloon ascension and parachute jump, which will take place every day, will be varied by the shooting of a woman from a cannon suspended from a balloon in mid-air.

Thursday, Sept. 7, the last day will witness a ball game in the championship series between Nashua and some other team of the New England league.

No expense has been spared to make the Nashua fair the greatest as well as the first and best of all the New England Agricultural shows. The features are many and varied and no single day's sightseeing will enable a person to do full justice to all there is.

Nashua is easy of access and the Boston and Maine railroad will sell special tickets at reduced rates including admission to the grounds. Trolley cars take one from the stations to the gates and Boston and Northern trolley cars will run extra trips from Lowell without change.

The vast and expensive pyrotechnic drama, the Japanese-Russian naval battle scene will be given at the Fair Grounds every night.

Do not forget the Great Nashua Fair Labor day and the three days thereafter.

SEIZED BEER

LIQUOR OFFICERS MADE A SMALL HAUL.

Officers Duncan and Atkinson visited the home of Stephen Murphy in Colburn street, yesterday morning, and seized four cases of beer and a small quantity of whiskey. A milkman was just finishing the contents of a mug when the police arrived. Murphy informed the police that he was only a boarder at the house and that his wife ran the house. No arrest was made but the wet goods were taken to the police station.

STRUCK BY CAR

GRANT SPEARE BADLY INJURED AT REVERE BEACH.

BOSTON, Aug. 21—While oiling the track of a roller coaster at Revere beach yesterday, Grant A. Speare was struck by a car containing four persons, and hurled to the soft marsh 20 feet below, falling on his back.

At the emergency room of the state bath house, where he was taken, he was found to have two sprained ankles and cuts and bruises. He was taken to his home in Revere. The wonder of the accident was Speare's escape from more serious injury.

Reports from Old Orchard beach indicate that pickpockets were at work at that resort yesterday and that Lowell people were among their victims. The engineers of the Boston and Maine road enjoyed an excursion to the beach and quite a number of people went from Lowell. The big train pulled out of the Northern station at 8.15 yesterday morning and reached here on the return trip at 9.45 last evening. It was while the party was waiting for the train at the station at Old Orchard that the crooks got in their work. The crowd was so great that the men managed to escape. One engineer named Wardwell, who lives in this city, lost $37 in money and checks calling for a similar amount and his ticket on the Boston and Maine road. Another engineer, whose name was not learned, lost his gold watch which was snatched from his pocket, and a young woman named Miss Stroul, also of Lowell, had her gold watch stolen. As soon as she felt the tug on her watch chain she notified those about her but the thief was too quick and escaped in the crowd. Several others in the party came near losing valuables and money and one man who felt a hand in his watch pocket grabbed hold of the hand but was unable to hold his man. The officials at Old Orchard were notified of the thefts but could get no description of the pickpockets.

WANTS TO FIGHT

Venezuela is After the Yankees

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Tribune today will say:

"Venezuela has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats, guns and ammunition at the cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than the little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war material.

"An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that he was going to fight the Yankees, which explains the unusually large orders for ships, arms and ammunition.

"It is reported that when the Venezuelan chief executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge William Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Caracas his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit the emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela."

Get ready for the Old Orchard excursion on Thursday, August 24th, via the Boston & Maine R. R. $1.50 is the round trip rate.

BILLERICA

The Talbot mills reopened this morning after a two weeks' shut down in order to give the employes a vacation and also to make needed repairs to the machinery.

Several changes have been made since the mill was closed. In the finishing department, which occupies the floors on the east side of the plant, the shearing, brushing and rotary machines have been moved from the bottom to the top floor, giving much more light to do this work. The elevator which runs in this department has been moved to the other end of the building, from where it was located before the mill closed.

M. Vincent Maloney, who is located in Rochester, N. Y., is spending a brief vacation at his home.

Henry F. Brown and Miss Mary Elizabeth Buckley, both well known young people in this town, will be united in marriage at St. Anne's mission at 2.30 next Wednesday afternoon. A reception will follow the ceremony in the new church building.

Rev. Mr. Adriance of Winchester again occupied the pulpit at the Orthodox church. He spoke on Malachai 3:16: "Then they that feared the Lord spoke to another." Many from Lowell, where Mr. Adriance used to preach, were present.

NEARLY DROWNED

Two Young Men Were Dumped From Canoe

AND RESCUED JUST IN TIME

By Capt. Hagan of Mineola at Canobie

Oscar Martin of 136 Suffolk street and George David of 100 Suffolk street had narrow escapes from being drowned while canoeing at Canobie lake about five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Both young men were amateurs with the paddles and after hiring the boat started for the opposite shore. The fact that both were paddling on the same side made the craft unsteady, and it was not many minutes after the boat left the house that it turned turtle, both young men being dumped into the water.

The "life saving" steam launch Mineola was about fifty yards from the scene of the accident at the time and Capt. Hagan put the boat around and made for the two struggling men. Davis was in fair condition, but Martin was in great distress.

Councilman J. L. Kemp of Haverhill was on the Minneola, and he it was who threw a line to the struggling men. Martin was pulled in first and was turned over to Drs. William M. Collins and Fred A. Craig, both of this city and who happened to be passengers on the launch at the time David was drawn onto the launch last and was merely exhausted from the struggle.

The doctors worked over Martin for fully 15 minutes before they brought him to consciousness. David is all right. The struggle in the water was plainly visible from the park side of the lake, and was witnessed by hundreds.

FATAL FALL

BOSTON DOCTOR DEAD AT SEATTLE, WASH.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Dr. E. W. Shead, who came to Seattle from Boston last fall, was killed by an accidental fall from the roof of the Madison hotel at 122 Madison street yesterday evening. His skull was fractured on the concrete sidewalk. It is presumed the doctor went to the roof of the hotel to smoke and lost his footing in attempting to step onto an adjoining building. E. A. Coffin, proprietor of the hotel, heard the fall, but when he reached the body life was extinct.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The annual outing of the Club des Citoyens Americains was held yesterday at the Munier farm in West Dracut. It was an ideal day for an outing and the attendance was very large, the affair being a great success.

The members arrived at the farm early in the morning and amused themselves in different manners until about one o'clock, when dinner was served.

The tables were set in the shade of the trees on the bank of Beaver brook. Arthur Lavoie was the chef and everybody present said that he was an excellent cook. Over 200 members were present at the outing.

PAVILION FELL

Women Were Buried in the Ruins

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 21.—While many thousand people were assembled in Crocker Park Saturday night to listen to a band concert and witness the display of fireworks incident to the celebration of the arrival of the New York Yacht club fleet, a great panic was caused by the collapse of a large pavilion in which about 200 women and children were seated.

A large number, probably a hundred, of small boys had climbed to the roof of the frame structure to gain a better view of the fireworks. Without warning, one end of the roof began to sink and swing, and one after another crashed down on the heads of many women, severely injuring four of them.

The injured are:

Mrs. Isabelle Rice, 55, of Marblehead; collar bone broken and severe bruises on back.

Mrs. Otis Cahoon, 55, of Swampscott; internally injured.

Mrs. —— Dodge, 40, of Lynn; unconscious and badly bruised.

Mrs. Katherine Spear, Danversport; bruised.

All of the injured were taken to their homes in ambulances and none, it is thought, will die.

LADY HURT

MRS. HOPKINS FELL FROM MOVING CAR.

Mrs. A. W. Hopkins of 11 Sixth street met with a painful accident at Billerica last night. She was changing from the Lexington to the Lowell car at the Centre village and the car which she was on had just started when she discovered that she had lost her pocketbook. Not waiting to notify the conductor, Mrs. Hopkins tried to get off the moving car and she fell backwards and struck her head on the ground.

She was immediately taken to Dr. M. A. Buck's of Billerica, where she was treated. Her injuries are not serious, although she is much bruised about the head. It is considered fortunate that she was not more severely hurt. Later in the evening she came to Lowell.

NINE KILLED

Street Car Collided With a Freight Train

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 21—Nine persons were killed, one fatally injured and about 13 less seriously hurt in a collision between a street car filled with returning merrymakers from the Columbia gardens and a freight train on the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific railway last night. The dead:

MRS. SADIE SMITH.
MAGGIE HARRINGTON, aged 19, Butte.
MAUD JOHNSON, aged 19, Butte.
MRS. JACOBS, colored, Butte.
MAGGIE KEEFE, aged 19, Butte.
VERA HAUGHTON, aged 11, Butte.
CHRIS WOLD, unknown except by name on metal identification check found in his pocket.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN AND WOMAN, both at the Montana undertaking rooms.

The injured:
Ters Kottke.
Harry L. Lindley.
Joseph Kennedy.
Tennie Brades.
Albert Dockstader.
Agnes Sullivan.
Gertie Shay.
James Cairns.
Phelix Hughes.
Alfred Jackson.

Loaded with passengers, many of them women and girls, the car returning from Columbia Gardens was struck by the end of a freight train on the railroad tracks north of the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific depot and crushed beneath the weight of one freight car killing eight and fatally injuring one and perhaps another. Numerous others were slightly hurt and were taken to their homes for treatment, their names at this time being unobtainable.

That more were not killed is almost miraculous for the accident occurred with a suddenness that precluded any hope of escape for those on the front end of the car.

Some of the killed were horribly mangled. The train which struck the street car was composed of 11 freight cars being pushed east o nthe tracks by an engine. The crew claim that the motorman of the trolley tried to beat the train to the crossing.

POOL SHARKS

"Trim" Harvey Graham for $17

Harvey W. Graham of Wilder street was a victim of pool sharks, Saturday evening and dropped $17, which Billie Johnny West, a fly pool player, would now like to restore to him.

Graham, having nothing else to do Saturday night dropped into a pool room in Middlesex street to watch the game, not being a player himself. While there West approached him and asked him to have a friendly game. Graham stated that he knew but little about the game but West said they would play a game for 50 cents a side and then induce a third party in from whom they could get the money.

Graham agreed to play and losing the first game gave over a half dollar to West. Then the ever-present third party happened along at the proper moment and asked to be allowed to join the game, acting as though he had never seen West before.

When the game started West slipped back Graham's half dollar and quietly informed him that he would proceed to get the third fellow's money without any difficulty. This second game was for $2 a side. Then followed a third for $5, and finally a fourth for $10 a side, est won them all and had $17 of Graham's money. Then Graham noticed West and the stranger having a few whispered words together, and becoming suspicious went out and told his story to Officer Cooke. The latter promptly placed West under arrest and at the police station he said first that he was a baker and hailed from Springfield. Later he said his home was in Schenectady, N. Y., while he forgot about being a baker. Yesterday he wanted a chance to make restitution to Graham and asked that the Tremont house be called up in order that a man named Marshall might pay 17 to Graham. He also volunteered the information that Marshall would know him as the man he met in Springfield last Monday with a man named "Razor Jim." The police were unable to locate Marshall.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Grounded on Shoal and the Mate Drowned

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 21.—The coal-laden schooner M. C. Haskell, bound from New York for Rockland, Maine, is a total wreck on Handkerchief shoal, and her mate, Nelson Tausnen, of Rockland, has been drowned. Captain Winfield and the other members of the crew came ashore in their own boats. The vessel ran aground on the shoal late last night at low tide, and when the tide turned she rolled over and sank. A thick haze, which obscured the lights on the shoal was the cause of the disaster.

Captain Winfield stated today that he was working his vessel up over the Shoals last night in a light wind and moderate sea. The atmosphere was so thick that he could make out only one of the lights on the Handkerchief shoals lightship. He also was able to discern Chatham light and endeavored to shape his course by these two. The effort was not successful, however, and the schooner struck on the shoal.

Believing they would have time to save their effects before the vessel changed her position, Capt. Winfield, Mate Tausnen and Steward Olsen went down into the cabin, while the other three members of the crew prepared the boats. With the rising tide, however, the schooner began to roll. The capain and steward hastily ran to the deck, but the mate stayed behing, still thinking he might save something. Suddenly the schooner went over and the sea rushed into the cabin. Tausnen was caught in the trap and was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered. The others succeeded in putting off in their boats.

As the sea was smooth they remained in the vicinity of the wreck until daylight. They were sighted soon after dawn by Capt. Kelley of the Monomoy Point life saving station, who put out to their assistance. The men, however, rowed their own boats to the life saving station, where they remained this forenoon.

Mate Tausnen leaves a widow and five children in Rockland. The other members of the crew were John Doherty, Otto Beck and Aleck Clayford.

It is understood that no attempt will be made to raise the schooner, but that she will be stripped so far as possible. She carried about 40 tons of coal and it is stated here that [illegible] the vessel nor cargo were insured.

The M. C. Haskell was built at Rockland, Maine, in [illegible]. Her net tonnage was 299 and she was 111 feet long, 28 feet in breadth and 11 feet in depth. She was owned in Rockland.

Yellow Jack as It Is Known to Modern Science

THE recent outbreak of yellow fever in New Orleans, although it has not at any time assumed the character of an epidemic, as is the case on the isthmus of Panama, has been sufficiently malefic in its results to cause the gravest apprehension and to stimulate the earnest and most vigorous effort for its suppression. With the history of past visitations of the scourge in mind, the citizens of the regions most exposed to its ravages have been prompt in their measures of resistance. Fortunately the combat against this most dreaded of summer visitors is no longer the unequal struggle it once proved to be. Modern research and improved methods of sanitation have robbed the ancient terror of much of its grewsomeness, but too much that is reminiscent of its horrors still remains.

Medical men have never left off theorizing about the cause of yellow fever since they began to treat it. It was believed by many that it was infectious, a specific miasm carried in the air. Others taught that it was contagious, contracted only by actual contact with substances which had been contaminated by a fever patient. After the search for micro organisms became the fad there were many announcements of the discovery of the fever bacillus, but conservative physicians were inclined to be skoptical. In the summer of 1900 came the first inkling of the true solution. The United States government had undertaken to free Havana from its unsavory reputation for unhealthfulness and as a preliminary Surgeon General Sternberg (now retired) appointed a board to investigate the yellow fever.

The preliminary observation disclosed several significant facts. It was found that nonimmune nurses did not often contract the disease. That seemed to controvert the idea of contagion and infection. Repeated examinations of the blood and excreta of patients showed no signs of the presence of bacteria. That disposed of the microbe theory. Ten years earlier a Cuban physician, Dr. Carlos Finlay of Havana, had propounded the theory that the fever could be carried by a mosquito, the culex (now stegomyia) fasciatus. The board began to experiment with this insect. Eleven persons were permitted to be bitten by these contaminated mosquitoes. From nine there was no result; two had yellow fever. This proved conclusively that the disease could be communicated in that way.

The American board then undertook the test which has become famous. Two experiment houses were built at Quemado, Cuba, one of them called the "infected mosquito building" and the other the "infected clothing building." The former was screened and well ventilated; the other was screened and unventilated. In the former, patients were bitten by infected mosquitoes; in the latter, no mosquitoes were admitted, but the persons submitting themselves to the experiment slept with soiled bedding and clothing direct from the yellow fever hospitals. In thirteen cases where nonimmunes were bitten by mosquitoes which had bitten a fever patient ten contracted the disease. In the other house, although an equal number had slept there several nights, no one became ill.

This discovery, which has since been verified repeatedly at once worked a revolution in the management of the dreaded fever. At Havana a war of extermination against the culex was begun. If the death carrying pest could be abolished, it was evident that the scourge would disappear. If complete extermination were not possible, there still remained the salutary expedient of screening both the patient and the nonimmune person from the presence of the mosquito. This is practically the modern way of dealing with yellow jack. That it has been effectual is proved by the fact that within a few months after mosquito extermination began at Havana the fever disappeared—for the first time in a century and a half.

It is a well authenticated fact that yellow fever has prevailed endemically throughout the West Indies and in certain regions on the Spanish main ever since the discovery of America. Barbados, Jamaica and Cuba suffered epidemics before the middle of the seventeenth century. There were outbreaks of the pest in Philadelphia, Charleston and Boston as early as 1692, and for a hundred years afterward there were occasional eruptions, culminating in the famous Philadelphia epidemic of 1793. Most northern cities were able by extraordinary sanitary and quarantine measures to prevent great epidemics, at least after the beginning of the nineteenth century, but the disease crept in from the West Indies now and then and raged epidemically in the southern towns.

Although it has been the habit of certain medical authorities, especially those of foreign countries, to describe yellow fever as a disease which originated on the western continent, there is excellent ground for dissent. It is well known to medical historians that at the time when the plague first appeared in the West Indies and at various points in South and Central America a similar disease raged violently on the west coast of Africa, in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean and in India. Of course its wide distribution at the time it was first classified as a distinct disease would not militate against the theory of its American origin, but it is also an undeniable fact that outbreaks of the disorder occurred in the lagoons of Africa long before the discovery of the American continent.

Once accepting the theory that yellow fever is of African origin, it is not difficult to explain its transplantation to America. It is one of the baneful legacies bequeathed by the slave trade. The slave dealers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries often lost from one-half to two-thirds of their cargo during the voyage from a mysterious fever which broke out suddenly in the filthy holds of the overcrowded ships, and this complaint, formerly denominated African, or ship, fever, is now believed to have been yellow fever. Whenever it appeared among the hapless and terrified wretches packed in the middle decks of the slavers it made the most frightful ravages, and, as a rule, the crews of the vessels suffered equally with the slaves. More than once in the history of the slave trade ships were found adrift at sea, the holds filled with dead blacks, while the white crews were either dead or stricken with the fever.

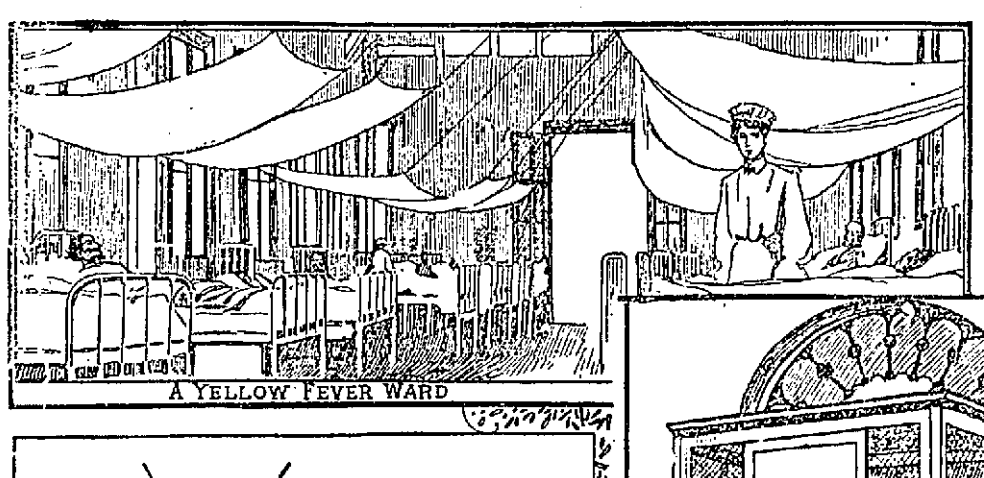

Even in those remote days it was suspected that the plague was in some way connected with yellow fever. It was observed that the latter sickness occurred almost always at ports in which a returned slaver had just discharged her cargo. It is not difficult in the light of present knowledge to trace the course of yellow fever in tropical countries, and whenever sufficient and unprejudiced investigation has been made it has been found that the disease has followed the slave trade. In the interior towns of Mexico, Central America and in the Spanish settlements on the South American continent it not infrequently prevailed after the arrival of a shipload of African slaves, and its appearance in subtropical Europe may be referred to the same cause. Its earliest recorded appearance as a pestilence on the continent of Europe was in the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean, whence it spread to the cities of the Levant, along the Red sea and finally to India. In the latter country it found congenial surroundings and obtained so firm a foothold that it is still well established in the crowded Hindoo cities.

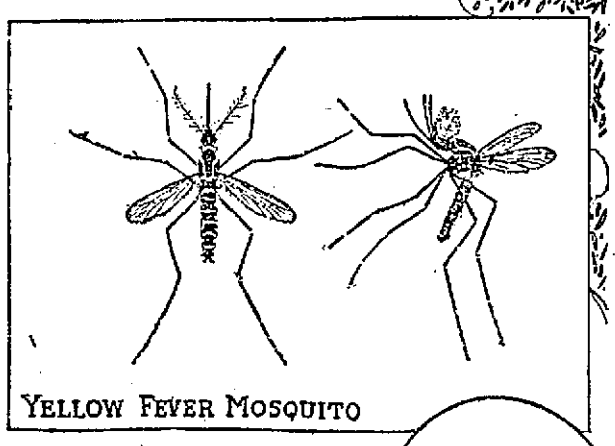

In the seventeenth century the slave trade was regarded as a perfectly legitimate business, followed by the shipowners of every maritime nation, but especially by the Spanish, then the leading seafaring people. Wherever the slavers went they spread slavery and pestilence, and, since they sailed as far east as Calcutta, the disease became established in the equatorial zone around the entire globe. Confined to the torrid zone, the evil would still have been bad enough, but it soon made its way to other quarters of the world. In 1699 a vessel which had landed a cargo of slaves on the Virginia coast went on to Philadelphia to refit. While there the ship was cleaned thoroughly, a large quantity of very offensive bilge water which was in the hold being pumped into the stagnant pool in which the vessel was lying. Three days later several carpenters employed in the shipyard adjacent were taken violently ill. Soon afterward nearly every sailor on the ship and most of those who worked in the shipyard near by were prostrated by a complaint which was recognized by competent physicians as identical with the fever prevalent on slave ships. Within a week the pestilence was epidemic in the city. Philadelphia's prominence as a port led to several subsequent scourges of the pest, and in every case it seemed to originate either from a slave ship or from a vessel coming direct from a southern port.

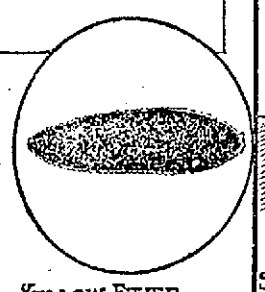

In 1762 several thousand persons died during an epidemic of yellow fever in the Quaker City, and there were subsequent destructive visitations in 1793, 1797 and 1802. The great plague of 1793 really began in New York and spread over most of the United States during that and the following season. The worst experience southern Europe ever had with the fever began at Gibraltar in 1804. A slave ship with the disease on board was encountered by a British merchantman at sea off the Gibraltar strait, and as there were not enough well men on board to manage the ship the captain of the English vessel sent several sailors aboard the slaver and advised its master to put in at Gibraltar. The slaver did so. The slaves were landed, the ship was cleaned, and a few days later the fever was in full blast among the soldiers of the garrison. Over a thousand soldiers died of the complaint and thrice that number of civilians. Many fled, and the contagion was spread among the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean. In the following summer it made its appearance at Genoa and a few weeks later at Naples, where over 7,000 fatal cases occurred. Thence the malady made its way along the Italian and Grecian coasts to Constantinople, where it found congenial soil. The ports of the orient were each stricken in turn, and the scourge followed the pilgrim route down the Red sea to Mecca. Returning pilgrims bore it with them to India, and the great epidemic followed.

During the past century the visits of the dreaded disease to the United States were numerous. New Orleans has been the chief sufferer. Epidemics of yellow fever prevailed there in 1847, 1853, 1855, 1858, 1867, 1873 and 1879. The visitation of 1853 was the most deadly, over 8,000 victims having fallen. The experience of Memphis in 1878 and 1879 is still recalled with horror. During the first season of the pest there were 5,160 deaths, and during the second, although the town was almost deserted, there were several hundred more. This pestilence of 1878 was the most destructive of any ever experienced in the United States, 65,976 cases having been reported and 14,800 deaths. During the civil war there was scarcely a case among the Union troops in the south, although it was freely predicted that the forces in the gulf region would be annihilated by the disease. When New Orleans was occupied by General Butler many persons regarded the destruction of his army as practically certain. He began immediately to put the city in a good sanitary condition, detailing squads of his men to clean the streets and sewers. As a result there was not a single case of well marked yellow fever in New Orleans during the Union occupation.

PALMERS WON IT

Played Too Well for Centralville Blues

Barring the first two innings the Centralville Blues and the Palmers played a magnificent game of ball on the South common, Saturday afternoon, delighting a large attendance. The Palmers played At baseball all through finishing out nine innings with a clean error column. But the Blues started out like a crowd of school boys and lost the game in the first inning. It looked like a shut out until the final inning when Regan cared up some and the Blues pulled off three runs.

Joe Cronin, the North common twirler, officiated on the slab for the Blues and he pitched an excellent game though he received very rocky support at times.

Of the five hits off his delivery Lynch, a Centralville youngster, who has lately joined the ranks of the Palmers, connected with two singles. Qualey, Guthrie and Maguire were the only other Palmers who had a safety.

Ryan's pitching while not quite up to the standard he is capable of, was good, his faculty of keeping the hits scattered preventing the Blues from scoring until the ninth inning.

In the seventh inning Lyons was hit in the head by one of Cronin's swift inshoots and while he was knocked out, he continued in the game somewhat under difficulties. Nixie Coughlin umpired and while some of his decisions appeared off color he treated both sides alike in this respect. The score:

BAUER'S WONDERS

DEFEATED McCARTHY'S KIDS AT SULLIVAN'S PARK.

Saturday afternoon Bauer's Wonders and McCarthy's Kids, two teams from the Appleton mills, representing the card room and the cloth hall respectively, played an interesting game, the Wonders whipping their opponents by the score of 12 to 6. As Mr. Howard says, it was a "foine" day for a ball game; yes, and the card room boys certainly did "rub it in" to the "white collar" boys. "Tommy" Hickey was the star of the game. The spectators say they never saw such an exhibition of base running, timely hitting and snappy fielding as given by the fleetfooted second baseman of the card room team. Howard Fralick pitched a masterly game for the victors. Coughlin also played a star game. For the losers, Cavanaugh and Carey played a star game, Cavanaugh's fielding was especially noticeable. Mr. Maguire, the genial manager of the card room boys, will not be able to speak for a few days, as he yelled himself hoarse for his team. Mr. G. Albert Murphy officiated as umpire to the satisfaction of everybody present, and "Chris," the loyal rooter for Bauer's Wonders, was "right there with the cherries" at all times. After the game the following literary program was carried out:

THE CHAMPION

EDDIE FARRELL SAYS A FEW THINGS ABOUT TICKET TAKING.

Eddie Farrell, champion ticket taker called at The Sun office today and said that he wants it understood that he still lays claim to the championship title.

"This man Smith who took tickets at the Y. M. C. I. party was with the wild west show for a few years," said Eddie, "and that is why his friends think he can best me. Now I would like to ask Mr. Smith and his friends a few questions about ticket taking that they probably never heard of before. Can Mr. Smith take tickets in the dark, and does he know how to distinguish between good and bad tickets by feeling of them? Again, what is the largest crowd ever handled, and does he have to give out checks to people who want to leave the grounds for a while and then return? Because he was with the wild west show does not make him a champion. Let him make a reputation here before he makes any claim to the title. Mr. Murray, the advance man for Ringling Brothers' circus, wanted to engage me as ticket taker and met me at Dick Griffiths' store, but he refused to pay me my price, which was $30 a week and expenses. This man Smith probably got $10 a week with the wild west show. I want to meet Smith or any of his friends and talk this matter over with them and they will find that Eddie Farrell, the only champion ticket taker, is no quitter."

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Letters to intimate friends yesterday from Signora Julia Bimboni announced the death in Florence, Italy, on Aug. 4, of her husband, Signor Oreste Bimboni, the noted conductor of grand opera, and for the past four years director of the school of opera of the New England Conservatory of Music in this city.

WALSH KILLED

Several Other Society People Injured

AUTO PLUNGED OVER A BRIDGE

The Accident Shocked Newport Society

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—Vinson Walsh, son of Thomas F. Walsh of Washington, was killed and four other prominent young members of the Newport summer colony were injured in an automobile accident here Saturday afternoon. The injured include Mrs. James L. Kernochan of Hempstead, L. I.; Harry Oelrichs, son of Charles M. Oelrichs of Newport and New York; Herbert Pell, Jr., son of Herbert Pell of New York, and Miss Evelyn Walsh, sister of the man who was killed. It is believed that all the injured will recover. The automobile, which was driven by young Walsh, struck the railing of a bridge spanning a creek near Eastern Point, and plunged into the water.

The accident was witnessed by other automobilists, who succeeded in rescuing the five occupants of the Walsh machine, not, however, without great difficulty, due to the fact that all the members of the party were lying underneath the heavy car. The water in the creek was not deep, and to this circumstance is due, in part, the rescue.

Walsh, who was about 18 years of age, died shortly after he was taken from the water.

As the automobile crashed over the bridge he was struck on the head by an iron beam.

Miss Walsh's injuries consist of several bruises and a fracture of the right hip. Mr. Oelrichs and Mr. Pell were severely bruised and Mrs. Kernochan was cut and received bruises about the body.

FOR REVERE

ANOTHER WEEK OF EXCURSIONS PLANNED.

All aboard for Revere beach! Never before in the history of this well known resort was it so popular as the present time. Everyone during the present warm weather is flocking to some place where it is cool, and surely no finer place could be found on the Atlantic coast than Revere beach. Here one may enjoy the fresh ocean breezes. One may walk for several miles along the shore and not tire of the great stretch of sand and broad expanse of water, with here and there a sail boat or steamer plying back and forth in the distance to some other summer resort, which abounds in this section. Winthrop may also be seen, as well as the rugged shores of Nahant.

Formerly the visitors to the beach were mostly from Boston and suburbs, the people of this city fearing that it was too far and not being thoroughly familiar with the route, did not venture to take such a long trip alone. The Boston & Northern street railway has made this possible, and for the past few weeks have been running special cars with reserved seats right through to Revere beach without change. Every day these excursions are growing more popular, and it is estimated that about 3000 people have been carried on these trips so far, to the seashore resorts from the Merrimack valley alone. These special trips do away with the usual crush and jam which is always so noticeable on the cars to any popular resort, and the street railway company fully realizes that the public appreciates its endeavors to give the best service possible.

At the beach, as most everyone knows, there are numerous and interesting attractions. Surf bathing is always in full sway. On the boulevard may be found dance halls, theatres, merry-go-rounds, roller coasters, in fact, shows of all kinds and description. To more fully popularize these excursions, everyone who buys a round trip ticket will be given, free, a ticket to some one of the following amusements: Mammoth museum and theatre, roller coaster, boulevard toboggan slide, rough riders, nautical gardens, comprising the pit, air-ship and pergola, palace merry-go-round and darkness and dawn. It will be a matter of chance which ticket is received, but whichever it is, the holder will surely derive a great deal of fun, as each one is a great attraction for young and old alike, none of which could be beat.

Weather permitting, the following schedule will be carried out this week:

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m., for Revere beach, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m. on Tuesday.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach, on Wednesday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 1.45 p. m. for Revere beach on Thursday, returning from the beach at 8.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 7.45 on Friday for Paragon Park, returning from the park at 5.40 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach on Friday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

RACE OFF

OWNERS FAILED TO POST THE MONEY.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The special $15,000 match between Audubon Boy, Ecstatic and Belle Mc., which was scheduled for Readville next Tuesday, has been declared off by J. Y. Gatcomb, owner of Audubon Boy, who in a letter to the Boston papers yesterday declared that the owners of the other horses failed to post $4000 each last Friday and that the $3000 forfeit has been paid him by the stake holder.

PHOTOS TAKEN

TO BE USED IN MURDER TRIAL

Photographs of the interior and exterior of the Middlesex street station were taken, yesterday noon, by Mr. Leith of the Crown studio, under the direction of Supt. Moffatt, and they will be used as evidence in connection with the prosecution of George F. Morris charged with murder of Mrs. Jennie Spalding.

Morris has informed his counsel, James F. Owens, that Dr. Nickerson has given him the best of treatment and that those in charge of him have looked after his condition with greatest care. His wound is still painful but in as good condition as could be expected. A story reached him to the effect that it had been published that his arm was in a bad way due to neglect of the wound and he asked his counsel to deny any such report.

FROM LAWRENCE

FOUR SMALL BOYS FOUND WANDERING HERE.

Four small boys aged from 10 to 12 started out from Lawrence yesterday and walked to this city. Upon arriving here they were "all in" and were taken to the police station. Lieut. Brosnan telephoned to Supt. Lees and the latter quickly agreed to pass them back to their home city and they all braced up at the prospect of a free ride home.

MEN'S BRIGADE

Made Trip to Nashua by Boat

The Men's Brigade of the First Primitive Methodist church went to Nashua on the steamer Gov. Allen, Saturday afternoon, and had a jolly old time. The weather was perfect and the sail inspiring. The boat left the Pawtucket wharf at 4.20 and there were about 120 on board. A phonograph was in operation on the upper deck and the latest airs traveled across the river and re-echoed on either shore, from the lower deck.

At almost every camp along the river the brigade was cheered and the demonstration on the part of the campers was returned three-fold by the excursionists. Refreshments were served and the pleasure of the trip was all that could be desired.

The party remained in Nashua about two hours and visited points of interest in that city. The party left Nashua at 8.10 and the home trip was thoroughly enjoyed. The committee in charge was: Messrs. Sutcliffe, general manager; refreshments, Frank Ecclestrone, E. W. Stark, George Bartlett, James Wood; tonic and ice cream, J. W. Foster; coffee, Joseph Maden; tickets, Fred Potter and J. W. Foster.

Old Orchard excursion Thursday, August 24th. $1.50 is the round trip rate, via the Boston & Maine R. R.

7000 TO STRIKE

Push Cart Peddlers Have a Grievance

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A strike of 7000 push cart peddlers hangs over the East Side because only half the number, all members of an association, can obtain licenses and the rest are liable to arrest and a fine when they pursue their calling.

The peddlers say they are discriminated against by the police and all the city authorities. The trouble appears to hinge on the fact that only a certain number of licenses can be issued and the peddlers claim at least 1500 storekeepers in the crowded tenement districts have licenses which should go to the street venders. As the latter supply perishable foodstuffs to thousands a strike would be serious.

ESTABLISHED 1878 LOWELL MASS. MONDAY AUGUST 21 1905 8 PAGES ONE CENT

THE CENSUS

Figures Give Lowell a Population of 94,845

The Result is a Great Disappointment to Everybody—The Figures are Questioned by Many—The Gain for the Decade is 10,478—Number of Males is 44,850 and Females 49,995—A Loss of 124 Since 1900

Lowell's population is 94,845.

This announcement was received at The Sun office this afternoon from the Bureau of Statistics of Labor at the state house, and is official.

The news will be a great disappointment to the majority in Lowell and elsewhere, and the figures are questioned by many.

The population in 1895 was 84,367, so that in ten years Lowell has made an increase of 10,478 in the number of human souls within her walls.

AN OFFICIAL AT CITY HALL WAS SEEN BY A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SUN AT CITY HALL AND HE WAS ASTOUNDED BY THE FIGURES GIVEN OUT FROM THE STATE HOUSE. HE EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT A MISTAKE HAS BEEN MADE.

"I THOUGHT," HE SAID, "THAT THE CENSUS WOULD GIVE LOWELL A POPULATION OF AT LEAST 104,000, AND I AM PERFECTLY ASTOUNDED."

"I CERTAINLY BELIEVE THAT A MISTAKE HAS BEEN MADE. AT THE OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH IT WAS BELIEVED THAT THE POPULATION WAS IN THE VICINITY OF 104,000, AND EVERYBODY WILL BE SURPRISED AT THE POOR SHOWING THAT LOWELL HAS MADE IN TEN YEARS.

THE FIGURES OF THE ENUMERATORS AS RECEIVED AT THE STATE HOUSE SHOW 44,850 MALES AND 49,995 FEMALES. THE REPORT OF WARDS WAS AS FOLLOWS:

WARD 1	7,961	WARD 6	11,586
WARD 2	9,471	WARD 7	17,692
WARD 3	9427	WARD 8	10,832
WARD 4	9,722	WARD 9	9,888
WARD 5	8,266

ACCORDING TO THE FIGURES OF THE ENUMERATORS LOWELL HAS LOST IN POPULATION 124 SINCE 1900.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE GIVES THE POPULATION OF LOWELL IN THE YEARS HEREIN MENTIONED—

1875	49,656	1895	84,367
1880	59,475	1900	94,969
1885	64,107	1905	94,845
1890	77,696

MAYOR CASEY ASTONISHED.

MAYOR CASEY WAS NOTIFIED OF THE CENSUS BY A REPORTER OF THE SUN, AND UPON LEARNING THE FIGURES SAID: "I CAN'T UNDERSTAND THESE FIGURES. THERE SURELY MUST BE SOME MISTAKE IN THOSE FIGURES. WHY, I AM CONFIDENT THAT OUR POPULATION IS GREATER THAN THAT."

AGENT KNAPP'S VIEWS.

THE BOARDS OF HEALTH OF THE STATE ESTIMATE THE POPULATION OF DIFFERENT CITIES BY KEEPING TRACK OF THE BIRTHS AND DEATHS AND GIVE LOWELL AN ESTIMATED POPULATION OF 104,000.

WHEN MR. KNAPP OF THE LOCAL BOARD WAS NOTIFIED OF THE FIGURES BY A REPORTER OF THE SUN HE SAID: "I SHOULD SAY THERE IS SOME MISTAKE IN THOSE FIGURES. THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE STATE BOARD'S ESTIMATE AND THOSE FIGURES SEEMS TO BE TOO GREAT TO BE ACCURATE. I FEEL POSITIVE THAT THE FIGURES SHOULD SHOW AN INCREASE."

LOAN IS VETOED

Mayor Says That Loss Money Will Do

Mayor Casey today vetoed the $35,000 loan order for the street department. The mayor takes this position after a careful and exhaustive examination of the finances of the street department.

He will recommend to the city council the substitution of a loan order calling for an appropriation of $27,500. The mayor has had several conferences with Superintendent Morse relative to the $35,000 loan. Mr. Morse estimated his pay roll for the remainder of the year and finds that barring snow storms, in December, it will be possible for him to run his department with the same number of men that are now employed.

"This additional appropriation," said the mayor today, "is not unusual. Last year an extra appropriation of $13,000 was voted the street department."

The expense of removing the snow last winter amounted to $31,000 and that was an expense that could not be seen or provided for at the beginning of the year, consequently it is difficult for the street department to keep within an appropriation that depends more or less on winter storms."

The substitute order calls for $7500 less than the original order.

WATSON TIRED

WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION.

Councilor Walter S. Watson has registered with those who have tired of politics. Not only has Mr. Watson tired of politics but his business demands his constant attention. He will not be a candidate for re-election.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

A. G. Dewar has withdrawn from the firm of Noyes & Dewar Co., and closed an engagement with the Eagle Credit Clothing House, 150 to 152 Middlesex street (the oldest credit clothing house in Lowell), where he hopes to have the pleasure of seeing all his old customers and friends during the coming season. It is hardly necessary to state, that you will receive the same courteous treatment there, as he has always shown you in the past. He also states that though his name will remain over the door at 152 Middlesex street, it is in name only, for his interests now are all centred on the opposite side of the street, at 150 to 152. Do not forget the number or to call.

SALOON FIGHT

LED UP TO A SHOOTING AFFRAY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—A man known in Secaucus, N. J., as Charles Roscoe and who gave his name at the North Hudson hospital in Union Hill as William Bogart, was shot in the face at 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning by a man with whom he had a quarrel in Lieb's Hotel, Secaucus, a short time before.

According to a statement made by Herman Feillef to Recorder Samuel A. Churchill, the man who blazed away at Roscoe with a shotgun was Henry Wyrauch, a driver, formerly employed by the United States Express company. The Recordor said last night that Roscoe found fault with Wyrauch in the barroom because Wyrauch spoke in disrespectful terms of his own father, who was present.

The proprietor put a stop to the quarrel which ensued and all hands left, Roscoe walking toward home with Feillef. Wyrauch had preceded them. When the men reached Fifth and Front streets, near Wyrauch's home, the latter, according to Feillef, appeared at the roadside with a double barrelled shotgun. He fired both barrels and Roscoe dropped in the road with his face filled with birdshot. The man who did the shooting took to his heels and escaped in the darkness.

Roscoe was picked up by his friend and taken to the North Hudson hospital. It was said last night that his condition is critical. If he gets well he will lose his eyesight. He was attended by Dr. Emil J. Walscheid.

Recorder Churchill said last night he had received word that Wyrauch had been arrested in New York.

HUSBAND'S CRIME

Killed His Wife and Committed Suicide

BROCKTON, MASS., AUG. 21.—TWO LETTERS WRITTEN BY JAMES W. CRAWFORD, A SHOEMAKER, SAYING THAT HE INTENDED TO MURDER HIS WIFE AND THEN KILL HIMSELF, WERE RECEIVED TODAY, TOO LATE TO PREVENT A TRAGEDY, FOR BEFORE A BROCKTON PHYSICIAN AND AN AUBURNDALE RELATIVE COULD ARRIVE AT THE CRAWFORD HOME THE SHOEMAKER HAD FULFILLED HIS THREAT.

WITH A RAZOR AND A BUTCHER KNIFE HE HAD CUT HIS WIFE'S NECK, ALMOST SEVERING THE HEAD FROM THE BODY, AND THEN DISFIGURED THE WOMAN'S FACE SO THAT SHE WAS ALMOST UNRECOGNIZABLE. HE THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE BY CUTTING HIS OWN THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

THE MURDERER, WHO WAS 53 YEARS OF AGE, LEFT A NOTE DECLARING THAT THE CRIME WAS DUE TO JEALOUSY.

SPILLANE'S NAME

Mayor Casey has withdrawn the appointment of James J. Spillane to the board of health and while it has not yet been officially announced it is believed that the mayor will appoint Dr. Thomas F. Carroll in Mr. Spillane's stead.

Speaking of the withdrawal of Mr. Spillane's name, the mayor said: "The appointment of Mr. Spillane has been pending before the board of aldermen for three or four months and he has been given a fair opportunity to be confirmed.

"I think it unnecessary that his name should longer remain upon the table in the board of aldermen for consideration. I appointed Mr. Spillane because I considered him a clean and capable man and one who would fill, creditably, a position on the board of health."

NINE STAB WOUNDS

Christafaro Distafaro was stabbed nine times in Collinsville yesterday afternoon. The cutting took place about 5.30 and the alleged assailant made his escape. The victim was removed to St. John's hospital where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Fred Murphy and Dr. Craig and later he was allowed to go to his home.

Distafaro with a number of other Italians is employed by the Boston & Northern road in construction work in Collinsville and yesterday there was a dispute over some money alleged to have been owed to Distafaro by another Italian. Distafaro wanted the debt paid and an argument followed, during which the former was stabbed with a sharp knife. The wounds are not regarded as serious. After being cut Distafaro made his way to Kings corner where he was found two hours later by some other Italians.

STEALING HENS

Thieves Are Busy in Tyngsboro

Hen thieves are operating in country towns and along the country roads and the Lowell police are assisting the country constables in ferreting out a clue to the thieves.

Waldo Cummings who lives on the Dunstable road in Tyngsboro lost forty hens last Friday night. Mr. Cummings says the thieves took everything in sight except the roosts.

Officer Ben Lawrence of Tyngsboro was notified of Mr. Cummings' loss and started out to corrall the thieves. He consulted with the Lowell police and went to work on the case Saturday morning.

Mr. Lawrence did not catch the thieves but he is satisfied that the thieves had a team and a certain rag peddler who lives in Lowell is under suspicion. The rag peddler will be asked to answer a few hard-shell questions.

The occupants of the house protested vigorously against the seizure, all claiming to have a joint interest in the keg while it was next to impossible to discern just what one was responsible.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Ferdinand Letot, aged 30 years, was found dead in his room at a boarding house at 50 Lee street this morning, death being due to asphyxiation by gas. The only gas cock in the room was wide open and the room was filled with gas. Whether the deceased committed suicide or was the victim of an accident is not known. The man, however, was a drinking man and in all probability death was due to accident.

Letot was employed in the card room of the Moore mill at North Chelmsford and generally arose about 5.30 in the morning. He was usually called by the landlady of the house, Mrs. Jane Champagne, but as he did not take any of his meals in the house little or no attention was paid as to when he went out, and many times he went out without being noticed by any of the occupants of the house.

He cooked his own meals in his room and had done so since he came to the house last April. He had very little to say to any of the other boarders or lodgers and when in the house was generally confined to his room.

Shortly before 7.30 o'clock this morning a strong odor of gas was detected in the hallway on the floor where his room was located and an investigation showed that the odor came from Letot's room. An attempt to open the door was made, but it was locked on the inside.

Napoleon L'Hereux, a young man who resides in the house, was sent up to try one of the windows of the room but found the windows locked also. By removing a pane of glass, however, he was able to open the window and upon entering the room found Letot's body lying on the floor near the bed. The man had a portion of his clothing on and the room was filled with gas.

A hasty examination showed that the man was dead and had been dead for a number of hours. The gas cock on the hanger on the side wall was turned on full force, while all of the windows and the door were locked.

The last seen of Letot by any of the occupants of the house was late Saturday night, when he entered, and whether or not he left the room after that time is not known. It would seem, however, that the gas had not been turned on until sometime last night or this morning, or else some of the people in the house would have detected the odor.

There was nothing so far as known that would cause him to end his life and owing to the fact that he was a drinking man death undoubtedly was due to accident.

He was a widower but he had no children, and worked every day.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Joseph A. Albert.

SAVED BOY'S LIFE

Mr. Sullivan and Dr. O'Hearn Did Good Work

There was great excitement on the banks of the Concord river at Andover street for about an hour this morning.

It was all caused by the note of alarm that a boy had fallen into the water and disappeared.

Michael Sullivan, the barber, was the first to respond and he lost no time in jumping in where the boy went down. He found the lad on the bottom apparently dead and brought him to the bank.

At that moment Officer Crowley was keeping back the crowd and called in Dr. O'Hearn, who happened to be passing.

The boy's mother appeared and added to the excitement by a frantic outbreak of sorrow when she saw her child as she thought dead. An hour's hard work by Dr. O'Hearn and Officer Crowley restored respiration and the mother's sorrow was relieved as gradually the signs of life became visible. Had the lad been in the water one minute or even half a minute longer the doctor thought, resuscitation would have been impossible.

Mr. Sullivan deserves great praise for his prompt action.

Mad Rush From Man Who Threatened to Murder

"Where is he? Where is the ——till I fill him full of bullets" Show me him till I kill him," cried William J. Mynan, as he rushed drunk and wild-eyed into the Middlesex street depot, yesterday afternoon screaming at the top of his voice.

In less time than it takes to relate it the big waiting room was emptied and the Murderous Mynan had the place to himself. There were several persons in the waiting room at the time but they flew for the doors in a mad rush when they heard the cries and got one look at the face of the crier.

Mynan certainly looked murderous and his appearance hadn't improved any when he appeared in court this morning.

While he was tearing through the waiting room Ticket Agent Corcoran went in and told him to get out and he did continuing his wild talk on the platform.

Officer Cawley came along and started to place him under arrest.

"Hold on there, Cawley," cried Mynan, "I know you and I know Webster. You fellows arrested Morris all right, but you can't get me as easy as you did him."

Then the pair had a mixup which resulted in Mynan going down and out.

In police court this morning he pleaded not guilty and Officer Cawley related the circumstances of the case, adding that he thought that Mynan had been reading about the Morris case and when his mind became inflamed that was all he could think of.

"Speak up I can't hear what you're saying," yelled Mynan from the cage at the officer.

The officer repeated his story whereupon Mynan cried out: "Who was I going to shoot?"

"I don't know," replied the officer.

"I guess you don't," replied Mynan.

"What did you mean by these threats?" asked Judge Hadley.

"Why nothing, I was just drunk that was all," answered Mynan with a grin.

"Have you work?" asked the court.

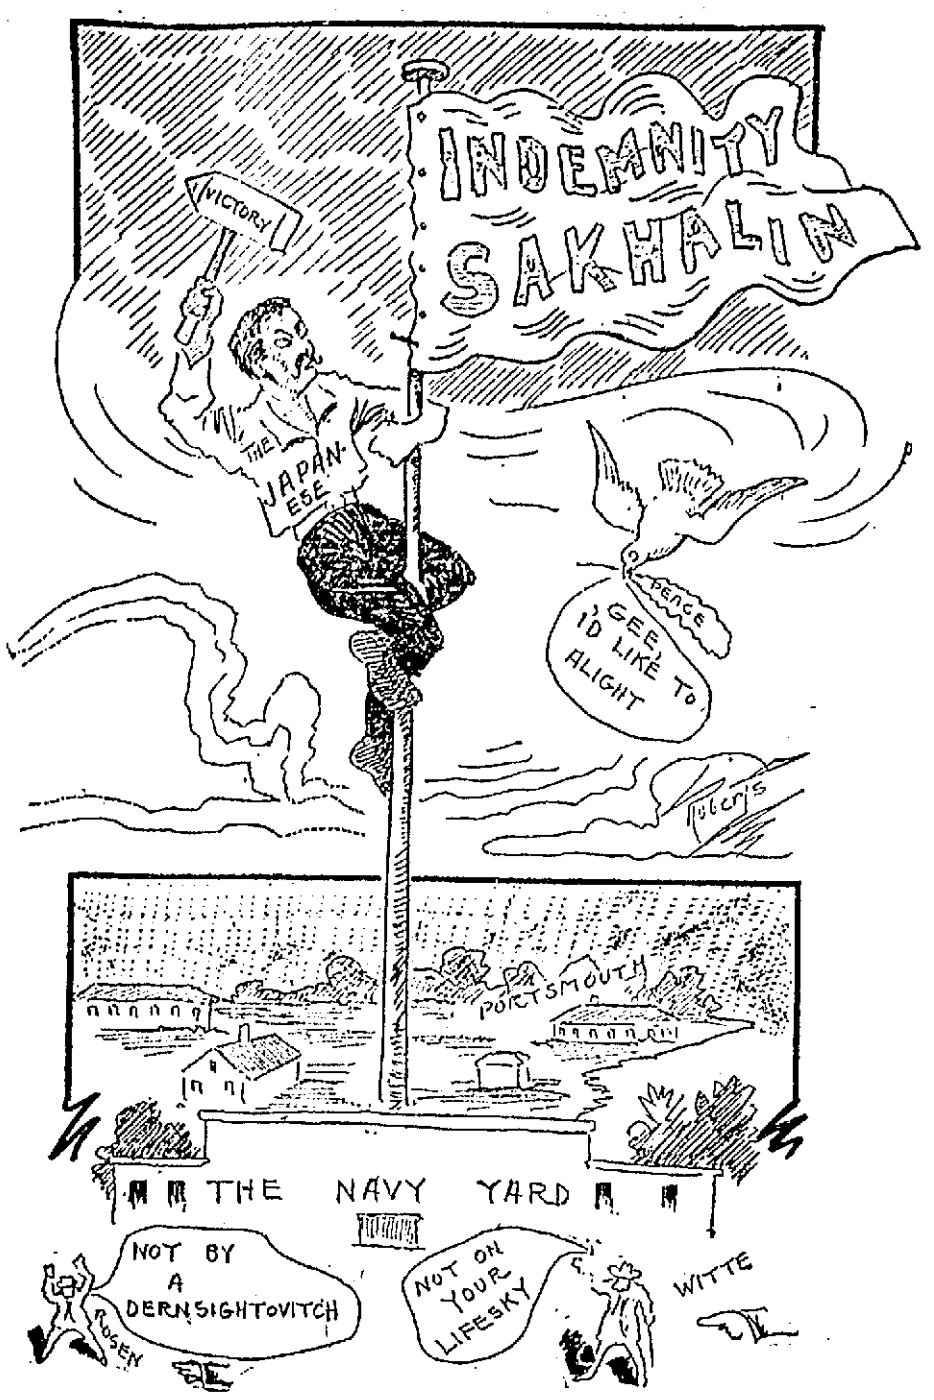

"Sure. Up at Tyngsboro," replied Mynan.

"Where is your home?"

"Wherever I happen to work," said Mynan with another grin.

"Send him to the state farm," said the court.

"I'eal it," promptly said Mynan, but later he withdrew the appeal and took the sentence. When arrested Mynan hadn't a weapon of any description on his person but, nevertheless, his remarks caused an instantaneous panic in the depot.

BANK IS CLOSED

Its Capital Was Badly Impaired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The doors of the Western National bank of Louisville, Ky., were closed this morning by order of the comptroller of the currency.

A statement issued by the acting comptroller of the currency says:

"An examination of the bank by Bank Examiner Garrett showed that its capital was badly impaired by losses. Steady withdrawals have been made for several days and as there were not sufficient funds on hand or immediate available to meet further demands likely to be made by depositors and other creditors the acting comptroller directed the bank to be closed in order to protect the interests of all creditors alike, and prevent those having knowledge of the conditions securing preference over those without this knowledge.

"Thomas A. Thornton has been appointed receiver.

"The Western National bank is comparatively a new association having been chartered October 29, 1901, to succeed the Western bank of Louisville. W. B. Smith was president and L. L. Jefferson cashier of the bank."

EVANS CASE

EVIDENCE FOR THE GOVERNMENT IS ALL IN.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Aug. 21.—The government rested today in the case of Joseph Evans who is charged with killing George L. Fraser, a private detective, when the latter entered Evans' home on the night of August 2. The defense called as its first witness Mrs. Gertrude Barber, formerly of Woonsocket, R. I., who lived at the Evans house and who was present in the dwelling when the shooting occurred. Mrs. Barber said that she was not in the room where the shooting took place. The defense will resume tomorrow.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Traffic Will be Delayed Again

The work of paving Centralville bridge is progressing rapidly, and one-half of the bridge is completed at the present time, though traffic over the bridge during the present week will be retarded more so than at any time since the work was begun.

For the past several weeks the local electric cars which passed over the the bridge were compelled to use one rail, but the work of laying the paving blocks on both rails was completed yesterday and the operation of cars on both lines was resumed.

This morning that portion of the bridge used as the main driveway was torn up and vehicles and cars now have to use the narrow space occupied by the two rails. Owing to the fact that a guard rail has been built flush against the inward bound rail the cars are using but one rail at the present time and the space for traffic is much smaller than at any time since the work was commenced.

THE GRAND JURY

Alderman Linehan and more than two score witnesses have been summoned to appear before the grand jury.

JIMMY GARDNER

Is Picked to Defeat BuddyRyan

The Boston Herald today says:

From now until Labor day there will be little doing in the boxing line. There are, of course, some fights billed in the interim, but little of importance and a close scanning of the pugilistic field brings to view little of importance within that time, aside from the Jimmy Gardner-"Buddy" Ryan fight, which will take place next Friday night in Colma.

Though the fight is of nearly national importance, it is special interest to easterners, and more especially to those in this vicinity, for upon its outcome will depend the success or failure of Gardner in the roped arena. If Jimmy whips Ryan, and there is every reason in the world to believe he will, then, of course, he will be next in line for the lightweight championship of the world, as it leaves none but the mighty Joe Gans in the way for the leading title.

Gardner's friends are already laying wires for the meeting of the two, but are going about it noiselessly, for Jimmy has yet to whip Ryan, and a defeat by this hard hitter will put Jimmy's chances and hopes for the present safely in the hold of the dream ship. But on the supposition that Gardner will whip Ryan, there is lots of work going on under cover and it is safe to say that Gans will have to meet Gardner if the latter whips Ryan.

The Chicago smasher is perhaps as near the welterweight title as any one in this country since Joe Walcott was forced to quit the ring. Ryan has met and whipped the best men in his class, men of no less ability than Billy Melody of Charlestown. Three times this pair have met and the very best that the Charlestown lad could do was to get a draw, once losing by being knocked out. But even considering this, Gardner has no fears in meeting Ryan, for the latter fights just the way Jimmy likes to have his opponent work and it is safe betting that when a man rushes Gardner in the ring he is going to be whipped. Gardner is a smooth, cleanworking fighter. He blocks in such a manner that it is almost impossible for a man to land on him, and from his position in cover can send across the knockout punch.

Ryan, on the other hand, is a fearless hard hitting fighter, who rushes like a maddened bull and seems willing to take a punch in order to land. But if he starts rushing Gardner his work in the ring Friday night will be of short duration, and when Buddy comes to he will be a sadder but a wiser boy. The weight, 142 pounds, just suits the Lowell lad, for it will give him just beef enough to stand a long game if it becomes necessary. In fact, Jimmy should be a pronounced favorite before the fight.

Some of Gardner's friends, in fact, can see nothing in the way now of a meeting with Jimmy Britt. This is out of the question as Gardner is much too heavy for the San Francisco wise man. The only chance of ever getting a meeting between Gardner and Briss will be in having them meet at catch weights, a thing which Britt is not likely to agree to, as he well understands Gardner's worth.

In meeting Gans, Gardner will go against a far different game from any he has ever tackled. In fact, Jimmy is in no hurry to arrange a meeting with Gans, for Gans is probably Gardner's master in the ring, although Gardner would give Gans a terrible battle.

PATIENT'S HEART IS ON RIGHT SIDE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 21.—When Malcolm Rose, a landscape gardner, was placed on the operating table at the County hospital here today to undergo an operation for the removal of a growth on his neck, it was discovered by the surgeons that the patient's heart instead of being in normal position on the left side of the body, was located on the right side nearly six inches from its proper place. The organ in every way, however, appeared normal. It evidently had been in that position from birth.

KILLED HIMSELF

MAN FIRST SHOT HIS HALF SISTER.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 21.—B. M. Bebe, a cement finisher, today shot and almost instantly killed his half sister, Miss Lottie Bebe, fired four shots at another sister which failed of their mark, then killed himself because he objected to his sister accepting attentions from young men.

WAS ILLEGAL

CHURCH DECIDES THE ROSPIGLIOSI MARRIAGE.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 21.—It may be authoritatively stated that the much-discussed Rospigliosi case is finally settled—that it will not be reopened.

The Princess Rospigliosi, who was Miss Mary Reid of Bangor, Me., was married in 1887, under a dispensation from the Vatican, to Colonel Parkhurst, and the dispensation is recorded in the cathedral.

Later they were divorced and subsequently she and Prince Rospigliosi went through a form of marriage. It was this form of marriage they recently failed to have validated in Rome on the plea that the proper dispensation had not been granted in the first instance.

Cardinal Gibbons yesterday declared: "Mrs. Parkhurst is said to have alleged that not the proper but another dispensation had been asked. The whole case rests upon this point. The chancery books of Baltimore have always been kept with the greatest care and exactness as to every detail."

BACK TO COURT

Judge Hadley Returns From Europe

STUDIED BELGIUM LUNATIC ASYLUM

Small Docket in Police Court Today

Judge Hadley returned from his European trip whither he was accompanied by Dr Benner, the well known alienist and occupied the bench in police court again this morning. His honor evidently had a most enjoyable trip for there is a marked improvement in his appearance while he spoke enthusiastically of his experiences on the other side. His honor took a new route to the old world this time, going to Montreal and then down the St. Lawrence and across by the south of New Foundland. While in Europe he and Dr. Benner visited the celebrated colony for lunatics at Gheel, Belgium in which Dr. Benner was interested and they found it to be all that had been claimed for it. At Gheel they were the guests of Dr. Peters who has superintended the colony for the past 25 years and has made it the most celebrated place of its kind in the world. There are about 400 sane inhabitants at Gheel and the 200 lunatics there are put out in huts with the peasantry to live as they do and follow the pursuits of the peasantry. The number of permanent cures at Gheel have been greater than at any similar colony in the world.

THE MONDAY GRIST.

Only nine prisoners appeared in the dock this morning. Probation Officer Lyons having released several of them. A few had been bailed. The fines were as usual, $2 and $6, while two Sunday drunks were fined $5 each.

STRUCK A WOMAN

James Maguire went up to hear the band concert on the South Common last evening but he loaded up before going and Officer Cooke seeing him led him to South street and told him to go home. But Maguire didn't go and 20 minutes later Officer Cooke met him again and this time he was in the act of striking a girl in the face knocking her down. Maguire pleaded guilty of drunkenness and assault and battery, but said he had no recollection of the assault. He was fined $5 for the assault and $6 additional for drunkenness.

WAS STAR GAZING.

Daniel J. Ryan pleaded not guilty of drunkenness and Officer Coleman testified that he saw Ryan gazing at the stars and moon at the corner of Merrimack and John streets at 1.30 yesterday morning and delivering all sorts of oaths at the unoffending planets. It was Ryan's third time and he was a parole man from the state farm. He was sent back there as was Fred J. Vallery, another parole man from the same institution.

CHARGED WITH THREATENING.

John Levanos pleaded not guilty of threatening and was continued until Wednesday while John Kaparisos, the second defendant in the case of assault and battery on John Parakos pleaded not guilty and was continued until Friday.

A DESTRUCTIVE DRUNK.

William Monghan while drunk at his home in McGowen's court off Lakeview avenue yesterday raised up ructions and smashed the windows in his house. The court imposed a fine of $10 which William paid.

ELEVATOR PRANK

RAN AWAY AND KEPT GOING UP AND DOWN.

The elevator in the Associate building ran away Saturday night about six o'clock and John J. Reardon, who is the chauffeur, had a narrow escape from being badly hurt and was pulled out of the "lift" in a badly scared condition. Despite the fact that the elevator was confined to but one course, that of up and down five stories, the experience which Mr. Reardon had was just as bad as though the elevator had as many miles to travel.

While coming down from the upper floor of the building Reardon applied the brake when he reached the first floor, but the machine kept going downward and struck the bottom of the well with a thump which knocked Reardon on his back. Then it started up again, and as the clutch on the cable refused to work he could not stop at any of the landings. The bump at top and bottom on his numerous involuntary trips attracted outside attention and help came to knock the cables off the run when the elevator reached the bottom. Thus the man was relieved. He was more frightened than hurt. One of the crutches from some cause failed to work. The whole elevator mechanism has since been overhauled and put in perfect order.

CHILD WALKED

HAD BEEN BEDRIDDEN FOR TWELVE YEARS.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 21.—Ethel Vandersloot, only daughter of Edward F. Vandersloot of 378 East Market street, said to her father yesterday: "Papa, I want to get up and walk."

The child had not walked in twelve years, during which time she had been an invalid. For six years she has not been out of doors. Following the remark, she straightened up, rose to her feet and walked. In the progress from the bed to the top of the stairs she fell twice, but for the greater part of the way to the dining room of her father's house she made her way alone and unaided. The parents are overjoyed.

For the first time in six years she ate dinner with them yesterday. Physicians had pronounced her case hopeless. Mr. Vandersloot said he knew of no other reason to ascribe the result other than the prayers of the child's friends. Physicians, he said, had been unable to diagnose her ailment.

Berlin Police Looking for Lamoureux

BERLIN, N. H., Aug. 21.—The police of this city were notified last night of the disappearance of C. Lamoureux, president of the Canada-American Insurance company, a French-Canadian benefit society, and efforts are being made to locate him. Claims for about $21,000 have been presented by the creditors of the missing man, and the sheriff of Coos county has attached Lamoureux's store and residence, in the course of proceedings which have been instituted against him.

Lamoureux has held the office of city assessor for some time. He was also prominent in city politics.

The creditors of Lamoureux say that he borrowed large sums of money from them in connection with the business of the insurance company, of which he was president. When a member of the organization died it is claimed that the president would go to various citizens and state that the order was short of funds and that money was needed to satisfy the widow of the deceased. The money would be advanced on the president's note, with the understanding that legal heirs of the deceased would accept $100 less than the full amount called for by the policy, provided the sums were paid immediately. With a prospect of earning one-half of the $100, which it is claimed was arranged by the insurance man, many persons agreed to advance the money. The largest creditor of Lamoureux is Rev. Father Louis La Plante, pastor of the Roman Catholic church, who holds a note for $4000. Among the other creditors are prominent business men and it is understood French Canadian mill hands.

These transactions covered a period of many months.

VICTIM BURIED

Arrest in Murder Case Expected Today

KENTS HILL, Me., Aug. 21.—The authorities of Kennebec county yesterday were engaged in investigating what appears to them like a tangible clew to the murderer of Mattie Hackett, the 17-year-old daughter of Levi Huckett, who was strangled near her home here Thursday night. It is considered possible that an arrest may be made today. The latest theory entertained by the officers is that a woman was responsible for the girl's death. This idea was suggested last week but until yesterday little evidence could be found to support it.

Frank H. Hall, the high sheriff of Kennebec county, when seen at the jail in Augusta last night, said that since the beginning he has maintained and still maintains that it was a woman who committed the crime. The inquest will not be held until Tuesday afternoon and it may be postponed.

The funeral of Miss Hackett, which was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Union church of Readfield, was largely attended.

Lester P. Lyons, of Boston, to whom Miss Hackett was said to have been engaged, arrived yesterday afternoon to attend te funeral but the ceremonies had been concluded just two minutes when he reached the village.

CREW RESCUED

French Fishing Vessel Was Lost

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., Aug. 21.—News of the sinking of the French fishing schooner Reine Des Angeles was received here today, when her captain and crew arrived in port on board the Norwegian brig Speed. Captain Hewelin of the schooner states that on August 11, while he was fishing on the Grand Banks, his vessel sprang a leak. The water gained steadily in the hold and the crew finally abandoned the attempt to keep the vessel free and put off in the life boats. Fifteen minutes later the schooner sank. Later in the day the captain and crew, which number sixteen, were picked up by the Speed, which was bound for Bay Chaleur. They will be sent to their homes in St. Malo, France.

PEACE OUTLOOK

Japanese Envoy Calls to See the President

BERLIN, Aug. 21—There has been a decided weakening of the confidence felt by government officials and members of the diplomatic corps that the negotiations at Portsmouth would result in a peace agreement. The worst symptom, as it is looked at here, is that President Roosevelt should have found it necessary to again take action. It is urged that if the negotiations were proceeding smoothly the president would not have interposed and that he has done so is considered an indication of acute tension. One of the belligerents, it is said invited the president to intervene.

Whatever the president may have done, however, is likely to be strongly supported by the German government, should outside support forward the matter.

TO SEE PRESIDENT.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 21—An unexpected phase of the peace negotiations developed today in the arrival here of Baron Kaneko, a special representative in this country of the Japanese government for a conference with President Roosevelt. Baron Kaneko's visit it is known, was arranged hurriedly. The Baron arrived on the Long Island R. R. train due here at 10.11 but as the train was 25 minutes into it was eleven o'clock before he reached Sagamore Hill.

No other visitors have engagements with the president today.

FRENCH OFFICIALS WANT ENVOYS TO AGREE.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Officials, both governmental and diplomatic, are apparently preparing to lend every assistance to avert the failure of the peace negotiations at Portsmouth. Premier Rouvier has suspended his vacation in Switzerland for the purpose of attending a special cabinet council Thursday next. Mr. McCormick, the American ambassador, will return from Carlsbad Wednesday for the purpose of being ready to exercise any friendly influences in his power. M. Jusserand, the French ambassador at Washington, who is spending his vacation in the country, will also return to Paris in the middle of the week.

According to the foreign office, Premier Rouvier's return has no direct connection with the peace negotiations. However, it will afford him an opportunity to consider the situation at an opportune moment as it is the expectation that the crisis will be prolonged beyond tomorrow, while the envoys communicate with their respective governments regarding their inability to agree.

GREAT BRITIAN

NOT ASKED TO MAKE REPRESENTATIONS TO JAPAN.

LONDON, Aug. 21—The Associated Press was informed at the foreign office today that President Roosevelt has not requested the British government to make representations to Japan on the question of peace. The foreign office thinks it would be impertinent for the British government to request Japan to modify her demands. The government believes that these demands are moderate and that Japan should not be deprived of the fruits of her victory.

The foreign office further said it did not believe that Japan would modify the terms put forward at the opening of the conference.

Official reports received by the government from Russia take a gloomy view of the situation. The members of the British cabinet are divided, some taking a hopeful view and others believe that all hopes of peace has been dissipated.

WALSH BURIED

Funeral of Victim of Auto Accident

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—The funeral services of Vinson F. Walsh, were held this morning at 10 o'clock at "Beaulieu" in the room in which Miss Julia Dent Grant was married to Prince Cantacuzene of Russia six years ago next Friday. The services were conducted by Rev. Walter Lowrie, rector of Trinity church, where Mr. and Mrs. Walsh were attendants this summer, and only the family and a few intimate friends were present, the desire being to avoid publicity as much as possible. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb in the island cemetery, and when Miss Walsh is able to be moved, will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Walsh to Washington for interment. The room in which the services were held was transformed into a floral bower by the flowers sent by friends.

Today the injured are doing well. Miss Walsh was found to have a fracture o fthe upper leg near the thigh and to have received other slight injuries. She has recovered from the shock and it is not expected that any complications will result. The fractured bone will keep her in bed for several weeks. It was feared that Mrs. Kernochan had suffered internal injuries, but at last accounts there were no evidences of bodily injury, and the symptoms are favorable for an early recovery. Mr. Harry Oelrich will probably be confined to the house for several days. Saturday night he was hysterical and it was feared that he had received some injury to his head. He is still confined to his bed, and will require several days rest to recover from the shock. Mr. Herbert Pell was able to be about yesterday, a little lameness being the only result of the accident. The chauffeur, Emile De Voust, was not seriously injured and was about Saturday night.

CHANGE DATE

INAUGURATION DAY MAY BE IN APRIL OR MAY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—That congress at its next session will issue a call for a change in the constitution making the date for the induction of presidents into office some time in the latter part of April or the first part of May instead of March 4 is now believed to be probable.

Governors of the various states and territories have written expressing the view that the date should be changed. The committee having the matter in charge will memorialize congress to have the date changed.

COTTON REPORT

REPORT ISSUE DRY THE CENSUS BUREAU.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—The census bureau today issued a supplemental report on the quantity of cotton ginned from the crop of 1904, showing a total growth for that year as fixed by the ginners to be 13,693,279 bales, counting a round bale as a one-half bale, instead of 13,591,782.

In explanation of these figures the report states as follows:

"Census bulletin No. 19, on cotton ginning, issued April 25, 1905, showed that at the time of the March canvass of the cotton ginneries for the date published in that report there remained to be ginned 102,275 bales from the crop of 1904. A canvass made between July 20 and Aug. 5 for the purpose of verifying these estimates showed that 95,497 bales, counting round as half bales, were ginned in excess of the estimates published in April."

42 YEARS OLD

COLORED KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HOLD CONVENTION.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—The thirteenth biennial session of the supreme lodge, Colored Knights of Pythias of North and South America, Europe, Asia, Australia, the Hawaiian Islands and the West Indies, convened here today. The organization was formed 42 years ago as an offshot of the white fraternal society of the same name. It has a membership of over 60,000 persons, in which are included many of the leading educators, professional and otherwise prominent men and women of the race. It has its own supreme lodge; its division of the uniform rank and its supreme cour tof calanthe, a woman's auxiliary. All three bodies will be in session simultaneously from August 21 to 26 inclusive.

Today was largely devoted to executive sessions. On Friday supreme officers will be elected and the location of holding the next biennial convention will be selected.

SLANDERERS

TWO NEGROES WERE PUNISHED BY OTHER NEGROES.

CLARKSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 21.—Two young negroes were arrested yesterday morning near Glory, twenty miles west of here, charged with making defamatory remarks about the daughter of a prominent white farmer. They were kept chained during the day in a building and last night were carried out in a meadow half a mile east of the village, where a crowd of 700 residents of the community, blacks and whites, had assembled. A committee of ten, composed of five white and five black citizens, were appointed to try the culprits. Several witnesses were examined and the prisoners were found guilty of having uttered the slanders. One of them was sentenced to receive forty lashes ,the other tweny-five. The whipping was administered by the negro members of the committee. After the whipping the culprits were turned loose and were told to leave the community in five days.

BIG MERGER.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 21.—Final steps have been taken in the $7,000,000 deal whereby 20 Indiana coal companies will be merged in the Vandalia Coal company, with headquarters in this city. They consist in exchanging the titles to the 30 mines, an aggregate of $4,000,000.

SPECIAL MEETING

Polling Places to bo Designated

Mayor Casey has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tomorrow evening for the purpose of designating polling places. The law requires that the polling places shall be designated 30 days before the date set for the first primaries, which is Sept. 25.

CENTRALVILLE BRIDGE.

Supt. Morse hopes to get through with the work on the Centralville bridge this week. Speaking of the work on the bridge an old bridge builder said today that it was one of the very best repair jobs he had ever seen. Mr. Morse says he has encountered a good many extras that were not included in the statement of cost, and for that reason the appropriation will be overrun. Mr. Morse said that but for the extra expense he would like to put in block paving sidewalks. In plank walks nails are continually showing their heads and besides being disagreeable, are more or less dangerous.

ABOUT SEWER WORK.

Work on the extension of the Ennell street sewer is being pushed with a vengeance, and in a day or two work on the draining system at the Oaklands will be begun.

CREMATOR CONTRACT.

Relative to the contract with the Decarle company for a cremator, the fact has been developed that but for the mayor's refusal to sign the contract when it was first presented him the city would not have had any security. The mayor refused to sign the contract until it came to him accompanied by a bond of $2000.

DYNAMITE

TON OF IT FOUND IN A SHED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—With, it is believed, hundreds of pounds of dynamite stored at the southeast corner of One Hundred and Fifty-second street and Seventh avenue, and the neighborhood in a panic fearing the combustible will inadvertently be exploded no move was made yesterday to ascertain the scope of danger or to fix the responsibility, if any exists, for the violation of the law that makes the storing of dynamite, except under certain conditions, a crime.

George Murray, the inspector of the bureau of combustibles, who has threatened time and again to jail any one who unlawfully stored dynamite, is away at Arverne for the summer and no one who may assume the responsibilities of his position is left behind.

Exactly how much dynamite is at this time in the little shanty that has been erected in the middle of the lot now under lease to the Central Bridge, Stone and Construction company is known only to those who put it there. The neighbors who have seen some of the boxes, that hold a hundred pounds each, declare there are hundreds of pounds of the explosive in the shanty, and the boxes are directed to the National Powder company, whose wagons stable near by.

Across the way the Central Bridge company is blasting rock that rises thirty feet above the street level. The danger of a piece falling on the roof of the shanty and exploding the dynamite, besides the constant menace of lightning, is what arouses those living near.

No one seems to know how the shanty came to be built. The watchman doesn't know, nor do any of the employes of the Williamson company, contractors, whose sheds are close by. The shanty is in the midst of bushes and low trees and is hidden from the view of the street.

IRISH LEAGUE

WILL HAVE LECTURE BY REV. FR. FITZPATRICK, O. M. I.

The United Irish League held an enthusiastic meeting last evening and made arrangements for the lecture on the music of Ireland by Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, O. M. I., at Associate hall on September 24. A committee of which Michael Connolly is chairman and M. A. Lee secretary was appointed to take charge of the arrangements. The lecture will be illustrated by the rendition of some of Ireland's most famous melodies by the lecturer himself and a number of the most prominent local singers and one or two from out of town. Sub-committees on ticket and program were appointed and the prospect is that the affair will be a great success.

A musical program followed the meeting and was participated in by several members. The meeting adjourned for one week.

YELLOW FEVER

SERIOUS EPIDEMIC IS NOT CONSIDERED POSSIBLE NOW.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—Full of hope, the federal and local authorities and the public in general entered today upon the fifth week of the campaign against yellow fever, which is now considered to be beyond the stage when a serious epidemic is possible.

Dr. Beverly Warner, head of the volunteer forces, says that the decrease in the mortality, as shown by the reports, is unprecedented and the situation is rapidly coming under control.

Dr. Warner said the passing of the calamity was due in a large degree to the splendid work of the marine hospital service. While the federal authorities now have no hesitency in saying the fever is under control, they are not yet ready to fix a date when it will be stamped out.

No new points in the state outside of New Orleans were reported infected today.

Public Is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 646 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Goodale's Drug store, 217 Central st.; price 50c.

ARREST WOMAN

She is Charged With Setting a Fire

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Her husband locked up for intoxication after he had learned of her arrest, and her three little children in the hands of the Gerry society, Mrs. Patrick Murphy, wife of a designer in a Fifth avenue tailoring establishment, and living at No. 18 East Ninety-seventh street, was yesterday remanded to the Tombs under $500 bail on suspicion of having committed arson.

Mrs. Murphy was arrested by detectives on Saturday charged with having attempted to set fire to the big five-story double tenement in which she lived. The police declare she fired her apartments on the top floor to get the fire insurance on her household goods.

Prompt action on the part of Jacob Safowsky, of No. 120 East Ninety-seventh street, alone prevented a disaster in the tenement. There are fifteen families comprising over 100 souls in the building, and Safowsky's act prevented a serious loss of life. He was informed by Mrs. Emily Maas, who lives opposite him on the top floor of No. 120, that smoke was coming from the windows of the apartment opposite in No 118. He ran up the stairs in that house and found smoke pouring out into the hallways from under the doorsill of the Murphy flat. He broke in the door and put out the blaze.

Fire Marshal Malechson found kerosene had been poured on the floor of every room in the apartment, and that the same combustible had been scattered over the floor of a vacant apartment opposite.

Jane Schackman, the janitress, told the police shortly after the fire, she had seen Mrs. Murphy with her three children leave the house just before the fire was discovered. She declared Mrs. Murphy appeared agitated and kept looking over her shoulder until she rounded a corner.

Mrs. Murphy returned protesting her innocence, but the fact that the apartment was securely locked convinced the police and she was arrested.

When her husband returned from work and found his wife arrested and his children in charge of the Gerry Society, he went to the nearest saloon and was taken out wildly intoxicated. He wept and raved like a madman at the station.

THREE SAVED

YACHT WAS OVERTURNED DURING HEAVY STORM.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—During the heavy windstorm that swept Long Island yesterday afternoon a 20-foot sloop yacht was swept off Sea Gate, known as Norton's Point, L. I., and two men and a boy fell into the sea.

They were saved from being drowned by Harry Jacobs and Herman Spentz, fishermen.

The occupants of the sloop were Joseph Morris, of Bath Beach; Conrad Wallace, of No. 118 Fifty-eighth street, Brooklyn, and the latter's son John 16 years old. The party was returning to Bath Beach when the storm came, and before the men could take in sail a sudden squall struck the boat and overturned it.

Neither the elder Wallace nor Morris could swim and had disappeared beneath the water. The two fishermen were obliged to dive for them. Both were unconscious when taken out of the sea. Mr. Morris rewarded the rescuers with $50. Morris and the Wallaces were out for a pleasure sail.

HE WAS TRAPPED

"Black Hand" Man Caught by Police

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A well dressed and educated Italian, who said he was Gaston Figard, 32 years old, of Tiffany place, Brooklyn, was locked up in the Clymer street station, Williamsburg, last night, charged with sending "black hand" letters and extortion by Salvatore Doranno, a merchant of 683 Fulton avenue. He was arrested by Captain Hollihan and Detectives Meath Coker, McGoughlin and Conolly after they had seen Doranno hand Figard a marked $10 bill in front of a saloon at Columbia and Degraw streets.

When the police came upon Figard after he had put the money in his pocket he tried to get rid of the bill and fought the five police until they were forced to knock him down and handcuff him. The arrest took place in the heart of the Italian colony in South Brooklyn.

The arrest followed several letters of a threatening nature received by Doranno. They were signed "Black Hand" and informed Doranno that if he didn't pay the writers several hundred dollars he would be killed. The letters said the authors were the men who murdered the man in the famous barrel mystery a few years ago.

At first Doranno paid no attention to the letters, but finally he became frightened and went to the Columbia street saloon on July 30 and gave $25 to four men he met there. He was ordered to make a second payment yesterday and decided to inform the police. He went to Captain Hollihan who gave him the marked $10 bill and instructed him to pay it in the street so the detectives could see it handed over.

The police waited about the corner of Columbia and Degraw street more than an hour before any one spoke to Doranno, who had been walking up and down in front of the saloon. Then Figard came along and, after some parley, took the money.

When the police reached the station house with Figard they tried to get him to make a statement, but he refused to give any information about himself or his confederates.

CRICKET GAMES

The Mohairs Beaten by Lawrence Team

The Mohairs received a severe trouncing at the hands of the Lawrence Athletics at Lawrence Saturday afternoon. The game was played on a matting crease and the day was an ideal one for cricket. Despite the fact that the Mohair team seemed to be the favorite the fine bowling of Wade and Walker soon put the Lowell batters out of commission.

For Lawrence, Wainwright and Gill were the top scorers and by their sharp and heavy hitting won the game without the loss of a wicket.

The result will give Lawrence a good hold on the championship, although they still have to play some hard games which may effect their standing.

LORD CURZON Resigns as Viceroy of India

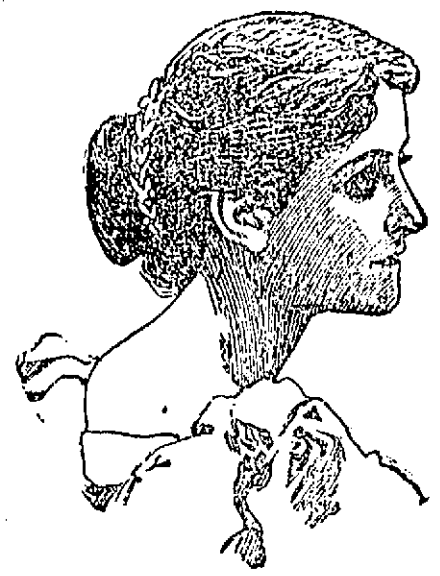

LORD CURZON, EX-VICEROY OF INDIA.

LONDON, Aug. 21—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedelston as viceroy of India and the appointment of the earl of Minto as his successor were announced at the India office last night.

Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the cabinet to appoint Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow on Lord Curzon's recommendation military supply member of the council.

Mrs. Curzon was formerly Miss Leiter an American girl.

LADY CURZON, FORMERLY MISS LEITER OF CHICAGO.

According to the correspondence, which is issued in the form of a white book, it appears that Lord Curzon's resignation was cabled to that office on Aug. 12.

The correspondence shows a decidedly bitter feeling between Lord Curzon, the India office and Lord Kitchener, commander in chief of the forces in India, over the new scheme of army administration in India.

CHINESE FIGHT

Revolvers Again Used in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Another battle of warring Chinese secret societies was fought in Chinatown last night. As a result two men were taken to a hospital with serious but not fatal bullet wounds, two were slightly injured and later others were locked up.

The police are inclined to think that the victims are members of the On Leong Tong, which were soon to appear against the members of the Hip Sing Tong to which the recent Chinatown threatre murders have been attributed.

With oriental stategy last night's affair was planned to attract the police and others who might be curious, away from the scene of the shooting. A few minutes before 9 o'clock several shots were fired, seemingly from a roof in Doyers street. The police arriving a minute or so later found the narrow streets packed. The detectives and uniformed men had about reached the doorway of the Doyers street house when from Pell street came the noise of several heavy calibre pistol shots, so fast and furious that the sound might have come from a machine gun. Making for Pell street the police soon located the trouble at a house said to be the headquarters of the On Leong Tong. In the building were more than 200 Chinamen chattering about the shooting. The police, in a little room in the rear of the third floor found the victims of the shooting, two lying in pools of blood, two others trying in gto staunch wounds, with half a dozen other Chinamen trying to hide under chairs. Several were hanging out of the windows.

The names of the more seriously injured are Hufe John Yoka and Wee Mong, both laundrymen.

Don't miss the Old Orchard excursion. $1.50 is the round trip rate on August 24th, via the Boston & Maine R. R.

FIREBUG'S WORK

Medford Suffers a Loss of $50,000

MEDFORD, Aug. 21—It was 7 o'clock yesterday morning before the "all out" signal was sounded an dthe weary firemen released from their labors, which began shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night.

When all was over it was found that the result of the work of the incendiaries was the total destruction of the First M. E. church on Salem st., with a loss of $40,000 the partial destruction of hose 4 house on Spring st., involving a loss of $35,000, the burning of sheds on the Foster wharf on Riverside avenue, where the damage will amount to $100 and the destruction of a shed belonging to the New England brick company in Glenwood, with a small loss.

All the fires occurred within an hour, and were unquestionably set, the evidence of incendiarism being conclusive.

BARN BURNED

GRANITEVILLE VISITED BY LIVELY BLAZE.

The town of Graniteville was threatened by fire yesterday afternoon and but for the fine work of the firemen and residents of the town a good portion of Graniteville would have been wiped out. As it was a barn was destroyed and two other buildings were scorched by the flames.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon fire was discovered in the barn of Lewis P. Palmer near the Boston & Maine station. The fire started in the hay mow. Within a short time after the alarm had been given there was a large crowd of men, women and children on the scene.

The fire was blazing merrily when the volunteer fire department arrived and as two buildings nearby had been scorched by the flames it was decided to try and confine the fire to the barn and keep it from spreading to the other buildings. The sparks, however, fell on other buildings in the vicinity and every now and then several men would have to climb to the roofs of different buildings to extinguish the flames.

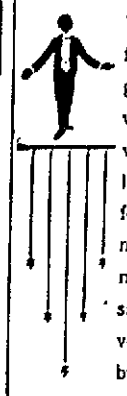

The water supply was limited, or rather the means of pouring the water was limited. Pails were obtained from the Abbott company, whose works are nearby, and the water used came from ordinary pumps. Several hand extinguishers were in operation.

The blaze attracted a crowd of fully 1000 people from Graniteville, Westford, Tyngsboro and the country side generally within several miles.

The damage was said to amount to about $3000. The cause of the fire could not be ascertained.

Miss Isabelle M. McKenna of Providence, who has been spending her vacation in this city, returned home today being accompanied by her cousins, Misses Margaret M. Lynch and Master Leo. J. Cox of South Highland street.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it, cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it. Just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight, it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell. It is

BY ARBITRATION

The President Hopes Peace Will be Accomplished

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21—The Associated Press is able to announce that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt communicated through Baron Rosen to Mr. Witte and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas was based upon the principle of arbitration. Whether the proposal contemplates arbitration of all the articles upon which the plenipotentiaries have failed to agree or only upon the question of indemnity cannot be stated with positiveness, but it is more than probable that it relates only to indemnity or to indemnity and cession of the island of Sakhalin. Neither is it possible to say whether the president has yet made a similar proposition to Japan. The customary diplomatic procedure in such a case would be to submit the proposal simultaneously to both countries but there might be an advantage in securing the adherence of one before submitting it to the other. To Emperor Nicholas, the author of the Hague peace conference, the suggestion of arbitration which will necessarily immediately command the sympathy of the public opinion of the world, will be particularly hard to reject. If he agrees, Japan, if she has not already done so, would be all the more bound to submit her claim to the impartial arbitrator. Acceptance by both sides would involve a great extension of the principle of arbitration as nations have heretofore declined to arbitrate questions involving their "honor and dignity." Both Mr. Takhira and Mr. Witte in the earlier stages of the conference absolutely rejected the idea of arbitration and only Saturday both reiterated their disbelief in such a solution. It was noticed, however, that Mr. Witte's opinion was not expressed as strongly as last week.

RUSSIA FIRM

WILL NOT CHANGE ITS FINAL REPLY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug 21, 12.20 a. m.—Russia's official attitude regarding the final reply to be made to Japan on Tuesday is unchanged. The impression prevails that only a very great concession on the part of Japan on the question of indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin will make peace possible. The questions pertaining to the limitation of Russia's naval power and the surrender of her interned warships are considered here to be quite susceptible of satisfactory arrangement and not liable to cause serious trouble.

An interesting development of Sunday was the statement from the very best authority that the foreign office does not believe that Aug. 22 will necessarily see the conclusion at Portsmouth of the conference and that there will be further exchanges between the plenipotentiaries lasting two and maybe three days. In some quarters this is taken as a sign that there still is hope for a settlement on the basis of concessions by the Japanese.

Mr. Witte's full reports are being submitted through the foreign office to the emperor. There has been no meeting of the grand dukes to consider these reports but the emperor has been in consultation and will consult again today with some of his advisers and ministers on vital matters now being decided here.

The final communication of the supreme deciding authority, Emperor Nicholas, conveying his majesty's instructions as to the course which M. Witte shall pursue, beginning on Tuesday, will be transmitted to Portsmouth through the foreign office, probably tonight (Monday) or Tuesday morning.

WANTS PEACE

RUSSIA HAS YIELDED IN EIGHT POINTS.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21—Mr. Briantchaninoff, correspondent of the St. Petersburg Slove who is in close touch with the members of the Russian mission, made the following significant statement last night to The Associated Press:

"Now that we are on the eve of the decisive day when we are to see whether higher civilization, wedded to peace, is to come out victorious or will admit itself incapable of finding a just solution of the problem at Portsmouth and will refer the whole issue back again to the arbitratment of the sword, I am and can say as a simple Russian citizen, that Russia wishes peace very sincerely, very frankly and that she considers that she has demonstrated her desire for peace by her course at this conference. She has yielded upon eight points. She has agreed to retire from a country where she has spent millions in the cause of civilization. All this she has done, but not because she fears a continuation of the war. On the contrary letters I have received from Russia are unanimous in saying that the whole country has renewed confidence in its re-organized army, that the army is thirsting for battle, and dreams only of revenge, that General Linevitch, the commander-in-chief, is sure of success and that the authorities all agree in saying that never before has the moral and physical state of the troops been better. We know that Linevitch is not only an organizer like Kuropatkin, but that he possesses that particular military intuition that talent for spontaneously seizing an opportunity which alone can give victory against an adversary as formidable as the Japanese. The number of Russian troops at last equals that of Japanese—and they are no longer Siberian recruits. I know that in the eyes of foreigners all these arguments are not convincing. The events of the past influence their judgment as to the future, but to Russians who are in touch with the military situation it is certain that a rupture of the negotiations seems desirable because they believe that the turn of the tide is at hand. Certainly with a battle along a front of sixty miles no one can foresee what may happen, any little accident, the sun or the dirt in the eyes of the men, an order badly expressed or badly understood, a telephone wire cut, anything may in an instant entirely change the situation. One cannot be astonished, therefore, if the Russians when they are told 'you have lost; pay' reply 'fifteen times in succession we have backed the red and it has come black. We have now the advantage of the chances. We will continue to back the red until we win.' The player has the right to his revenge. The world cannot be angry with Russia if after having yielded perhaps more than she ought she now says: 'If my adversary does not understand that I have yielded unwillingly only because I have always believed in the peaceful solution of conflicts I will prove to him that once wounded I can become obstinate and pursue the game until my adversary is completely exhausted.' Personally as an anti-militarist and a believer in peace, I find that it would be in entire conformity to the dignity of Russia to submit the questions in dispute to The Hague tribunal and thus increase the splendor of that institution which should become for the welfare of humanity. But I know, alas, that such an idea has not yet taken deep enough root. One cannot then feel resentment against the Russian people if, observing that their love for peace has been interpreted as a sign of weakness and too much is demanded of them they replace their destinies in the hands of their generals."

THE CANOBIE LAKE CONTROVERSY AS VIEWED FROM DIFFERENT STANDARDS.

ARRESTS MADE

At Canobie Lake Did Not Stop Amusements

Great crowds visited Canobie lake, yesterday, and with the exception of the dance hall everything was running full blast. The day was perfect and perfect order prevailed. The wet blanket that Portsmouth's sheriff threw upon the Sunday amusements at Canobie was removed yesterday and it was a case of "let the fun go on."

Of course there were official forms that had to be lived up to and early in the afternoon Deputy Sheriff Robert Scott and Sheriff Wheeler of Salem arrived with a cargo of warrants and technically arrested the managers or acting managers and ticket sellers of the skating rink, the flying horses, the roller coaster and the box-ball alleys.

The sheriffs appeared at the offices of the amusement places mentioned and summoned those in charge to appear before them at Supt. Williams' office at once and make answer to questions relative to violation of the Sunday law.

In response to these summonses there appeared E. Earl Cole, manager, and Ernest Potter, ticket seller of the skating rink; John Connelly, manager, and Alex. Maynard, ticket seller, of the roller coaster; Herbert M. Newhall, manager, and William J. Hoyt, assistant manager of the box-ball alleys, and G. Arthur Fendering, acting manager, and Evan J. David, ticket seller of the flying horses. Warrants were formally served upon all, and they were under arrest. When they left their respective places of business they substituted assistants to look after things and everything kept on as though nothing was happening.

Things were adjusted in short order at the scene of the arrest, and within a quarter of an hour after the warrants were served the eight prisoners were back at their business. In the absence of a bail commissioner, Justice James Ayer of Salem, who happened to be on the grounds, was pressed into service, and he presided at the liberating ceremonies. The officers required that each should recognize in $100 for appearance in police court at Portsmouth this morning at 10 o'clock, and Charles J. Ramsdell and Newall A. Watson went surety for the bunch.

Messrs. Fendering and David of the flying horses are both college students, the former being a Phillips-Andover man and the latter a Harvard boy. Fendering was acting in the capacity of manager yesterday in the absence of Carl Braun of Collinsville, who has charge of the amusement. His home is at Devil's Lake, North Dakota, and his regular occupation at the park is that of ticket-taker for the theatre. David belongs in Pennsylvania.

Manager M. H. Newhall of the box-ball alleys is a resident of Salem. William Hoyt, his assistant, is a Haverhill boy. Manager Connelly of the roller coaster, hails from Fitchburg; Maynard and Earl Cole are from Nashua, and Ernest Potter from Lawrence.

SULTAN OF SULU

Wanted to Marry Alice Roosevelt

HE WOULD MAKE HER SULTANA

Moros' Gifts to the Taft Party

JOLO, Aug. 18.—via. Manila, Aug. 21.—(Delayd in trasmission.) Secretary Taft and party arrived here at noon and immediately proceeded to the parade ground to witness an elaborate program arranged for their entertainment. The sultan of Sulu, with his retinue and other Moro dignitaries, occupied seats on the grand stand along with Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt.

Thousands of Moros, residents of Jolo and from the neighboring islands were present to take part in the festivities which were wonderfully picturesque. In the afternoon there were carabou and bull fights.

Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt were presented many Moro presents by the sultan, who offered his hand in marriage to Miss Roosevelt, and would make her sultana of the Sulu archipelago, saying that his people desired her to remain among them.

While some members of the party were bathing in the afternoon, Frederick O'Brien, editor of the Cable News, was seized with cramps and the undertow was rapidly carrying him out to sea, when Representative Longworth of Ohio, seeing his peril, started after him and rescued him at the risk of his own life.

DOWAGER QUEEN

Barely Escaped From an Assassin

TURIN, Aug. 21.—A dastardly attempt has just been made to assassinate Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, who is making a tour of the Alps in an automobile. This news is contained in a telegram received yesterday from Aosta at the royal palace of Racconigi, near here.

Queen Margherita was ascending the little St. Bernard in her auto, accompanied by the Marquis di Villamarina, another lady of the court and two gentlemen, when the machine suddenly struck against a stone barricade that had been erected in the middle of the road and overturned.

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 21.—The jury in the case of the state vs. Francisco Gallato for murder of Francisco Truglio at Millinocket on the third of April, 1904, reported a disagreement at 8 o'clock this morning after being out over 45 hours. It is understood that the last ballots taken stood 11 to 1 for conviction. This is nearly the longest time that a jury has ever taken in this state on a murder trial. Gallato was remanded to jail and will be tried again at the February term of the supreme court.

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

ANNEXATION A NECESSITY

If we would have our city expand we must not limit its growth by a boundary line as fixed as the walls of ancient Babylon.

Now that rapid transit affords us unprecedented facilities for reaching the suburbs, there is no excuse for crowding in the residential districts.

To avoid congestion and to give ample room for expansion as a city should expand—with wide and regular streets, plenty of space for public breathing places, for spacious lawns and gardens in connection with the dwellings—it is necessary to annex outlying districts. Especially is this necessary where our territory is built upon out to the city line, as at some points on the border touching Dracut, Tewksbury and Chelmsford.

We must make more room wherever the shoe pinches. To delay annexation in such cases means crowding within the city limits; it means small, crooked and irregular streets; it means congestion with all the concomitant diseases and disorders, physical and moral.

We would be exceedingly proud to see Lowell the second city in the state. If she does not increase spontaneously we can add to her size and importance by annexation. That is how some of the great cities took on their initial impetus. The annexation of new territory would cause a stampede outward from the crowded districts; it would add vastly to the value of our real estate and would add also to our population by attracting new settlers as well as by taking in some populous districts.

By annexation we can make Lowell a great city, a healthy city, a beautiful city. Then annex desirable suburban tracts as quickly as possible in the interests of an ever progressive and a greater Lowell.

If Secretary Taft were at home he would have another war scandal to unravel in the padding of government contracts with the palpable intention of fraud.

New Orleans is in the grasp of yellow jack and already the loss of life is very great. Another General Butler is needed to clear the city of pestilence.

THE GYPSY MOTH ARRIVES

Supt. Whittet of the park department, at a time when our city was pronounced freer from moth pests than any other in the state, gives the alarm that the gypsy moth has arrived in our midst. That is a serious matter. Let every citizen take due notice of the fact, and every one who has trees keep close watch upon them lest the gypsy moth pest get a foothold here.

The park commission has done good work in banishing the brown-tails and now that another pest has made its appearance in a small way let that also be banished.

THE DUAL TARIFF

The dual tariff might go far towards overcoming some of the worst difficulties that are now encountered in some of the various schedules. Were such a tariff in force, an administration favoring a high tariff would hold fast to the maximum and one favoring a low tariff would extend the minimum rates. It would afford ample opportunity for the negotiation of reciprocity treaties and on this ground it will probably be opposed by the republican bosses.

AS TO CHIEF HOSMER.

Sometime ago our neighbor the Citizen was the leading eulogist of Chief Hosmer when a younger man was looking for the job. Now, however, the Citizen thinks the chief should be at home attending to his business instead of at the convention of chiefs in Duluth, Minn.

Here is part of what the Citizen has to say on the matter:

"In any event, the chief is unwarrantably wasting valuable time in thus absenting himself in the face of a pressing duty, and it is not at all consonant with his record to do so. We are at a loss to understand why, after so long and honorable a career at the head of his department, Chief Hosmer should thus lay himself open to criticism—for criticism is daily growing more rife. This is no time for junketing in view of the necessity for providing a system of street lighting to be ready the moment the Welsbach contract runs out. Nor will it pay the chief to stand out against universal public sentiment to block the making of a reasonable electric light contract."

TIME FOR JAPAN TO YIELD A POINT.

The peace envoys have come to a deadlock in their negotiations and have taken a rest to afford ample time for communication with the home governments. All seemed to be fairly smooth sailing at the conference until the Japanese demand that Russia's future naval armament in the Pacific be limited.

There was a hitch in the cession of the island of Sakhalin to Japan but that was postponed, the obvious intention being to consider it in conjunction with the article demanding an indemnity.

Another disputed point is the cession to Japan of Russia's interned warships. This point, the limitation of her naval strength in the Pacific and the payment of an indemnity are demands the cession of which would humiliate Russia and that is where Witte, the Russian envoy, draws the line.

The smoothness of the conference was due to the fact that Russia made all the concessions. It is now about time for Japan to yield a point or two. There is no denying the fact that the demand to restrict Russia's future armament in the Pacific is wholly unreasonable and would prove humiliating to Russia.

Russia is not a conquered nation. True she has been severely whipped in various battles on land and sea but she is not conquered. She could keep up the war with Japan for several years until the financial resources of the latter would be utterly exhausted. It is incumbent upon Japan in the present diplomatic struggle to be a little more moderate. Unless she yields some of the demands set forth the war will proceed and Japan will regret the fact quite as much as Russia.

SEEN AND HEARD

He's a bartend and a very accommodating fellow. He passes out the foamy at the "place around the corner" and he has had his moustache taken away. He has curly hair, is barrel jawed and stands erect about five feet, six in his stocking feet. He really does look sort o' funny like, but he is good natured and takes hard knocks with a complacency that would break a poet's heart. "I feel funny but I'm glad I had my moustache shaved," he said to a friend who remarked on his appearance. "I am more talked about than the fellows who went nose-diving and got thrown into the apple tree. I think that the number of customers has increased since I had my moustache taken away. Fellows who are not in the habit of coming in here have called and passed remarks relative to my appearance. Some of them say I look like a convict; others say I look ten years younger and one fellow said I looked like a murderer. I would have never known that I was regular but for the fact I shaved off my moustache."

There's a famous fable country, never seen by mortal eyes, where the pumpkins they are growing and the sun is said to rise; where no mortal man does habit, neither reptile, bird or beast and that's the famous country they call "down east." These few lines were culled from "Johnnie" Dawson's famous work entitled "Trout Fishing in Maine."

I am in receipt of a letter from a girl in Calais, Me., who has a well tilled farm and a loving heart. She is inclined to marry and has asked me to supply the names of at least a dozen marriagable men not over 35. Come early and avoid the rush.

INTELLIGENT BEARS

ONE OF THE MANY ATTRACTIONS OF THE NASHUA FAIR.

The people of Lowell and vicinity who desire to pass Labor day enjoyably and profitably ought not to overlook the Nashua fair which opens on that day. This is not a local, a state or county fair. It is an "exposition universal", and its entry lists from firemen's hand tubs to domestic productions and pet stock, are open to the world. For this reason the exhibits have become the most complete of any fair in New England. This is particularly true of blooded horses and cattle. Racing has received a great boom in New Hampshire since the action of Governor Douglas in stopping certain features at harness meets in Massachusetts and the races for this reason are bound to be spirited and well attended. The "Pike" will be larger, livelier and lustier than ever.

Those who cannot come on Labor day with the veteran firemen from all over New England and those who stay in Nashua over night will find the succeeding three days of the fair equally good. On Wednesday the governor of New Hampshire and a glittering array of officials will be there and will mingle with the people, see the sights and partake of the fun. On that day the balloon ascension and parachute jump, which will take place every day, will be varied by the shooting of a woman from a cannon suspended from a balloon in mid-air.

Thursday, Sept. 7, the last day will witness a ball game in the championship series between Nashua and some other team of the New England league.

No expense has been spared to make the Nashua fair the greatest as well as the first and best of all the New England Agricultural shows. The features are many and varied and no single day's sightseeing will enable a person to do full justice to all there is.

Nashua is easy of access and the Boston and Maine railroad will sell special tickets at reduced rates including admission to the grounds. Trolley cars take one from the stations to the gates and Boston and Northern trolley cars will run extra trips from Lowell without change.

The vast and expensive pyrotechnic drama, the Japanese-Russian naval battle scene will be given at the Fair Grounds every night.

Do not forget the Great Nashua Fair Labor day and the three days thereafter.

SEIZED BEER

LIQUOR OFFICERS MADE A SMALL HAUL.

Officers Duncan and Atkinson visited the home of Stephen Murphy in Colburn street, yesterday morning, and seized four cases of beer and a small quantity of whiskey. A milkman was just finishing the contents of a mug when the police arrived. Murphy informed the police that he was only a boarded at the house and that his wife ran the house. No arrest was made but the wet goods were taken to the police station.

STRUCK BY CAR

GRANT SPEARE BADLY INJURED AT REVERE BEACH.

BOSTON, Aug. 21—While oiling the track of a roller coaster at Revere beach yesterday, Grant A. Speare was struck by a car containing four persons, and hurled to the soft marsh 20 feet below, falling on his back.

At the emergency room of the state bath house, where he was taken, he was found to have two sprained ankles and cuts and bruises. He was taken to his home in Revere. The wonder of the accident was Speare's escape from more serious injury.

THUGS' WORK

MAN WAS BRUTALLY BEATEN AND ROBBED.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Dennis Behan, 40 years old, who lives in Quincy, went to the Lagrange street police station yesterday with his face bandaged and plastered, and reported that the night before he had been set upon by two men at the corner of Kneeland and Albany street, who knocked him down, jumped on his face and robbed him of 16.

MANY ARE ROBBED

Lowell People Victims of Pickpockets

ONE GIRL LOST HER WATCH

Crooks are Busy at Old Orchard

Reports from Old Orchard beach indicate that pickpockets were at work at that resort yesterday and that Lowell people were among their victims. The engineers of the Boston and Maine road enjoyed an excursion to the beach and quite a number of people went from Lowell. The big train pulled out of the Northern station at 8.15 yesterday morning and reached here on the return trip at 9.45 last evening. It was while the party was waiting for the train at the station at Old Orchard that the crooks got in their work. The crowd was so great that the men managed to escape. One engineer named Wardwell, who lives in this city, lost $37 in money and checks calling for a similar amount and his ticket on the Boston and Maine road. Another engineer, whose name was not learned, lost his gold watch which was snatched from his pocket, and a young woman named Miss Strout, also of Lowell, had her gold watch stolen. As soon as she felt the tug on her watch chain she notified those about her but the thief was too quick and escaped in the crowd. Several others in the party came near losing valuables and money and one man who felt a hand in his watch pocket grabbed hold of the hand but was unable to hold his man. The officials at Old Orchard were notified of the thefts but could get no description of the pickpockets.

WANTS TO FIGHT

Venezuela is After the Yankees

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Tribune today will say:

"Venezuela has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats, guns and ammunition at the cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than the little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war material.

"An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that he was going to fight the Yankees, which explains the unusually large orders for ships, arms and ammunition.

"It is reported that when the Venezuelan chief executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge William Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Curacas his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit the emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela."

BILLERICA

The Talbot mills reopened this morning after a two weeks' shut down in order to give the employes a vacation and also to make needed repairs to the machinery.

Several changes have been made since the mill was closed. In the finishing department, which occupies the floors on the east side of the plant, the shearing, brushing and rotary machines have been moved from the bottom to the top floor, giving much more light to do this work. The elevator which runs in this department has been moved to the other end of the building, from where it was located before the mill closed.

M. Vincent Maloney, who is located in Rochester, N. Y., is spending a brief vacation at his home.

Henry F. Brown and Miss Mary Elizabeth Buckley, both well known young people in this town, will be united in marriage at St. Anne's mission at 2.30 next Wednesday afternoon. A reception will follow the ceremony in the new church building.

Rev. Mr. Adriance, of Winchester again occupied the pulpit at the Orthodox church. He spoke on Malachai 3:16: "Then they that feared the Lord spoke to another." Many from Lowell, where Mr. Adriance used to preach, were present.

NEARLY DROWNED

Two Young Men Were Dumped From Canoe

AND RESCUED JUST IN TIME

By Capt. Hagan of Mineola at Canobie

Oscar Martin of 136 Suffolk street and George David of 100 Suffolk street had narrow escapes from being drowned while canoeing at Canoble lake about five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Both young men were amateurs with the paddles and after hiring the boat started for the opposite shore. The fact that both were paddling on the same side made the craft unsteady, and it was not many minutes after the boat left the house that it turned turtle, both young men being dumped into the water.

The "life saving" steam launch Mineola was about fifty yards from the scene of the accident at the time and Capt. Hagan put the boat around and made for the two struggling men. Davis was in fair condition, but Martin was in great distress.

Councilman J. L. Kemp of Haverhill was on the Mineola, and he it was who threw a line to the struggling men. Martin was pulled in first and was turned over to Drs. William M. Collins and Fred A. Craig, both of this city and who happened to be passengers on the launch at the time David was drawn onto the launch last and was merely exhausted from the struggle.

The doctors worked over Martin for fully 15 minutes before they brought him to consciousness. David is all right. The struggle in the water was plainly visible from the park side of the lake, and was witnessed by hundreds.

FATAL FALL

BOSTON DOCTOR DEAD AT SEATTLE, WASH.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Dr. E. W. Shead, who came to Seattle from Boston last fall, was killed by an accidental fall from the roof of the Madison hotel at 122 Madison street yesterday evening. His skull was fractured on the concrete sidewalk. It is presumed the doctor went to the roof of the hotel to smoke and lost his footing in attempting to step onto an adjoining building. E. A. Coffin, proprietor of the hotel, heard the fall, but when he reached the body life was extinct.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The annual outing of the Club des Citoyens Americains was held yesterday at the Munier farm in West Dracut. It was an ideal day for an outing and the attendance was very large, the affair being a great success.

The members arrived at the farm early in the morning and amused themselves in different manners until about one o'clock, when dinner was served.

The tables were set in the shade of the trees on the bank of Beaver brook. Arthur Lavole was the chef and everybody present said that he was an excellent cook. Over 200 members were present at the outing.

PAVILION FELL

Women Were Buried in the Ruins

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 21.—While many thousand people were assembled in Crocker Park Saturday night to listen to a band concert and witness the display of fireworks incident to the celebration of the arrival of the New York Yacht club fleet, a great panic was caused by the collapse of a large pavilion in which about 200 women and children were seated.

A large number, probably a hundred, of small boys had climbed to the roof of the frame structure to gain a better view of the fireworks. Without warning, one end of the roof began to sink and swing, and one after another crashed down on the heads of many women, severely injuring four of them.

The injured are:

Mrs. Isabelle Rice, 55, of Marblehead; collar bone broken and severe bruises on back.

Mrs. Otis Cahoon, 55, of Swampscott; internally injured.

Mrs. —— Dodge, 40, of Lynn; unconscious and badly bruised.

Mrs. Katherine Spear, Danversport; bruised.

All of the injured were taken to their homes in ambulances and none, it is thought, will die.

MAY DIE

CHILD FELL FROM FATHER'S BICYCLE.

BOSTON, Aug. 21—Ernest Silver, 2 years old, 5 Elmore street, Lynn, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon at the corner of Greene and Union streets, by the forks of a tandem cycle upon which he was riding breaking and throwing him violently to the ground.

LADY HURT

MRS. HOPKINS FELL FROM MOVING CAR.

Mrs. A. W. Hopkins of 11 Sixth street met with a painful accident at Billerica last night. She was changing from the Lexington to the Lowell car at the Centre village and the car which she was on had just started when she discovered that she had lost her pocketbook. Not waiting to notify the conductor, Mrs. Hopkins tried to get off the moving car and she fell backwards and struck her head on the ground.

She was immediately taken to Dr. M. A. Buck's of Billerica, where she was treated. Her injuries are not serious, although she is much bruised about the head. It is considered fortunate that she was not more severely hurt. Later in the evening she came to Lowell.

NINE KILLED

Street Car Collided With a Freight Train

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 21—Nine persons were killed, one fatally injured and about 13 less seriously hurt in a collision between a street car filled with returning merrymakers from the Columbia gardens and a freight train on the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific railway last night. The dead:

MRS. SADIE SMITH.
MAGGIE HARRINGTON, aged 19, Butte.
MAUD JOHNSON, aged 19, Butte.
MRS. JACOBS, colored, Butte.
MAGGIE KEEFE, aged 19, Butte.
VERA HAUGHTON, aged 14, Butte.
CHRIS WOLD, unknown except by name on metal identification check found in his pocket.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN AND WOMAN, both at the Montana undertaking rooms.

The injured:
Tera Kottke.
Harry L. Lindley.
Joseph Kennedy.
Teodo Brudes.
Albert Dockstader.
Agnes Sullivan.
Gertie Shay.
James Cairns,
Phelix Hughes.
Alfred Jackson.

Loaded with passengers, many of them women and girls, the car returning from Columbia Gardens was struck by the end of a freight train on the railroad tracks north of the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific depot and crushed beneath the weight of one freight car killing eight and fatally injuring one and perhaps another. Numerous others were slightly hurt and were taken to their homes for treatment, their names at this time being unobtainable.

That more were not killed is almost miraculous for the accident occurred with a suddenness that precluded any hope of escape for those on the front end of the car.

Some of the killed were horribly mangled. The train which struck the street car was composed of 14 freight cars being pushed east o nthe tracks by an engine. The crew claim that the motorman of the trolley tried to beat the train to the crossing.

POOL SHARKS

"Trim" Harvey Graham for $17

Harvey W. Graham of Wilder street was a victim of pool sharks, Saturday evening and dropped $17, which little Johnny West, a fly pool player, would now like to restore to him.

Graham, having nothing else to do Saturday night dropped into a pool room in Middlesex street to watch the game, not being a player himself. While there West approached him and asked him to have a friendly game. Graham stated that he knew but little about the game but West said they would play a game for 50 cents a side and then induce a third party in from whom they could get the money.

Graham agreed to play and losing the first game gave over a half dollar to West. Then the ever-present third party happened along at the proper moment and asked to be allowed to join the game, acting as though he had never seen West before.

When the game started West slipped back Graham's half dollar and quietly informed him that he would proceed to get the third fellow's money without any difficulty. This second game was for $2 a side. Then followed a third for $5, and finally a fourth for $10 a side, of which West won them all and had $17 of Graham's money. Then Graham noticed West and the stranger having a few whispered words together, and becoming suspicious went out and told his story to Officer Cooke. The latter promptly placed West under arrest and at the police station he said first that he was a baker and hailed from Springfield. Later he said his home was in Schenectady, N. Y., while he forgot about being a baker. Yesterday he wanted a chance to make restitution to Graham and asked that the Tremont house be called up in order that a man named Marshall might pay it to Graham. He also volunteered the information that Marshall would know him as the man he met in Springfield last Monday with a man named "Razor Jim." The police were unable to locate Marshall.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Grounded on Shoal and the Mate Drowned

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 21.—The coal-laden schooner M. C. Haskell, bound from New York for Rockland, Maine, is a total wreck on Handkerchief shoal, and her mate, Nelson Taunsen, of Rockland, has been drowned. Captain Winfield and the other members of the crew came ashore in their own boats. The vessel ran aground on the shoal late last night at low tide, and when the tide turned she rolled over and sank. A thick haze, which obscured the lights on the shoal was the cause of the disaster.

Captain Winfield stated today that he was working his vessel up over the Shoals last night in a light wind and moderate sea. The atmosphere was so thick that he could make out only one of the lights on the Handkerchief Shoals lightship. He also was able to discern Chatham light and endeavored to shape his course by these two. The effort was not successful, however, and the schooner struck on the shoal.

Believing they would have time to save their effects before the vessel changed her position, Capt. Winfield, Mate Taunsen and Steward Olsen went down into the cabin, while the other three members of the crew prepared the boats. With the rising tide, however, the schooner began to roll. The captain and steward hastily ran to the deck, but the mate stayed behing, still thinking he might save something. Suddenly the schooner went over and the sea rushed into the cabin. Taunsen was caught in the trap and was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered. The others succeeded in putting off in their boats.

As the sea was smooth they remained in the vicinity of the wreck until daylight. They were sighted soon after dawn by Capt. Kelley of the Monomoy Point life saving station, who put out to their assistance. The men, however, rowed their own boats to the life saving station, where they remained this forenoon.

Mate Taunsen leaves a widow and five children in Rockland. The other members of the crew were John Doherty, Otto Beck and Aleck Clayford.

It is understood that no attempt will be made to raise the schooner, but that she will be stripped so far as possible. She carried about 40 tons of coal and it is stated here that neither the vessel nor cargo was insured.

The M. C. Haskell was built at Rockland, Maine, in 1900. Her net tonnage was 299 and she was 111 feet long, 28 feet in breadth and 9.1 feet in depth. She was owned in Rockland.

Yellow Jack as It Is Known to Modern Science

THE recent outbreak of yellow fever in New Orleans, although it has not at any time assumed the character of an epidemic, as is the case on the isthmus of Panama, has been sufficiently malefic in its results to cause the gravest apprehension and to stimulate a most earnest and most vigorous effort for its suppression. With the history of past visitations of the scourge in mind, the citizens of the regions most exposed to its ravages have been prompt in their measures of resistance. Fortunately the combat against this most dreaded of summer visitors is no longer the unequal struggle it once proved to be. Modern research and improved methods of sanitation have robbed the ancient terror of much of its grewsomeness, but too much that is reminiscent of its horrors still remains.

Medical men have never left off theorizing about the cause of yellow fever since they began to treat it. It was believed by many that it was infectious, a specific miasm carried in the air. Others taught that it was contagious, contracted only by actual contact with substances which had been contaminated by a fever patient. After the search for micro organisms became the fad there were many announcements of the discovery of the fever bacillus, but conservative physicians were inclined to be skeptical. In the summer of 1900 came the first inkling of the true solution. The United States government had undertaken to free Havana from its unsavory reputation for unhealthfulness and as a preliminary Surgeon General Sternberg (now retired) appointed a board to investigate the yellow fever.

The preliminary observation disclosed several significant facts. It was found that nonimmune nurses did not often contract the disease. That seemed to controvert the idea of contagion and infection. Repeated examinations of the blood and excreta of patients showed no signs of the presence of bacteria. That disposed of the microbe theory. Ten years earlier a Cuban physician, Dr. Carlos Finlay of Havana, had propounded the theory that the fever could be carried by a mosquito, the culex (now stegomyia) fascintus. The board began to experiment with this insect. Eleven persons were permitted to be bitten by these contaminated mosquitoes. From nine there was no result; two had yellow fever. This proved conclusively that the disease could be communicated in that way.

The American board then undertook the test which has become famous. Two experiment houses were built at Quemado, Cuba, one of them called the "infected mosquito building" and the other the "infected clothing building." The former was screened and well ventilated; the other was screened and unventilated. In the former, patients were bitten by infected mosquitoes; in the latter, no mosquitoes were admitted, but the persons submitting themselves to the experiment slept with soiled bedding and clothing direct from the yellow fever hospitals. In thirteen cases where nonimmunes were bitten by mosquitoes which had bitten a fever patient ten contracted the disease. In the other house, although an equal number had slept there several nights, no one became ill.

This discovery, which has since been verified repeatedly at once worked a revolution in the management of the dreaded fever. At Havana a war of extermination against the culex was begun. If the death carrying pest could be abolished, it was evident that the scourge would disappear. If complete extermination were not possible, there still remained the salutary expedient of screening both the patient and the nonimmune person from the presence of the mosquito. This is practically the modern way of dealing with yellow jack. That it has been effectual is proved by the fact that within a few months after mosquito extermination began at Havana the fever disappeared—for the first time in a century and a half.

It is a well authenticated fact that yellow fever has prevailed endemically throughout the West Indies and in certain regions on the Spanish main ever since the discovery of America. Barbados, Jamaica and Cuba suffered epidemics before the middle of the seventeenth century. There were outbreaks of the pest in Philadelphia, Charleston and Boston as early as 1692, and for a hundred years afterward there were occasional eruptions, culminating in the famous Philadelphia epidemic of 1793. Most northern cities were able by extraordinary sanitary and quarantine measures to prevent great epidemics, at least after the beginning of the nineteenth century, but the disease crept in from the West Indies now and then and raged epidemically in the southern towns.

Although it has been the habit of certain medical authorities, especially those of foreign countries, to describe yellow fever as a disease which originated on the western continent, there is excellent ground for dissent. It is well known to medical historians that at the time when the plague first appeared in the West Indies and at various points in South and Central America a similar disease raged violently on the west coast of Africa, in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean and in India. Of course its wide distribution at the time it was first classified as a distinct disease would not militate against the theory of its American origin, but it is also an undeniable fact that outbreaks of the disorder occurred in the lagoons of Africa long before the discovery of the American continent.

Once accepting the theory that yellow fever is of African origin, it is not difficult to explain its transplantation to America. It is one of the baneful legacies bequeathed by the slave trade. The slave dealers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries often lost from one-half to two-thirds of their cargo during the voyage from a mysterious fever which broke out suddenly in the filthy holds of the overcrowded ships, and this complaint, formerly denominated African, or ship, fever, is now believed to have been yellow fever. Whenever it appeared among the hapless and terrified wretches packed in the middle decks of the slavers it made the most frightful ravages, and, as a rule, the crews of the vessels suffered equally with the slaves. More than once in the history of the slave trade ships were found adrift at sea, the holds filled with dead blacks, while the white crews were either dead or stricken with the fever.

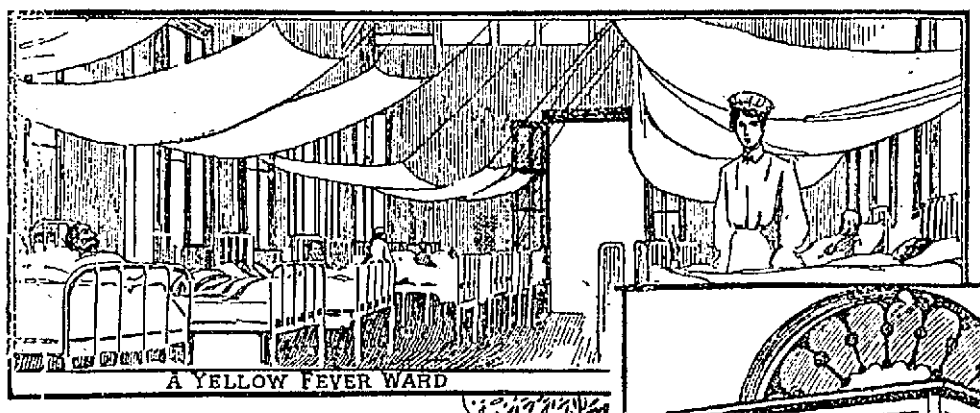

Even in those remote days it was suspected that the plague was in some way connected with yellow fever. It was observed that the latter sickness occurred almost always at ports in which a returned slaver had just discharged her cargo. It is not difficult in the light of present knowledge to trace the course of yellow fever in tropical countries, and whenever sufficient and unprejudiced investigation has been made it has been found that the disease has followed the slave trade. In the interior towns of Mexico, Central America and in the Spanish settlements on the South American continent it not infrequently prevailed after the arrival of a shipload of African slaves, and its appearance in subtropical Europe may be referred to the same cause. Its earliest recorded appearance as a pestilence on the continent of Europe was in the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean, whence it spread to the cities of the Levant, along the Red sea and finally to India. In the latter country it found congenial surroundings and obtained so firm a foothold that it is still well established in the crowded Hindoo cities.

In the seventeenth century the slave trade was regarded as a perfectly legitimate business, followed by the shipowners of every maritime nation, but especially by the Spanish, then the leading seafaring people. Wherever the slavers went they spread slavery and pestilence, and, since they sailed as far east as Calcutta, the disease became established in the equatorial zone around the entire globe. Confined to the torrid zone, the evil would still have been bad enough, but it soon made its way to other quarters of the world. In 1699 a vessel which had landed a cargo of slaves on the Virginia coast went on to Philadelphia to refit. While there the ship was cleaned thoroughly, a large quantity of very offensive bilge water which was in the hold being pumped into the stagnant pool in which the vessel was lying. Three days later several carpenters employed in the shipyard adjacent were taken violently ill. Soon afterward nearly every sailor on the ship and most of those who worked in the shipyard near by were prostrated by a complaint which was recognized by competent physicians as identical with the fever prevalent on slave ships. Within a week the pestilence was epidemic in the city. Philadelphia's prominence as a port led to several subsequent scourges of the pest, and in every case it seemed to originate either from a slave ship or from a vessel coming direct from a southern port.

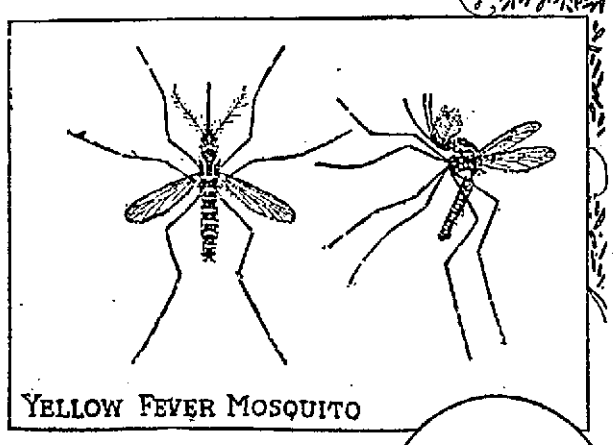

In 1762 several thousand persons died during an epidemic of yellow fever in the Quaker City, and there were subsequent destructive visitations in 1793, 1797 and 1802. The great plague of 1793 really began in New York and spread over most of the United States during that and the following season. The worst experience southern Europe ever had with the fever began at Gibraltar in 1804. A slave ship with the disease on board was encountered by a British merchantman at sea off the Gibraltar strait, and as there were not enough well men on board to manage the ship the captain of the English vessel sent several sailors aboard the slaver and advised its master to put in at Gibraltar. The slaver did so. The slaves were landed, the ship was cleaned, and a few days later the fever was in full blast among the soldiers of the garrison. Over a thousand soldiers died of the complaint and thrice that number of civilians. Many fled, and the contagion was spread among the Spanish ports of the Mediterranean. In the following summer it made its appearance at Genoa and a few weeks later at Naples, where over 7,000 fatal cases occurred. Thence the malady made its way along the Italian and Grecian coasts to Constantinople, where it found congenial soil. The ports of the orient were each stricken in turn, and the scourge followed the pilgrim route down the Red sea to Mecca. Returning pilgrims bore it with them to India, and the great epidemic followed.

During the past century the visits of the dreaded disease to the United States were numerous. New Orleans has been the chief sufferer. Epidemics of yellow fever prevailed there in 1847, 1853, 1855, 1858, 1867, 1878 and 1879. The visitation of 1853 was the most deadly, over 8,000 victims having fallen. The experience of Memphis in 1878 and 1879 is still recalled with horror. During the first season of the pest there were 5,150 deaths, and during the second, although the town was almost deserted, there were several hundred more. This pestilence of 1878 was the most destructive of any ever experienced in the United States, 65,976 cases having been reported and 14,800 deaths. During the civil war there was scarcely a case among the Union troops in the south, although it was freely predicted that the forces in the gulf region would be annihilated by the disease. When New Orleans was occupied by General Butler many persons regarded the destruction of his army as practically certain. He began immediately to put the city in a good sanitary condition, detailing squads of his men to clean the streets and sewers. As a result there was not a single case of well marked yellow fever in New Orleans during the Union occupation.

PALMERS WON IT

Played Too Well for Centralville Blues

Barring the first two innings the Centralville Blues and the Palmers played a magnificent game of ball on the South common, Saturday afternoon, delighting a large attendance. The Palmers played A1 baseball all through finishing out nine innings with a clean error column. But the Blues started out like a crowd of school boys and lost the game in the first inning. It looked like a shut out until the final inning when Regan cased up some and the Blues pulled off three runs.

Joe Cronin, the North common twirler, officiated on the slab for the Blues and he pitched an excellent game though he received very rocky support at times.

Of the five hits off his delivery Lynch, a Centralville youngster, who has lately joined the ranks of the Palmers, connected with two singles. Qualey, Guthrie and Maguire were the only other Palmers who had a safety.

Ryan's pitching while not quite up to the standard he is capable of, was good, his faculty of keeping the hits scattered preventing the Blues from scoring until the ninth inning.

In the seventh inning Lyons was hit in the head by one of Cronin's swift inshoots and while he was knocked out, he continued in the game somewhat under difficulties. Nixie Coughlin umpired and while some of his decisions appeared off color he treated both sides alike in this respect. The score:

BAUER'S WONDERS

DEFEATED McCARTHY'S KIDS AT SULLIVAN'S PARK.

Saturday afternoon Bauer's Wonders and McCarthy's Kids, two teams from the Appleton mills, representing the card room and the cloth hall respectively, played an interesting game, the Wonders whipping their opponents by the score of 12 to 6. As Mr. Howard says, it was a "some" day for a ball game; yes, and the card room boys certainly did "rub it in" to the "white collar" boys. "Tommy" Hickey was the star of the game. The spectators say they never saw such an exhibition of base running, timely hitting and snappy fielding as given by the fleetfooted second baseman of the card room team. Howard Fralick pitched a masterly game for the victors. Coughlin also played a star game. For the losers, Cavanaugh and Carey played a star game, Cavanaugh's fielding was especially noticeable. Mr. Maguire, the genial manager of the card room boys, will not be able to speak for a few days, as he yelled himself hoarse for his team. Mr. G. Albert Murphy officiated as umpire to the satisfaction of everybody present, and "Chris," the loyal rooter for Bauer's Wonders, was "right there with the cherries" at all times. After the game the following literary program was carried out:

Song—"Sweet Adeline,"
Mr. Thos. Hickey
Recitation—"Working All the Time,"
Mr. L. Fralick
Speech ..... Mr. Thos. Maguire
Song—"Good-bye Sweet Marie,"
Mr. G. A. Murphy
Comic Recitation—"Ben is Out,"

Song—"Would You Care?"

Quartet—"In a Lighthouse by the Sea,"
Messrs. Teague, Murphy, Donoghue Hickey.

Messrs. Teague, Murphy, Donoghue, and Hickey.

The teams lined up as follows:

THE CHAMPION

EDDIE FARRELL SAYS A FEW THINGS ABOUT TICKET TAKING.

Eddie Farrell, champion ticket taker called at The Sun office today and said that he wants it understood that he still lays claim to the championship title.

"This man Smith who took tickets at the Y. M. C. I. party was with the wild west show for a few years," said Eddie, "and that is why his friends think he can best me. Now I would like to ask Mr. Smith and his friends a few questions about ticket taking that they probably never heard of before. Can Mr. Smith take tickets in the dark and does he know how to distinguish between good and bad tickets by feeling of them? Again, what is the largest crowd ever handled, and does he have to give out checks to people who want to leave the grounds for a while and then return? Because he was with the wild west show does not make him a champion. Let him make a reputation here before he makes any claim to the title. Mr. Murray, the advance man for Ringling Brothers' circus, wanted to engage me as ticket taker and met me at Dick Griffiths' store, but he refused to pay me my price, which was $30 a week and expenses. This man Smith probably got $10 a week with the wild west show. I want to meet Smith or any of his friends and talk this matter over with them and they will find that Eddie Farrell, the only champion ticket taker, is no quitter."

WALSH KILLED

Several Other Society People Injured

AUTO PLUNGED OVER A BRIDGE

The Accident Shocked Newport Society

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—Vinson Walsh, son of Thomas F. Walsh of Washington, was killed and four other prominent young members of the Newport summer colony were injured in an automobile accident here Saturday afternoon. The injured include Mrs. James L. Kernochan of Hempstead, L. I.; Harry Oelrichs, son of Charles M. Oelrichs of Newport and New York; Herbert Pell, Jr., son of Herbert Pell of New York, and Miss Evelyn Walsh, sister of the man who was killed. It is believed that all the injured will recover. The automobile, which was driven by young Walsh, struck the railing of a bridge spanning a creek near Eastern Point, and plunged into the water.

The accident was witnessed by other automobilists, who succeeded in rescuing the five occupants of the Walsh machine, not, however, without great difficulty, due to the fact that all the members of the party were lying underneath the heavy car. The water in the creek was not deep, and to this circumstance is due, in part, the rescue.

Walsh, who was about 18 years of age, died shortly after he was taken from the water.

As the automobile crashed over the bridge he was struck on the head by an iron beam.

Miss Walsh's injuries consist of several bruises and a fracture of the right hip. Mr. Oelrichs and Mr. Pell were severely bruised and Mrs. Kernochan was cut and received bruises about the body.

FOR REVERE

ANOTHER WEEK OF EXCURSIONS PLANNED.

All aboard for Revere beach! Never before in the history of this well known resort was it so popular as the present time. Everyone during the present warm weather is flocking to some place where it is cool, and surely no finer place could be found on the Atlantic coast than Revere beach. Here one may enjoy the fresh ocean breezes. One may walk for several miles along the shore and not tire of the great stretch of sand and broad expanse of water, with here and there a sail boat or steamer plying back and forth in the distance to some other summer resort, which abounds in this section. Winthrop may also be seen, as well as the rugged shores of Nahant.

Formerly the visitors to the beach were mostly from Boston and suburbs, the people of this city fearing that it was too far and not being thoroughly familiar with the route, did not venture to take such a long trip alone. The Boston & Northern street railway has made this possible, and for the past few weeks have been running special cars with reserved seats right through to Revere beach without change. Every day these excursions are growing more popular, and it is estimated that about 3000 people have been carried on these trips so far, to the seashore resorts from the Merrimack valley alone. These special trips do away with the usual crush and jam which is always so noticeable on the cars to any popular resort, and the street railway company fully realizes that the public appreciates its endeavors to give the best service possible.

At the beach, as most everyone knows, there are numerous and interesting attractions. Surf bathing is always in full sway. On the boulevard may be found dance halls, theatres, merry-go-rounds, roller coasters. In fact, shows of all kinds and description. To more fully popularize these excursions, everyone who buys a round trip ticket will be given, free, a ticket to some one of the following amusements: Mammoth museum and theatre, roller coaster, boulevard toboggan slide, rough riders, nautical gardens, comprising the pit, air-ship and pergola, palace merry-go-round and darkness and dawn. It will be a matter of chance which ticket is received, but whichever it is, the holder will surely derive a great deal of fun, as each one is a great attraction for young and old alike, none of which could be beat.

Weather permitting, the following schedule will be carried out this week:

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m., for Revere beach, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m. on Tuesday.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach, on Wednesday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 1.45 p. m. for Revere beach on Thursday, returning from the beach at 8.45 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 7.45 on Friday for Paragon Park, returning from the park at 5.40 p. m.

Leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m. for Revere beach on Friday, returning from the beach at 6.45 p. m.

PHOTOS TAKEN

TO BE USED IN MURDER TRIAL.

Photographs of the interior and exterior of the Middlesex street station were taken, yesterday noon, by Mr. Leith of the Crown studio, under the direction of Supt. Moffatt, and they will be used as evidence in connection with the prosecution of George F. Morris charged with murder of Mrs. Jennie Spalding.

Morris has informed his counsel, James F. Owens, that Dr. Nickerson has given him the best of treatment and that those in charge of him have looked after his condition with greatest care. His wound is still painful but in as good condition as could be expected. A story reached him to the effect that it had been published that his arm was in a bad way due to neglect of the wound and he asked his counsel to deny any such report.

FROM LAWRENCE

FOUR SMALL BOYS FOUND WANDERING HERE.

Four small boys aged from 10 to 12 started out from Lawrence yesterday and walked to this city. Upon arriving here they were "all in" and were taken to the police station. Lieut. Brosnan telephoned to Supt. Lees and the latter quickly agreed to pass them back to their home city and they all braced up at the prospect of a free ride home.

MEN'S BRIGADE

Made Trip to Nashua by Boat

The Men's Brigade of the First Primitive Methodist church went to Nashua on the steamer Gov. Allen, Saturday afternoon, and had a jolly old time. The weather was perfect and the sail inspiring. The boat left the Pawtucket wharf at 4.20 and there were about 120 on board. A phonograph was in operation on the upper deck and the latest airs traveled across the river and re-echoed on either shore, from the lower deck.

At almost every camp along the river the brigade was cheered and the demonstration on the part of the campers was returned three-fold by the excursionists. Refreshments were served and the pleasure of the trip was all that could be desired.

The party remained in Nashua about two hours and visited points of interest in that city. The party left Nashua at 8.10 and the home trip was thoroughly enjoyed. The committee in charge was: Messrs. Sutcliffe, general manager; refreshments, Frank Ecclestrone, E. W. Stark, George Bartlett, James Wood; tonic and ice cream, J. W. Foster; coffee, Joseph Maden; tickets, Fred Potter and J. W. Foster.

Old Orchard excursion Thursday, August 24th. $1.50 is the round trip rate, via the Boston & Maine R. R.

7000 TO STRIKE

Push Cart Peddlers Have a Grievance

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A strike of 7000 push cart peddlers hangs over the East Side because only half the number, all members of an association, can obtain licenses and the rest are liable to arrest and a fine when they pursue their calling.

The peddlers say they are discriminated against by the police and all the city authorities. The trouble appears to hinge on the fact that only a certain number of licenses can be issued and the peddlers claim at least 1500 storekeepers in the crowded tenement districts have licenses which should go to the street venders. As the latter supply perishable foodstuffs to thousands a strike would be serious.
